LOOK AT THE THUMB. THREE NEW GLOVES.

Look at the thumb in these Gloves. It is the System Jay Cut that is where you will find the difference from other Gloves; it being cut in one piece, and marking much more clearly the perfect contour of the hand. It makes the glove more comfortable, wear better, and look better. The old-fashioned gusset is done away with, ensuring extra comfort, and always allowing the first button to fasten at wrist. Specially dressed skins have been selected for this make of glove on account of their

FINENESS AND FIRMNESS.

The leather is particularly fine, devoid of all coarseness in grain, and finished with a softness of surface that rivals the finest Velvet. It is also firm—another important point, which prevents that baggy appearance common to ordinary gloves. We have them in three qualities.

"LA MEILLEURE," "LA COMTESSE," "ROKEBY."
3/11 to-day, usual 4/6. 5/11. 5/6.

"LA MEILLEURE," TO-DAY 3/11.

"OUR DAILY SPECIAL LINE TO-DAY."

"La Meilleure" has four buttons, and narrow silk cord pointings on the backs. Made of fine Suede in Black, White, Drab, Pastelle, Putty, Beaver, Brown, and Grey. As the excellence of these Gloves can only be fully appreciated by wearing them, we place "La Meilleure" Gloves within the reach of all by offering them as "Our Special Line" at a reduced price for to-day only. They are a special make, and only obtainable from DAVID JONES, Ltd.

TO-DAY, 3/11. USUALLY 4/6.

Those who cannot call can also benefit by the reduction by mailing or telephoning their order immediately on receipt of this announcement. We pay postage on Gloves.

PERSONALITY IN MEN'S READY-TO-WEAR SUITS.

There is an intimate connection between a man and the Suit he wears. It's not so much the Tailor making the man, as the man selecting the Suit.

Price does not govern it; though patterns play a large part, they do not play a primary part; even that wide word "taste" will not altogether account for a man's selection of his Suit.

It is something akin to that breeding which is so elusive and difficult of definition—yet it is unerring none the less.

Peapes' Ready-to-wear Suits have this distinctive quality—anyone can at a glance see their good style, their skilled cutting, the excellence of material and finish—but there's a quality beyond all these that impresses you.

The fabrics are select—mostly greys, in plain and striped patterns—rather weightier than those for Summer wear.

We have all sizes, and can fit almost any figure.

PRICES, 35/, 42/, 45/.

In ordering by Post please tell us your waist, chest, and inside leg measurements, should you have not done so previously.

FASHIONABLE FOOTWEAR.

LADIES who CONSISTENTLY read the FASHION notes in the NEWSPAPERS and MAGAZINES have DISCOVERED that observant SCRIBES have OTHER duties than that of DESCRIBING the prevailing MODES. For instance, ONE discerning WRITER gives this ADVICE:—"If you have a PRETTY FOOT and ankle, WEAR a SHOE that DOES them JUSTICE; if NOT, wear a SHOE that MAKES them LOOK PRETTY."

We MAKE it OUR business to PROVIDE a selection of FASHIONABLE BOOTS and SHOES that will SATISFY the most EXACTING woman and MEET the REQUIREMENTS of EVERY foot. At NO OTHER STORE in Australia is there such AN IMMENSE VARIETY of smart and stylish Boots and Shoes for DAY or EVENING wear, and EVERY pair we offer is an EXCELLENT EXAMPLE of the ECONOMY always to be found in Special Engagement of Mr. ALFRED HILL, R.C.M.L. (from the Royal Conservatorium of Music, Leipsic).

The well-known Musician, Conductor, and Composer, Mr. Alfred Hill, has been engaged as Principal Teacher and Supervisor to the AUSTRAL ORCHESTRAL COLLEGE.

Mr. Hill is pre-eminently suited to fill this important position, having had five years' training at the world-famous Leipsic Conservatorium. Mr. Hill is well known throughout the colonies as a Conductor and Composer. Among other appointments he conducted the Sydney Liedertafel for five years. His compositions include "Hinemoa," Cantata, produced by the Sydney Philharmonic Society, under Signor Hazon, "Maori Symphony," "Scotch Sonata" (Violin and piano), played by Ovide Musin, the famous violinist, throughout his world's tour; his operas, "A Moorish Maid" and "Tapu," the latter produced by Mr. J. C. Williamson; and his songs, sung by Madame Albani, Watkin Mills, Kennerley Rumford, and Ada Crossley, are too well known to need mention.

Mr. Hill will head the teaching staff at the College, and besides teaching himself will supervise the work of the institution generally, and conduct the ensemble classes, the Austral Orchestra, and Operatic Society.

THE AUSTRAL STUDENT'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Mr. ALFRED HILL, the eminent CONDUCTOR, COMPOSER, and TEACHER, having taken charge of this Orchestra, has altered its aims and scope. It will now be considered as an Orchestral Class to prepare players for professional and large amateur Orchestras. Only the STANDARD OVERTURES, SUITES, SYMPHONIES, etc., will be studied, and particular attention will be paid to matters of TECHNIQUE, TONE, ATTACK, and PHRASING.

Students other than those belonging to the College may become members on payment of £1 1s per term. Applications for membership invited.

For Prospectus and all information, apply to College Office (ground floor), Albert's Music Warehouse, King-street, city.

The capabilities of all students tested by appointment with Mr. Alfred Hill.

WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM.

SYDNEY.

"THE MESSIAH"—ROYAL PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—Sydney Town Hall, December 22nd, 1910. —The Tenor, Mr. WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM, sang the Recitative with fervour, and his work throughout was artistic. He undoubtedly kept the attention of the audience on the real essence of the subject, and that in Oratorio is an absolute essential. Mr. HIGGINBOTHAM'S singing of the airs that fell to the Tenor's share was notable for truth in expression and devotional feeling.—"The Evening News," December 24th, 1910.

"ELIJAH." Sydney Town Hall, February 26th, 1911.—It is estimated that fully 5500 people were present at the two performances. Considering the fact that Mr. HIGGINBOTHAM had not had the advantage of a previous rehearsal with the Society (having booked the engagement at one day's notice), it must be said that he did well in the tenor music, his work being scholarly and even throughout.—"Sydney Morning Herald," February 27th, 1911.

SYDNEY LIEDERTAFEL, December 14, 1910.—Another feature was Dudley Buck's Cantata, "The Son of Nidaros," which had not been heard here previously for eight years. The Cantata introduced a New Tenor, Mr. WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM, recently from England. He proved in this work as well as in his song, Stephen Adams' "Nirvana," that he has a voice of pleasant quality and full volume, and that he is endowed with sentiment. For the Song, given with decided sympathy, he was encored, and then sang, "The Trumpeter" (Airlie Dix).—"Daily Telegraph," December 15th, 1910.

LONDON.

"ACIS AND GALATEA"—ACTON, LONDON.—Mr. HIGGINBOTHAM'S singing was much admired. He gave a most delightful rendering of "Love in her eyes sits Playing," and a spirited rendition of "Love Sounds the Alarm." The second part of the programme was devoted to Sterndale Bennett's "May Queen," Mr. HIGGINBOTHAM taking the Lover's part. The result was a magnificent rendition. Truly a good evening's work.—"Acton Guardian."

ALEXANDRA PALACE, LONDON. Mr. WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM was a very popular Artist. He has an excellent tenor voice, and sang remarkably well. He sang Guy d'Hardelot's "Because," and in response to an enthusiastic encore sang "I Think," by the same composer.—"Hornsey Journal," 1910.

"HYMN OF PRAISE"—KENSINGTON, LONDON.—Mr. WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM'S beautiful voice was shown to advantage in the tenor solos. The pathos displayed in "He Counteth all Your Sorrows" and the dramatic rendering of "The Sorrows of Death" were very fine.—"Kensington News," 1910.

"THE CREATION"—NOTTING HILL, LONDON.—Mr. HIGGINBOTHAM'S singing was highly appreciated by the audience. His tone, quality, and enunciation were a delight to all.—"Bayswater Chronicle," 1910.

AN APPRECIATION FROM MR. NORMAN O'NEILL, COMPOSER OF THE "BLUE BIRD," ETC., ETC., LONDON, 1910.—I have much pleasure in saying that I have known Mr. WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM for some years, and can sincerely recommend him as a Solo Singer. He is an Artist of experience.—(Signed) NORMAN O'NEILL.

AN APPRECIATION FROM ERNEST READ, A.R.A.M., F.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., ORGANIST ST. PETER'S, CRANLEY GARDENS, KENSINGTON, LONDON W. Mr. WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM is an excellent Tenor Vocalist. His artistic temperament and fine reading powers make him a rare good all-round Tenor Musician, and I recommend him with all confidence. He has my best wishes for his future in Australia.—(Signed) ERNEST READ.

PART I.—HUGH LYNCH'S STORY.

I had time to forget about presentiments and fancies before I reached the end of my voyage. The south-east trades had set in by this time, but they knocked off for a holiday before I had got through China Straits, and the rest of my voyage was a maddening succession of calms and headwinds, with just an occasional slant from the faithless south-easter. I called at Samarai for provisions, and it was well did, for the south-easter did not spring up until I was nearly a month out from Clare Island, and just making port. I had never known anything like it at that time of year, and it worried me a bit—I should have been ready to start home by that time.

Sanderson was not in port after all; they said he had gone down to Cooktown to have his boat new coppered. I was glad; I hated the sight of him and his girlish curls. Men generally do dislike the curly-headed male.

My application, I found, could not be considered until the Governor arrived, so there was another delay. Captain Hammond might come in a day or two, might not be heard of for a month—there was no telling. The new Government steam yacht had gone down to Cairns to fetch him, but it was not known whether he was yet in Sydney.

His daughter, I heard, was certainly with him, incredible though it seemed. He was a widower with only that one child, and no doubt he wished to have her company. It seemed a selfish thing to bring a fashionable London girl, delicately reared, to such a savage spot as British New Guinea. She would almost certainly be invalided with fever, we thought, and the wild surroundings of her home would terrify her half out of her life. All of us—the few whites of Port Moresby and the district beyond—were agreed that it was a scandalous thing of the Governor to bring a delicate young English girl into such a country. We were also agreed, however, that it was an ill wind that blew nobody good, and that the sight of a petticoat in Port Moresby would be as refreshing as a trip to Cooktown to us half-savage, white-womanless creatures.

Indeed, we were all awaiting the Merrie England's arrival with a keenness of interest surely never aroused by the advent of a mere official in New Guinea before.

I was putting up with Worboise, an elderly man who had been into as many odd corners, and seen as many strange things, as any white in New Guinea—and that was saying a good deal. He lived in a little tin shanty down on the beach, and had a Chinese cook-boy, who fed us rather well. Worboise himself was badly touched with the weakness of the pioneer and the lonely man—interminable "yarning"—he never cared whom he talked to, or rather at—myself, the nearest native, the Chinese cook-boy, it was all the same—when he got started on a coil of his endless autobiography, he'd unwind it to the last thread or perish.

I did not much mind it after supper in the evening, when one was sitting on the sand outside the verandah-less door, smoking trade tobacco and watching the palm-tree tops draw themselves out in Indian ink against the immense scarlet sweep of the sunset. But early in the morning—well, no man ought to be expected to listen to a yarn ten fathoms long about head-hunting and pearlshell thieves before he's had his breakfast.

That was why I found myself one morning at half-past six on the top of the craggy little hill that overhangs the township, looking out to sea. It was the only place one could be safe from Worboise's unending to-be-continued-in-our-next.

I wish I could describe how the great Pacific looked that day in the glassy calm of early morning, while the boisterous "trades" were still asleep—how far, far out the shining silver swept beneath the blue, to that utmost curving rim of the world where the outbound ships go down. I sat on the rocks that top the hill for an hour or more, looking across the bay, and thinking "long, long thoughts." . . . It came to me then, somehow, that if I had a true home or country in the world, it was that far sea-line—that, and nothing else. That's the spot of earth's surface that we vagabonds know and love best of all—the promised land, towards which we always turn.

When I caught the tiny smear of smoke on the edge of the sea, I knew that it would not be visible to anyone in the township for another quarter of an hour so I sat there rather gloatingly, enjoying my "private view," as the little smear became a big one, and a black speck showed out underneath it and two needle-points of mast, with a pin-point of funnel between them, became visible to my sea-trained eyes, a long way off as yet. At this point they saw the vessel down below, and instantly the wild yell of "Sail-O!" that always attends the incoming of a ship in an oceanic colony burst out all down the coast, spreading along the mile-and-a-half from Port Moresby to the native village a good deal quicker than a forest fire. In half a minute the village, the next village, the one after that, Port Moresby itself. The excitement died down, as usual, in a few minutes, and then from my eyrie on the hill I could see the whites beginning to buzz in and out of their houses like ants when you poke a stick into a nest. They ran out with flags, and decorated the half-dozen stores and offices of the "town." They hung lengths of red and white trade calico on their verandah rails, they sent boys up the palms to cut big, twenty-foot leaves, and tie them round the doorway of the Government office.

Every little vessel in the bay ransacked its flag locker, and made itself as gay as was possible at a few minutes' notice. It was astonishing to see how much was done in the three-quarters of an hour that passed before the leisurely little steamer slid alongside the jetty and made fast; indeed, the little town looked quite festive.

By this time, the south-easter had waked up, as if roused out by the stirring "Sail-O!" and now all the palm tree heads were tossing and streaming in the strong cool river of wind, and the wonderful pea-green and peacock-blue paintings of mountains, and valleys, and groves that had covered all the wide, glassy reaches of the great harbour half an hour before were broken up into cheerful little dancing waves. I made haste to get down now, and take my place on the jetty.

The last Governor had been an amiable nobody, scarcely strong enough for the place, and he had left us unregretted. There were rumours, however, to the effect that we might find our sailor Governor something of a King Stork, after the King Log of whom we had been relieved, and we all strained our eyes eagerly towards the smart, slim white figure standing on the forward deck, surrounded by a little group of officials, and accompanied by—yes, she had come! It was a girl—a young girl—a girl in a blue dress, a girl "beautiful like an angel," as the susceptible little French recruiter, Leon Cruchet, declared, while the Merrie England was still so far off that you could not have told whether the object of his admiration was black or white.

It would be hard to say which of the two was the more stared at when the gangway was up, and the Government secretary was tripping across it, a company smile on his face and an address of welcome in his hand, and the populace of Port Moresby, amounting to about twenty, was making as much of a loyal crowd as it could, spread over the jetty.

Captain Hammond certainly looked the typical naval officer all over, seeming as much in place on the smart white deck of the yacht as a palm seems at home on a coral beach. It was rather difficult to fancy him administering a shore "command;" but that was not because his Excellency didn't look as if he could administer anything or anybody, so far as discipline went. Rather small, very thin, very much dried up with salt and sun, a face like a hatchet cased in leather, a figure like a bit of watch-spring, steel-rivet eyes, and a granite chin—this was our new ruler—in outward appearance.

"A hard case, Hughie," commented old Worboise, who had been amazingly silent—for him.

"He'll make some of the blackbirding lot sit up, I daresay," I answered. "Look at the daughter, Worboise; isn't it criminal to bring a bit of china like that out here?"

She was standing by her father while he read the address of welcome, and made a lengthy reply that nobody could hear. She was rather taller than the little Governor, but hardly showed it, being slight and very graceful in figure. As far as we could see from the jetty, she was fair-complexioned, with dark hair, and (I thought) blue eyes. She held herself exceedingly well, and her slight, well-bred hands and feet were charmingly gloved and shod. Her dress had the hideous camel-hump, miscalled an "improver," with which women of to-day disfigure themselves, but it was all so lacy and frilly and dainty, and so smartly worn (there's a wonderful difference, in the way the women wear their clothes), that she did not look or move at all awkwardly in it. Her curly fringe and those deep blue eyes of hers (I had decided, now that they were unmistakably blue) were shaded by the shell-curved brim of a little bonnet tied on with strings, and she carried a parasol that looked as if it were made of froth and spiders' webs.

They were coming ashore now, and I drew back—I, the rough, uncivilised planter and trader, who lived in a hut, and was married to a black wife, must not press too closely upon the path of his Excellency's daughter. . . . a white lady, delicate and dainty as one of the pale, sweet flowers of her own far North. No tropical hibiscus or flame flower this, but a snowdrop, a spring anemone. . . .

She followed her father closely through the little group of residents and the crowd of natives behind—turning her small, well-dressed head to right and left, and smiling in acknowledgment of the thin but hearty cheer that greeted the party. She did not look a day over nineteen; but she was as perfectly self-possessed as any dowager of fifty. No bread-and-butter miss from the country was this; a London belle, finished in the ways of the world, and used to admiration as to daily bread, was our Governor's daughter, or I was much mistaken—and yet, how unspoiled and sweet.

The foolish, monstrous draperies that she carried so gracefully, rustled past me, leaving behind the very faintest suggestion of perfume—as if a fresh hill wind had somewhere blown over a bank of wild white roses, and carried away a memory of the delicate scent in its heart. Then the reek of cocoanut oil from the native crowd rose up and blotted it out.

She was gone.

The crowd scattered as quickly as it had collected. The pier grew empty, the steamer backed away to her moorings in mid-harbour. I was left standing by myself in the sun, and the tearing, homeless wind that beat in from the empty sea. "By myself"—yes—the cocoanut-oil smelling crowd was not yet all gone, black woolly heads and brown limbs moved close beside me. But all the same, the white man was—alone.

CHAPTER IV.

It was nearly another fortnight before I got away. On the day I sailed out of Port Moresby Harbour I had been nine weeks absent from Clare Island.

The grant of land had been made; I had had a brief interview with the new Governor, and had been more than confirmed in my first opinion of him—in the end. At first, I must confess, I thought him something very near a fool. I am not fond of talkative men, and Captain Hammond (who received me in his Port Moresby office) overwhelmed me with a perfect deluge of what I rudely classified as cackle, about anything and nothing, while he searched through the papers on his shelves to find my letters of application. The weather, the temperature, the wind-shield screen at the back of the office, the distance from the village to the town, the speed of the Merrie England, the thefts of eggs from the Government hen-house by snakes and iguanas, all contributed to the stream of chatter, which issued forth as thickly encumbered with capital I's as a babbling river with stones.

I threw in an answer or a remark here and there carelessly, though not without the respect due to his Excellency's position. He was just a tiresome official bore, I thought, and in all probability no more of an acquisition to the country than those who had gone before him.

In the midst of these reflections, being quite wearied with his Excellency's cackle about the eggs and the fowls and the depredations of the carpet-snakes—for which he seemed to think his Port Moresby officials in some mysterious way responsible—I looked up from the watch-chain I was carelessly fingering and met the Governor's eyes.

I never thought him a fool again.

Whatever emotions a fool may excite, fear is not one of them, and there was that in those eyes of flinty grey that made me understand why Captain Hammond's ship had formerly been known as the smartest man-of-war on the Australian station.

I realised, too, that during the somewhat lengthy interview, while I thought I had been listening to a poor and shallow mind revealing itself, that very mind, behind the cloak of a windy wordiness, had been watching me reveal myself with the freedom and carelessness of one who feels himself practically alone.

AUSTRALASIAN CHAMPIONSHIP. END-GAMES.

Following are a few end-games as samples of the play:—

Boreham v Penman.—The following is the finish of the protracted game, the third of the tie, Penman being a game up:—Black (Boreham): 3, 5, 7, 12, 26, king 30. White (Penman): 8, 14, 18, 20, 27, 32. White to play—18 15, 26-31, 27 24, 30-26, 32 28, 31-27, 15 10, 26-22, 10 6, 7-11, 14 10, 12-16, 6 4, 22-17, 6 2, 17-14, 10 6, 14-10, 6 1, 10-7, 1 6, 27-31, 6 1, 31-26, 1 6, 26-22, 6 1, 5-9, 1 6, 9-13, 6 9, 22-18, 2 6, 18-17, 9 13, 17-22, 18 17, 22-26, 17 13, 26-31, 13 9, 31-26, Boreham finally clinched the win at this stage:—Black: 3, 11, 16, kings 5, 7, 17. White: 20, 24, 28, kings, 2, 4, 6. Black to play, and 5-1, 6 9, 3-8, and the game is finished, although White struggled on by throwing 2 6.

Boreham v Penman.—This is the conclusion of the deciding game in this tie:—Black (Penman): 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 20. White (Boreham): 14, 17, 19, 22, 23, 25, 27, 28, 31. White to play. Boreham proceeded 27-24, which appears to be the losing move; and the game continued: 20-27, 31 24, 11-16, 24-20, 8-11, 22-18, 11-15, 18 11, 6-9, 23 18, 16-23, 25 22, 7-16, 20 11, 10-15, 17-13, 23-26, 13-6, 2-9, 14-10, 9-14. Black wins.

Brodie v Penman.—This is the ending of the fourth game, wherein Penman saved the situation by equalising the scores. Black: 2, 6, 7, 11, 12, 14, 15, 17. White: 13, 20, 22, 23, 24, 26, 30, 32. Black to play: 7-10 (it looks as though 6-10 would produce the draw), 22 28, 17-21, 23 18, 14-23, 26 19, 6-9, 13 6, 2-9, 22 17, and Black is done. Penman received an ovation on the announcement of the win a few moves later.

Brodie v. Hilliker.—In the second game between these players the onlookers were well entertained. "The finest game of the tourney" was the general expression of opinion. Analysis of the various possibilities will reveal the beauty of the following ending:—Black (Brodie): 3, 5, 7, 10, 13, 14, 15. White (Hilliker): 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26. Black to play:—3–8, 23 19, 14–18, 20 16, 18–23, 16 12, 23–30, 12 3, 5–9, 3 8, 9–14, 8 12, 7–11, 12 8, 14 17, 21 7, 30–21, 19 10, 21–25, 8 15, 25–2, and a hearty round of applause greeted the draw.

Hilliker v Egan.—The Victorian representative played some fine games, but the following is probably his masterpiece of the tourney:—Black (Hilliker): 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18. White (Egan): 13, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30. White to play: 19 16, 12–19, 23 16, 18–23, 26 19, 15–18, 19 15, 10–19, 23 8, 3–19, 27 24, 7–10, 24 15, 10–19, 25 22, 18–25, 29 22, 14–17, 21 14, 9–25, 30 21, 19–23, 28 24, 23–27, 24 19, 27–32, 19 15, 32–27, 29 18, 27–23, 15 11, 23–18, 16 12, 18–14, 12 8, 5–10 [?], 6 3, 10–15, 3 8, 14–10. At this stage the onlookers were pretty unanimous that the game was over and a Black win. They were therefore surprised when Egan played 21 17, and the game continued:—10 6, 8 3, 6 1, 3 8, 2 6, 8 12, 15 19, 12 16, 19 23, 16 19, 23 26, 19 23, 26 30, 23 18, 30 25, 11 8, 25 21, 18 14, 5 9, 14 5, 21 14, 8 3, 6 10, 3 7, 10 15, 7 11, 15 18, 11 16, 18 23, 16 19, 23 27, 19 24, 27 22, 24 28, drawn.—From "Otago Witness."

A. JORDAN IN AMERICA.

At Wichita, Kansas, March 8 and 9, special efforts were made to assemble the district players for a grand reception to the champion at the Y.M.C.A. It was there he lost his second game in America, the winner being C. J. Williamson, ex-champion of Kansas, who lost 2and drew four other games. Frank C. Farmer, the Kansas champion, made the creditable score of 5 draws and 1 loss. Mr. Jordan's total score at Wichita was won 64, lost 1, drawn 28 games.

During two days spent at Topeka, Kansas, the champion scored 95 wins, and 18 games were drawn.

Four busy days followed at Kansas City in simultaneous play. He won 96 games, but was forced to concede 5 wins and 66 draws to his doughty opponents. John Dougherty was lucky enough to secure three of those wins, the others going to Chas. W. Brunn and Myron V. Gould.

Mr. Jordan spent March 16 and 17 at Lincoln, Nebraska, where he won 49 and drew 16 games. Our report ends with his first day at Omaha, where he won 12, lost 1 to F. G. Roberts, and 12 games were drawn.—"Canadian Checker Player."

CURRENT LITERATURE.

A GREAT FIELD MARSHAL.

Mr. R. S. Rait, in "The Life of Field Marshal Sir Frederick Paul Haines" (Constable), has a subject above the average in interest. Haines was born in 1819, and was the son of a distinguished officer who took part in the Peninsular campaign. The youngest of the family, he was a high-spirited boy, with a reputation as a "pickle." His schooldays were short but they were followed by a couple of years in Germany before he joined the army in 1839. He remained on the list until 1909. He fought his first battles against the Sikhs, and served as Lord Gough's military secretary in the campaign on the Sutlej, and in the conquest of the Punjab. His letters and memoranda throw a good deal of fresh light on the fierce fighting of 1845-6 and 1848-9. After that he went through the Crimea, and we have from him first hand accounts of Alma and Balaclava. At Inkerman he did distinguished service holding for six hours the threatened barrier which was an all-important point in the defence of the British position. Curiously enough Haines missed active service in the Mutiny, but he was military secretary to Sir Patrick Grant when the latter was Commander-in-Chief at Calcutta, and a special chapter is given here to Grant's little known work between the death of Anson and the coming of Sir Colin Campbell. Shortly after the Mutiny Haines took a command in the Madras Army, and became Commander-in-Chief there in 1871. Five years later he was Commander-in-Chief in India. He thus directed the operations of the second Afghan War, though he did not command in the field. Later it was he who suggested Roberts's march to Kandahar, and had his advice been taken the defeat at Maiwand would never have occurred. In 1881 he returned to England and lived in London clubs for the last twenty-eight years of his life. Perhaps the most vivid chapter of the book is that relating to Inkerman. Haines used to say that he would exchange all the other hours of his many years for those six in which he and his men defended the barrier and controlled the tide of conflict. It will be remembered that the battle was the result of a surprise attack on the British position outside Sebastopol. The British line stretched south-east from the town to the harbour. The Russians held the rising ground on the other side of the valley. The battle centred on the Quarry Ravine, and a slight breastwork of stone there was the famous Barrier that Haines held. It was a November Sunday when the attack in force took place. The scheme was a masterly one, and the British had left cover for the enemy right up to their very tents. The surprise came off. But in the end the actual point of attack proved not well chosen, and the full weight of the numerical strength of the Russians could not be brought to bear. The morning was blurred with mist and sleet, and the Russians seem to have had no idea of the handful of men who were opposing them. What was really an army they mistook for an advance guard. On our side, as Haines wrote, Generals had little to do with the fight. Had orders been waited for all would have been lost. Our men just threw themselves at the enemy, and kept him at bay. Haines's first charge at the Barrier was, in fact, made with about forty men. They found themselves confronting two large columns of the enemy. Luckily the road was narrow, and the dense mass of Russians secured a victim for every shot. The Barrier was held. Odds and ends of men, stragglers from various regiments, came up through the day, and continued to hold it. It was war, but in a military sense it was not magnificent. Only as heroism was it superb. Gradually more men came up, the Russians weakened, they began to retreat, the desperate defence became a desperate attack. Unluckily Lord Raglan did not press the retreat all along the line. The victory was won, but one in three of Haines's force had fallen by his side. Strange to say, the heroes were not mentioned in despatches, they received no decoration; and years after, when Haines, for the credit of the Fusiliers, claimed the Victoria Cross for a sergeant who had gone out under heavy fire to bring in a wounded officer, the claim was disallowed. Kinglake helped posterity to reverse the judgment. We have not space to recount Haines's subsequent and brilliant career in India. On his return to England he was able at last to indulge in the two passions of his life—art and the theatre—had he not been a soldier he would have been a painter. Though he approached the extreme limits of human life, his old age was vigorous and his intellect unclouded. He died in his 90th year. The Field-Marshals who followed him to the grave belonged to a younger generation.

ANCIENT LIGHTS.

Mr. Ford Madox Hueffer's "Ancient Lights" is a very readable collection of memories relating mostly to the good and great in literature and art. He begins, naturally, with Ford Madox Brown, who, he says, exactly resembled the king of hearts in a pack of cards—he was a hard swearing, old-fashioned Tory, differentiated by love of the picturesque. All the group to which he belonged were quaintly material in spite of their art. "Mary," once roared William Morris, "those six eggs were bad. I've eaten them, but don't let it occur again." The author's father was for many years musical critic to the "Times," and was another man of great force of character. Indeed, the author grew up among brilliant men and the literary tradition was further accentuated by the fact that grandfather Madox Brown lived in Colonel Newcome's house: an old, immense, Georgian mansion fallen from glory. Into that circle came presently Swinburne, young and golden-haired, and Meredith, delicate and austere. The poets of the period, and there were many, lived in Bloomsbury, the gloom of which, says the author, entered into their inmost souls. Some of them suffered severely in consequence, like one found by Sharp, who, under the impression that he was a Bengal tiger, had pounced savagely on another poet of the same quarter who was blind. After much blood had been shed—the poet actually died—a drunken surgeon insisted on giving Sharp in charge for murder—a grim little bit of realism enough. We may pass from it to a grotesque descendant of many pre-Raphaelites, who, while reading the books of his more wealthy friends at the breakfast table, used to mark the place with a slice of bacon. If it is not true it is well told. Another contemporary artist used to fill alternate trousers pockets with chocolate creams and diamonds, apropos of which there is a story too long to be repeated. The author was bathed in music as well as painting and poetry. He was taken to concerts in yellow hair and greenish-yellow velveteen with gold buttons. The final note of estheticism was struck by his stockings, one of which was red and the other green. On one occasion he was left in this disguise in the front row while a "Times" critic, who had forgotten to put on his tie, went out to buy one, and became so absorbed in the undertaking that he never came back. It was an appearance of the master, Liszt. Ah! That wonderful personality; there was no end to the enthusiasm it aroused. There was an English relation of the author's who became a lady-in-waiting at Saxe-Weimar. She was always characterised by a disagreeable smell to the day of her death. When they came to lay her out they found in a sachet round her neck half a cigar. The rest had been smoked by Liszt thirty years before. Almost equal, that, to the wild joy of those Dublin students who took the horses out of Malibran's carriage, and, having dragged her with shouts and torches round the town, broke six hundred and eighty window and burnt the vehicle in pure joy. Hueffer, the elder, was one of the chief exponents of Wagner when some people thought his music puerile and others called it blasphemy. The musical critic of the "Times" was feared as much as he was hated by the Italian opera singers. At the opening of the season they used to send packing cases of large dimensions to propitiate him. The contents included Italian hams and wines, Italian statuary painted to gleam phosphorescent by night, strings of Italian sausages, and so on. Hueffer wrote to one of these bearers of gifts that he would accept her present, but if he did so he would not write a line about her singing. The lady accepted the offer with pardonable alacrity. However, as she was the world's greatest exponent of emotional tragedy he had to write an enthusiastic notice. The book is full of good stories, but it seems sinful to quote in a necessarily abbreviated form. Yet we cannot pass over one little episode. The musical critics had been doing a provincial festival, and being naturally much overcome, one of them partook too freely of the pleasures of the table, and forgot to write his notice until the local telegraph office was just about to close. There was, however, a rule that it must keep open so long as a message was being handed in in consecutive slips. Young Hueffer was sent to telegraph to the great daily anything he could think of, while his father, coming to the rescue, wrote the notice! The newspaper was thus astonished to receive a message beginning "When the wicked man turneth away from the sin that he has committed"—and continued through the Church service. It was all that Fordie could think of. Apropos of modernity, the author attended a concert at which a lady who had escaped from a Turkish harem sang Debussy set to Verlaine. The leading musical organ spoke of the performance with enthusiasm. When asked why the writer said it gave you emotions. If one shuts one's eyes one can imagine that one is eating strawberry jam and oysters, and that a cat with a cracker on its tail is scampering over the piano. Discretion being the better part of valour, this did not appear in print. But if the modern musician is not allowed "epater le bourgeois" what is the object of his existence? The book gets a little more serious as it proceeds, and the author contrasts the present of art and literature with the good old times, with the result that he becomes more melancholy a jester. But there is much of interest all through. (Dymock.)

JOHN OLIVER HOBBES.

"The Life of John Oliver Hobbes," told mainly through her correspondence, but provided with a biographical sketch by her father, and an introduction by the Dean of Manchester, will interest readers who have followed the course of recent literature. Dr. Welldon describes how a happy accident led to his acquaintance with Mrs. Craigie. Afterwards, when he was at Harrow, the novelist paid him several visits, and a warm friendship matured. He writes: "As I sat in the Church of the Jesuit Fathers, and the candles held by the mourners were suddenly extinguished, it seemed that a light had gone out of my own life." He does not know whether John Oliver Hobbes or Mrs. Craigie was the greater personality. In his opinion she was a woman of remarkable intellectual gifts, and no less remarkable personal charm. The father's biography of his daughter is delightfully done. Pearl Richards was born near Boston in 1867, but Mr. Richards almost immediately settled in England. An American colony had not then been founded, and to the consequent isolation of the home life some of Pearl's early precocity must be attributed. She could read well at five, and reading soon became her chief delight. But she was healthy and active, and was allowed to wear boy's clothes in the house for several years—a subtle little suggestion of her emancipation from sex. She had an alert imagination, and showed a gift for story-telling at a very early age. "When I grow up," she said, "I am going to write little toy books for children." Curiously enough, she did get into print in her ninth year—in "The Fountain," a paper edited by Dr. Parker, of the City Temple. Another early literary occupation was the writing of love-letters for the maid-servants. The recipients may be forgiven for not always appreciating them. By the time she was 14 her reading was quite unrestricted, and she saw every important theatrical production of the day. Her school years were uneventful, and she married R. W. Craigie when she was little more than 19. She had then fully determined to make literature her profession, and began to contribute to various journals—mainly humorous and satirical sketches. Thackeray early became her favourite author. Her married life was unfortunate. She separated from Craigie in 1891, and subsequently obtained a divorce. There was one child, John Churchill Craigie. Soon after this she wrote her first book, "Some Emotions and a Moral." It was an immediate success. A year later "John Oliver Hobbes" was received into the Roman Catholic Church, which in her distress proved a helpful sanctuary. But she found solace also in work, and a long series of brilliant books and plays was the result of assiduous industry. But the strain was too great to last, and she died rather suddenly in 1906 at the early age of 38. The letters that form the bulk of the present book throw much light on her literary life, and they are characteristically bright as well as characteristically shrewd. They are full, too, of references to books and plays and people. Mrs. Craigie was a gifted woman and a devoted friend. As Lord Curzon said of her in unveiling a memorial tablet at University College, few could remember her career without a pang of deep emotion. It was so brilliant, so crowded, so lit with iridescent gleams, so short. She was a sincere epigrammatist. She could write a letter in Greek iambics. She was sparkling as the sunlight, but in her still soul were deep and silent pools. She faced sorrow with courage and success with simplicity. Her sympathy was strong and real. It is not wonderful that she was loved even more than she was admired. (Murray, through Dymock and George Robertson.)

CONCERNING THE VEDDAS.

The Veddas have long been regarded as one of the most primitive of surviving races. They are on the verge of extinction, and it is therefore most important that all that can be learned of them should be put on record. Dr. Seligmann in "The Veddas" (Cam. Uni. Press) accomplishes this task with abundant skill and scholarship. He has produced a monograph which will bear comparison with anything of the kind that has been done, and which, to the student of ethnology, at any rate, possesses great intrinsic interest. We can only give a very brief outline of the author's conclusions. He does not agree that this ancient race of Ceylon was previously relatively civilised, and thus exhibits a process of racial degeneration. Arguing from anthropology he concludes that the present Veddas represent a primitive aboriginal race, and he thinks that the cultural evidence is no less convincing. They retain, for instance, the exogamous clan system; and the Vedda cult of the dead must be looked on as primitive. The Veddas must thus be regarded as the representatives of the Dravidian races which inhabited Ceylon before it was invaded by Aryan-speaking peoples. The fact that the Veddas have long adopted the Sinhalese language is no difficulty in the way of this view; though unluckily no trace of the ancient Vedda language has survived. Such interchange of language is, of course, a common occurrence, and is the nightmare of philology. The author gives a succinct history of the race so far as it is known, and proceeds to describe in detail their present social organisation, religion, folk-lore, and so forth. The text is accompanied by many photographs, and the whole work will take high rank in the literature of ethnology.

RECENT FICTION.

In "The Unknown God" (Macmillan) Mr. Putnam Weale again draws on his intimate knowledge of the East. The book is mainly a study of Chinese missions. Paul Hancock is a typical young enthusiast, and out in China he meets at the American Baptist mission a young girl of similar disposition. The danger of their calling gives rise to many exciting episodes. The book marks an advance in the author's use of the novel as a medium. The narrative is not over-elaborated, and the characters stand out vividly against their background. The author's general attitude towards missions, however, is not very favourable.

Mr. Edmund Candler is another expert in Eastern life. In "The General Plan" (Blackwood) he compiles half a dozen stories with a setting of Oriental mysteries, collected from magazines. The first tells the strange adventures of a lad who goes out to join the police in a remote district of the Central Provinces. The next is a clever study of Sikh superstition. Other sketches deal with English social life in India, a pilgrimage to Mecca, and so on. The book is well worth reading.

Canon Sheehan's "The Intellectuals" (Longman, through George Robertson) can hardly be called fiction; but neither is it fact. It is an account of the doings of an imaginary Irish club, which discusses all sorts of social and literary matters interspersed with poetry and tea. The poetry is often quite good; but apart from their excellent purpose of showing the via media between people of diverse ways of thinking, the discussions seem to have no particular point, and sometimes become trivial. However, the Canon is a well-read man, and a cultivated writer, and his book is decidedly a novelty.

Arnold Bennett's "The Card" (Methuen) is not one of his microscopic presentments of everyday life, but one of his lighter and more readable "fantasias." The hero is accompanied through life by good fairies, and we leave him a millionaire. By way of foil to his good fortune he is a commonplace and rather objectionable young man, but his adventures are kept vigorously amusing.

E. W. Hornung's "The Camera Fiend" (Unwin) is an amusing story about a schoolboy who goes up to London to see a doctor, and is disappointed by the friends he thought would take him in for the night. After sleeping in the park, and incidentally shooting a man, he meets the camera fiend, who photographs, not bodies, but souls. A mixed and mysterious narrative opens out from these premises.

SHORTER NOTICES.

The popularity of the "Organic Chemistry" of Kipping and Perkin has emboldened the authors to produce a text book of "Inorganic Chemistry" (Chambers). The work is, of course, solid and satisfactory, but it possesses little novelty. It is meant for senior scholars in schools and junior students in universities. Many teachers will approve of the book, though, as usual, in works of the kind, the treatment is too descriptive, and too little prominence is given to theory.

Mr. Dunstan Shaw is an Australian versemaker who deserves an encouraging reception. "Songs from a Hammock" are well above the average in technique. The author's vein is a slender one, and he works here only on a very attenuated scale. He should try some more sustained effort. He has, however, a vivid fancy and much delicacy of style. His method often leads him dangerously near the "conceit," pure and simple. At times, however, he does touch both thought and imagination, and all through his verse shows good workmanship.

Mr. J. Alan Murray's "The Economy of Food" (Constable) is a popular book on nutrition, food, and diet. The author is competent to deal with his subject. He conveys a good deal of information to his reader, and his style is attractive.

Chatto and Windus issue a collection of fragments by the late R. L. Stevenson, under the title of "Lay Morals." The pamphlet on Father Damien is included, four chapters deal with the Pentland Rising of 1666; there are a number of college papers, two or three literary criticisms, and a budget of sketches and tales. The lover of Stevenson will find the volume much to his liking.

The Utility of Chess.—Mr. G. W. Baynes sends us the following extract from "Bad English Exposed," by G. W. Moon (p. 127):—"These singular mistakes are really astonishing. How are they to be avoided? Only by the cultivation of a habit of careful, patient examination of the diversity of meaning produced by the different placing of the same words. As one means to that end, I strongly urge all students of the language to acquire a practical knowledge of the game of chess. It tends to produce precision of mind, and by accustoming the player to weigh well the relative position and influence of every piece on the boards, makes more familiar and easy to him the task of judging accurately concerning the position and influence of every word in a sentence."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

E. R. C. Peters, No. 1380.—Mr. F. R. Smith points out in reply to your inquiry that, besides the mode of accounting for the disappearance of White's KB, with the K's and KKt's pawns unmoved, stated by you—namely, giving the odds of the piece—there is another explanation—namely, a capture in course of play. As to your point, whether such a position is regarded as legitimate, Mr. Smith quotes from the Chess Problem Book: "The position must be such that it can be reached by actual play in a normal game. . . . Extraordinary games, such as games at odds, are not recognised in the above connection."

E. M. Fry, F. M. Forster, G. W. Baynes: Thanks.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The Sydney Symphony Orchestra, at their concert under Mr. Joseph Bradley's direction, next Saturday afternoon, will perform Camille Saint Saens' Symphony No. 3 in C Minor (Op. 78). This Organ Symphony has been pronounced "the crowning point of the composer's creations . . . original and out of the beaten track in its conception." It is unusual, also, as demanding, not only the organ (played by Mr. G. C. C. Hellemann), but also the pianoforte, for four hands (Miss Bessie Beattie and Mr. E. J. Robinson). The German biographer, Otto Nietzel, in "The Life's Work of Saint Saens, declares that it summarises the composer's noblest ideals in a manner that immeasurably surpasses all that he had hitherto achieved." The work was dedicated to Franz Liszt, and was performed by the London Philharmonic Society in June, 1886, only a few weeks before Liszt departed this world at Bayreuth. We read that the symphony seems less a monument to a departed master than an echo of Liszt's early life, with its phases of agitation, its romantic influences, worldly triumphs, and final repose in the orthodox faith of his childhood. If the work begins on the minor, it ends on the major. From an Allegro, full of darkness and agitation, it passes, by way of a movement which is mystical and liturgical, to a tumultuous Scherzo, and finally emerges in light and triumph. An elaborate explanatory programme note will enable the audience to follow readily the composer's scheme. Several other items of the highest musical interest will be given. On this occasion the Sydney Symphony Orchestra will endeavour to diminish the excessive resonance of the hall by the use of a deflector-screen, generously presented by Mr. Ernest Wunderlich. It will be placed behind the players, and is designed to concentrate the sound, so that it may reach the audience more directly. Another gift to the players—a double-bassoon from Mr. F. S. Kelly—will enrich the ensemble at this concert.

"A woman in London" writes, under date April 14:—"There are a number of new productions ending during the coming week. Henry VIII. finished his career on Saturday last, but the play will be revived during the Shakespearean season, which presently comes on at His Majesty's. And there is in preparation an interesting Shakespearean venture at the Coronet, in which Miss Alice Crawford will play Beatrice, Rosalind, and Portia. This clever young Australian has not been doing as much work for our stage as usual. But I think in these three roles her future career will be decided. It is thought we may have a boom of Ibsen plays. I have been to see a Russian princess play Nora in 'The Dolls' House,' and after her marvellously vivid performance I must record my impression that it is a role no English-woman should touch. It is so essentially a North of Europe character. In England there are no Noras left. Miss Lillah Macarthy gives a wonderful reading of Hilda Wangel in the 'Master Builder,' but she gets it a little too realistic, too unspiritual. If you have the play at hand you will see what I mean. She plays it rather as an adventuress, but Ibsen wrote it in a semi-mystic strain. It is a visible embodiment of an evil temptation, not wholly of this world; difficult, of course, to translate through the medium of flesh and blood. At the Haymarket Mr. Trench, who is partially backed by that artistic nobleman, Lord Howard de Walden, intends producing 'The Pretenders,' one of Ibsen's historical masterpieces."

John Philip Sousa's fine band, which now has but a few more appearances before it at the Town Hall, has been formed with the utmost care, and includes more than one fine solo-player in every section, though Mr. Herbert L. Clarke, the brilliant first cornet, has been principally before the public. Mr. Herman Hand, whose rendering of "Siegfried's Call" fairly astonished connoisseurs by its executive perfection on Wednesday night, is one of the best known horn-players in Europe. Mr. Hand, who is an Austrian, was at one time principal horn in the splendid orchestra conducted by Richard Strauss when Capel-meister at Berlin. That great composer, as the son of a Munich horn-player, should be a difficult musician to satisfy. Amongst his cornets Mr. Sousa now has Mr. Harry Freeman, of this city, so frequently soloist at the late Chevalier Wiegand's organ-recitals. In England Mr. Freeman was soloist with the Alexander Palace Military and Orchestral Bands, whence he joined the band of the Grenadier Guards for their season at Earl's Court about eight years ago. The "March King" has introduced two lady artists from the classic side of musical art in America to Australian audiences, Miss Virginia Root and Miss Nicoline Zedeler. The lyric soprano, who is related to George F. Root, widely known as the composer of "Marching Through Georgia," was born in New York, and has filled highly-paid positions as soloist at various churches there, a kind of engagement poorly remunerated, and little thought of in England and the Empire, but quite differently regarded in the great cities of the United States. Apart from an engagement with Mme. Emma Eames at the Maine Musical Festival, which resulted in a long course of study at the star's suggestion under Signor Pizzerollo, of New York, and her many other appearances, Miss Root's principal achievement was to win a scholarship founded by the directorate of the Metropolitan Opera House, of three years' free teaching under Fr. Materna Ternina, from some three-score professional competitors, but after a while Miss Root resigned sooner than exchange her Italian production for the German dramatic school, for which she considered the quality of her voice unsuited. Miss Zedeler, who was born in Sweden, is the daughter of a musician who settled in Chicago when she was six years of age, and a year later she began her career as a violin-prodigy. This fair-haired player, who is even now only 19 years of age, ultimately studied under Theodor Spiering, leader of the New York Philharmonic, whose classes she joined in Berlin. Besides touring in Germany, Russia, Denmark, and Sweden, and all over the United States, with her brother, who is an able 'cellist, Miss Zedeler has taken pride in her position under Mr. Sousa's baton, whose company she joined with Miss Root last August. Both ladies, with their recent visit to the Cape, are now numbered amongst the much-travelled.

Mr. Thomas Graves, the low comedian of the new "Gay Gordons" company, furnishes one of many examples of "the successful amateur-turned actor." As a boy at Margate College he was always chosen to play girls' parts, and on leaving for his home in London he played innumerable characters with the South Kensington Dramatic Society. Adopting the profession seriously, he crossed over to Chicago, gained invaluable experience there during a period of eight years, and was one of the few minor artists honoured by an engagement at the opening of the Chicago Auditorium in 1891, when Adelina Patti and other stars "topped the bill." In England one of Mr. Graves' earliest and most appreciated parts was as the Polite Lunatic, which he played for 18 months on tour, and he had a good part in "The Talk of the Town," at the Lyric Theatre (London), and he played the second comedy part at the Hicks Theatre (London), and in "My Darling." Three years ago he appeared in "La Tulipe Noire," a dazzling extravaganza, at the Apollo Theatre, Paris. Mr Graves has also toured Germany, appearing at Dusseldorf, Potsdam, Heidelberg, and other cities, and also at Vienna, last year, when also he played at the Metropole Theatre, in the Friedrichstrasse, Berlin, as an English dude in the German comedy, "Grosse London." Mr. Graves, whose brother, George, was the Dame at Drury Lane Theatre this year, is, in fact, an artist of ripe experience, so that his present success as Nat Siddons is but one of many in his career. He was playing the same character on tour shortly before he joined Clarke and Meynell's combination for Australia.

Eleanora de Cisneros, the Spanish contralto, who will accompany the Melba Grand Opera Company to Australia, sang the role of Poppea in Jean Nougues' grand opera "Quo Vadis" when the work was given at Philadelphia recently.

Ethel Irving, and her complete London company, are now on their way to Australia. The repertoire will comprise their most notable productions, including "His House in Order," "The Witness for the Defence," "Dame Nature," and "Lady Frederck." Mr. George Edwardes, a cousin of the Gaiety Theatre director of that name, is coming out to represent Miss Irving's interests.

Miss Katharine Grey made her first appearance in the dramatic version of "Madame Butterfly" at the Princess's Theatre last week, followed by Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Arms and the Man," and next Saturday she will open a season in Adelaide. This fine emotional artist leaves again for America early in July.

ROBUR TEA.

Is Tea good to drink?

Is a question one often hears asked. One would think there ought really to be no doubt about the answer being "Yes" especially when one looks around and sees healthy old people of both sexes who have been drinking tea all their lives, and again when one looks into the homes of the rich and poor alike and sees tea the one beverage in general use everywhere. Still, there are people who have some doubt about its goodness, but surely the following statement, made by Professor Osborne, of the Melbourne University, in a lecture recently delivered in public, should clear all doubts away. He is reported to have said:—

"I question if disease associated with food could ever prevail to any extent in Australia. The Australian is saved," said he, "by his love of fresh mutton and fresh fruit, and the accessibility and cheapness of both, and as regards drinking, the danger in Australia is not so much that of drinking water with too high a degree of hardness, or which contains injurious salts, but the very opposite, namely, the use of tank water, which contains no salts at all, and which might easily on that account be provocative of gastro-internal trouble. But here again," Professor Osborne remarked, "the Australian is saved by the national virtue (I call it so deliberately) of tea-drinking."

That tea contains a proportion of soluble salts good for people is a well-known fact—at the same time the professor might have added that any water for human consumption, whether tank or otherwise, is the better for having been boiled, and as tea can't be made except with boiling water, the habit of tea drinking is beneficial, not only on account of the goodness it contains, but also because it safeguards one's health against troubles that often arise from drinking impure water.

Tea is undoubtedly a good wholesome drink, and the purer it is the more wholesome and healthful it is. There is no purer tea than "Robur"—no nicer tea to drink—none that is packed under cleaner or more healthful conditions.

Just you test "Robur" yourself, and see if you don't find it the most satisfactory of any tea you have ever tried.

SPECIAL GRADE

is composed entirely of the youngest and most succulent shoots. It is very fine, delicate flavoured, rich tea. There is no better tea in all the world—no matter what price is paid. Quite recently it won the gold medal at the Paris Exhibition in competition with the very best teas procurable.

No. 1 GRADE

is fine, strong, good quality tea, with a delightful flavour. It is wonderfully saving, remarkably good tea. We recommend it for "high class" family everyday use—it makes a splendid afternoon cup of tea.

No. 2 GRADE

is strong, full tea, with a fair amount of flavour, the kind of tea most likely to suit for everyday family use. It is very saving, much more so than Ceylon or ordinary blended tea.

No. 3 GRADE

is good, sound tea, with moderate flavour and strength. People who try this grade will tell you that it is quite good enough for anybody. We know families who have used it for years and nothing would make them change.

IT IS CLAIMED

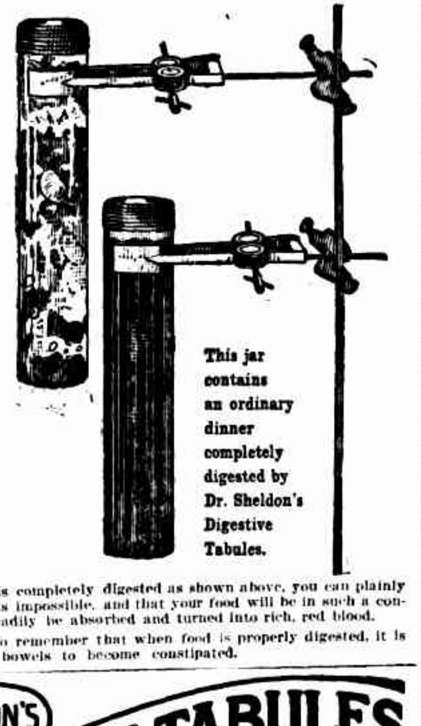
that DR. SHELDON'S DIGESTIVE TABULES, a preparation for the cure of INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, and all Stomach Troubles, have the power to digest from 300 to 3000 times their own weight of meat, eggs, or other wholesome food, and this claim has been proven by actual experiments in the following manner:—A hard boiled egg cut into small pieces was placed in a bottle containing warm water heated to ninety-eight degrees (or blood heat); one of these TABULES was then placed in the bottle and the proper temperature maintained for three hours and a half, at the end of which time the egg was as completely digested as it would have been in a healthy stomach.

THIS EXPERIMENT

was undertaken to demonstrate that what it would do in the bottle it would also do in the stomach, hence its unquestionable value in the cure of DYSPEPSIA and WEAK DIGESTION. Very few people are free from some form of INDIGESTION, but scarcely two will have the same symptoms.

A TEST EXPERIMENT

showing how Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules DIGEST what You Eat.



This jar Contains an ORDINARY DINNER consisting of SOUP, FISH, CUTLETS, and GREEN PEAS, ROAST GOOSE, and VEGETABLES, PLUM PUDDING, JELLY, CHEESE, NUTS, COFFEE.

This jar contains an ordinary dinner completely digested by Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules.

If your dinner is completely digested as shown above, you can plainly see that indigestion is impossible, and that your food will be in such a condition that it can readily be absorbed and turned into rich, red blood.

Also it is well to remember that when food is properly digested, it is impossible for the bowels to become constipated.

DR SHELDON'S DIGESTIVE TABULES "DIGEST WHAT YOU EAT" Price 2/6

SOME WILL SUFFER MOST

from distress after eating, bloating and gas in the stomach and bowels, others have acid dyspepsia and heartburn, others palpitation or headaches, sleeplessness, pains in the chest and under shoulder blades, extreme nervousness, as in nervous dyspepsia, but they all have the SAME CAUSE, failure to properly digest what is eaten. The stomach must have rest and assistance.

DR. SHELDON'S DIGESTIVE TABULES accomplish this by digesting the food, and in a short time the stomach is restored to its normal action and vigour. At the same time the TABULES are so harmless that a child can take them with benefit.

F. H. MOLESWORTH, F.C.S., F.G.S., Public Analyst and Assayer, late Lecturer in Chemistry, S.A. Government, and Technical College, Sydney, reports as follows:—

"I have made analyses of samples of Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules, also his Gastric Tabules, to determine their composition and properties. The Digestive Tabules are composed of the purest and best ingredients known to Science for the purpose, and contain no poisons or injurious matter. They may be taken with advantage by the most delicate women or children as well as by the more robust, and can be relied on to restore and regulate the organs of digestion. They are especially calculated to cure Dyspepsia and cases of defective nutrition, and form an excellent tonic for the stomach and kidneys. For digesting meat or other food they are excellent, and they cure Flatulency. These tabules are to be recommended for weakly children. The Gastric Tabules, which are taken in conjunction with the Digestive Tabules, have an antacid effect in all cases of Dyspepsia, are a general tonic and stimulant, promoting the secretion of the natural digestive fluids. The ingredients of which they are composed are pure and wholesome, and combined in a form in which they may be easily assimilated. They contain no poisons or any material that is deleterious to the system. No matter how long either of these Tabules may be used no harm can possibly result therefrom.

DR. SHELDON'S DIGESTIVE TABULES are sold by all Chemists and Storekeepers at 2/6 per tin of 80 Tabules.

SCIENCE NOTES.

W.G.P.

CONCERNING THE ANT.

The ants are as distinguished in body as they are in brain, the three great regions of the body being well cut off, and the parts characterised by very mobile articulation. The mouth parts, moreover, reach a high degree of specialisation, and leave the mandibles remarkably free. The sense organs vary greatly. Eyes, for instance, may be absent or highly developed in the same species, but winged forms are never blind. The head varies a good deal, being exceptionally small in the male and exceptionally large among the workers. Numerous eggs are produced in a nest by one female, which when hatched are helpless maggots, carefully attended to by the workers. The following pupae may have a cocoon or they may be naked. This is a brief period, and then the metamorphosis into the perfect insect occurs. The adult may take various forms: imperfect females, workers, and soldiers are wingless, the fully developed males and females are winged. A nuptial flight occurs for these latter, and after it the males rapidly die off. The females cast their wings and devote themselves to their eggs. Otherwise the lives of individual ants appear to extend over a considerable number of years, a fact that gives opportunity for the education of the younger generation. The ants are usually regarded as the last word in insect life, both as to structure and function; but with all their high attainments they are wildly "careless of the single life," and their society aims only at securing the "summum bonum" for the species. There are about two thousand known species, and probably that is not more than a third of the existing forms. As regards habit the ants are strikingly different from their nearest relatives, the bees and wasps. No comb is constructed, and the young are not placed in cells. The social home is an irregular structure, and by means of galleries it often runs down to a considerable depth. Some South American species have a habit of living in stumps, and where these are liable to flooding have an alternative residence in trees. Other tropical species live in the stems of grass, in hollow thorns, in spines, and other curious places. Such associations of ants with plants are supposed to afford examples of symbiosis, mutual co-partnership, but the evidence is usually of a doubtful character. There are no solitary ants known. One of the most curious things about ant life is the common association with other insects. The nest often has a miscellaneous population, including guests fed by the ants and doing them some service in return, other insects which seem to have neither good nor bad qualities, and some enemies whom it proves impossible to dislodge.

RADIO-ACTIVITY AND THERAPEUTICS.

Professor Wilhelm His, of Berlin, has recently been applying radio-activity to the cure of rheumatism, following the obvious suggestion afforded by the fact that curative spring waters are known to be radio-active. In a recent lecture he dealt with 100 cases of chronic rheumatism, and 28 of uric acid gout. He had cases in which limbs rendered useless were almost completely restored and there was marked improvement in all but about 20 per cent. of his cases. In gout only four of the 28 patients failed to benefit. It seems that under the influence of the radium emanation the blood loses its uric acid in a few weeks. Exceptions to this rule were, however, noted. When water containing radium is drunk, part of the emanation mixes with the air of the lungs, and part is absorbed from the stomach and intestines. The emanation can generally be detected in the expired air. Another curious fact is that the radium seems to induce greater activity in various body ferments. The disturbance in gout, for instance, has been shown to depend on a slowing down of purin body metabolism. A form of radio-active thorium, much more easily prepared than radium, is also being used in therapeutics.

MAARTEN VAN BEMMELEN.

Professor Maarten van Bemmelen, whose death is reported in recent scientific journals, was born in 1830 at Almelo. He was educated at Leyden, and became a teacher in the School of Agriculture at Groningen. He was a pioneer in the analysis of soils and in the general application of chemistry to agriculture. In 1873 he exchanged his position for a professorship at Leyden, and his subsequent research work, continued for many years, placed him in the first rank of soil chemists. Later on he devoted himself to the scientific study of colloids, in which field also his researches have become classic. He was a man of extreme personal charm, according to those who knew him, and, although an ardent investigator, he never forgot in his special studies those wider questions which it is the business of science to answer.

THE GALTON BEQUEST.

Sir Francis Galton, who died early in the year, at the age of 88, has left estate to the value of about £45,000 to the University of London, to encourage the study of national eugenics. A professorship of that subject is to be established, and the testator hoped that Professor Karl Pearson would undertake the work. This assures the permanence of the Francis Galton laboratory, which was opened in 1904.

PROFESSOR VAN'T HOFF.

Another giant of the scientific world, who has just passed away is Professor Van't Hoff. He was a comparatively young man, born in 1852, through for a generation he had been in the forefront of chemical progress. He was trained under Kekule and Wurtz, and began to teach in 1876. Subsequently he was for 18 years Professor of Chemistry at Amsterdam, and in 1896 he went to Berlin. In 1901 he received the Nobel Prize. His earlier work may be said to have revolutionised organic chemistry. He was one of the first to explain the relation between optical activity and the asymmetric carbon atom, and to familiarise the chemist with the molecule, conceived as a three dimensional solid. He was thus the founder of stereochemistry. By degrees he raised chemical dynamics to the position of an exact science. Later on he was again a pioneer of the modern theory of dilute solutions, the central idea of which is that the molecules of a solute behave similarly to those of a gas; the simple gas laws being thus, within certain limits, applicable to solutions. He thus paved the way for the electrolytic dissociation theories of Arrhenius and Ostwald. These researches were so far-reaching that it is hard to find a portion of science that they do not affect. For instance, amongst the last of the many great tasks he undertook was the solving of the problem of the manner in which the complex salt deposits at Stassfurth were laid down—the foundation of a science of experimental mineralogy.

THE AIRSHIP IN WAR.

The striking rivalry between the Powers for possession of an aeroplane fleet shows how seriously the war aspect of the conquest of the air is being taken. The nations seem to have realised that in the next great war they will have to oppose themselves in air as well as on land and water. In the nature of the case only experience can show what will be the effect on tactics. Until that comes we shall really remain in the dark even as to the value of the aeroplane for scouting, much less as to its value as a weapon of offence. So far as land tactics are concerned, it is almost inconceivable that an air fleet could succeed in doing any considerable harm to an army or even to ports; but the possibility of a duel between aeroplanes and Dreadnoughts is one that has to be taken seriously. One of the objections to the huge size of the modern battleship has been that large dimensions expose a greater target to attack. If this is true of a sea foe, it applies with double force to one in the air, whose chance of a hit is prima facie immensely smaller. Professor J. J. Welch, a leading naval architect, discusses the aspect of the problem. He pointed out that, assuming an attack to be delivered from the height of a mile, reasonably out of range of high angle fire, a hollow bomb carrying 100lb of explosive would take only 20 seconds to reach the water; which compares well with the 80 seconds an under-water torpedo would take to do the same distance. It is doubtful if the 20 seconds would give time enough for the vessel to change her course, supposing the dropping of the projectile was noticed. On the other hand, a single missile would always have a very poor chance of a hit when air currents and other complications were taken into account. If a number could be dropped in succession, however, the air-vessel would stand a chance of being a serious menace. Apparently the only way to meet that menace is by other airships.

"THE OCTOPUS."

OIL AND ROCKEFELLER.

Everyone knows what oil is. Almost everyone, therefore, has heard of the Standard Oil Company, which for years has controlled the great oil fields of America, and through them the bulk of the oil output of the world. And if anyone by chance has missed the Standard Oil Company's record of fame he will surely have heard of J. D. Rockefeller, the consistently paragraphed multi-millionaire. Well, Mr. Rockefeller's millions have been made in oil. Mr. Rockefeller is the head and forefront of the Standard Oil Company. With him a group of men have controlled for years the destinies of oil. They are all millionaires. Probably, like Mr. Rockefeller, they have varied the monotony of piling up immense fortunes by means of iron-handed and ruthless ferocity of method, with the peaceful occupation of attending Baptist meetings and addressing Bible classes. At any rate, that anomaly has characterised Mr. Rockefeller's life for years. Never was the compositeness of frail human nature so vividly exemplified. A business genius of the highest order, his commercial energies have been directed terrifically upon the smashing, by fair means or foul, of every obstacle in his way to power. On the other side, he is a humane man, a good father, a frugal liver, a generous supporter of charities, a worker for his church, an active visitor of its sick, altogether busy in well-doing. With one hand, that is to say, he has dealt out, by favour of the Standard Oil Company, ruin and desolation to thousands of innocent people, and with the other he has bestowed the benediction of solace, and the lavishness of generosity. His colleagues, very likely, have resembled him. H. H. Rogers, at any rate, the lately deceased chief of them, is described as having been kindly, generous, and helpful to his friends, but in business "a relentless, ravenous creature, pitiless as a shark." It is a curious but not uncommon portent of American life.

It cannot be said, nevertheless, to atone for such atrocities as those of the Standard Oil Company. At last that gigantic concern has been declared an illegal combine. It is no wonder. If there is any wonder in the matter at all it is that the Standard people have managed so long to outrage the law, and to defy, unscathed, every principle of modern business integrity. And yet, perusal of a book recently published by London "Truth," under the title of "The Great Oil Octopus," suggests ample reason for the so many years of its chartered libertinism. As a matter of cold fact, the Standard Oil Company, though obviously one of the greatest manifestations of rascality in the whole history of commercial crookedness, was too gigantic a concern to be withstood, even by the law. Always rich and always efficient, from the first it gathered strength by its own impetus. Like some hugely devastating avalanche, it rolled across the American continent, crushing under its enormous weight every opposing interest it desired to crush, multiplying to itself and adding to its bulk every interest likely to be of service to it. It had but two methods, chiefly. It exterminated, or it absorbed. Either was effective; in combination they were irresistible. And that sums up the Standard Oil Company. It was irresistible. It suborned railroad companies, it bribed officials, it persuaded legislators, it deflected justice itself. Its immense resources gave it unlimited power of persuasion. Its utter disregard of any code save the essentially American one of "get rich quick" did the rest.

London "Truth's" account of the vast combine and its methods may be safely regarded as authoritative. It is based upon close investigation, and it is supported by much independent testimony. The history really begins in 1870, when Mr. Rockefeller, who had already been successful in oil deals, consolidated his interests into the Standard Oil Company of Cleveland, Ohio, when oil-refining was a well-established industry. With a million dollars' capital at disposal, the new organisation at once began its campaign with the Rockefellian device, now famous, of securing rebates from the railroad companies in return for a guaranteed quantity of freight. A barrel of oil upon which the freight for carriage was 42 cents., was carried for 32 cents. for a guarantee of 60 carloads a day. At the same time—and this was the essential basis of the arrangement—no other company of oil refiners was to be allowed similar privilege. At one stroke thus, even in the day of the Standard Company's small things, competition by immediate rivals was effectively crushed. Then Mr. Rockefeller and his colleagues turned their attention to the important matter of keeping up the price of oil. To that end they originated the idea of the industrial "trust," in which connection alone they will live in history. They took over the charter of an existing concern, the South Improvement Company, and they arranged a secret contract with the railroad companies which had drastic intent. The railroads were to carry the South Improvement Company's products for a rate low enough to render all competition hopeless. The ingenuity of the scheme is really deserving of admiration. First, the railway companies were safeguarded. An all-round rise of 100 per cent. in freight rates secured that, and each railroad was guaranteed a fixed proportion of oil freight, and was to be paid for that proportion, whether it was actually carried or not. By way of return, the South Improvement Company was to get a discrimination by the secret paying back to it of from 25 to 50 per cent. of the total amount paid for freight, either by itself or by any firm or company in the trade.

This railway arrangement deserves study, for upon it the Standard Oil people built as upon a sure foundation the whole of their gigantic monopoly. At this time they controlled 10 per cent. of the American oil business. By 1880 they controlled 90 per cent. of it, and they were scattered abroad in many places. Last year they controlled nine oil refining companies aggregating 54 million dollars of capital; a group of five lubricating oil companies aggregating 14 million dollars of capital, three crude-oil producing companies, 13 pipe-line companies, the Union Tank Line of New Jersey operating railway tank cars, 16 natural gas companies, six American market companies, and 17 foreign market companies in England, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Belgium, Japan, Canada, Africa, and Australia. Moreover, they own a host of subsidiary concerns, such as tin case manufactories, barrel and wooden-box manufactories, the American Lamp Wick Company, and a number of vacuum oil companies in various parts of the world. From 1872 onwards the Standard Oil people were set upon the building up of that vast conglomerate. The first step, as seen, was the secret railway rebate, and discrimination. They proceeded thence by inevitable processes. They absorbed all their rivals, sometimes by buying them out at cut-throat prices and absorbing them, sometimes by crushing their competitive enthusiasm into dust. By means of the railway rebates they undersold their competitors everywhere. Where there were no competitors they held up the price of oil, and very soon that became their chief means of aggrandisement. They effectually stopped competition which was essentially dangerous by hampering other companies in their construction of pipe lines from their wells to the seaboard refineries, or by buying up their stock in open market. By means of a subsidised press, an elaborate organisation of agents, and secret spies everywhere, they discovered all necessary information as to rival shipments of oil, and thereupon promptly undersold it. In places where the Standard Oil Trust was in public disfavour or where it was otherwise advisable not to disclose identity, they set up, with all manner of ingenious detail, bogus companies ostensibly opposed to Standard interests. In that way they competed, at lower prices, with other anti-trust companies. They have consistently bribed newspapers and politicians. The annual subscription to the "Southern Farm Magazine" is 50 cents per annum, for instance. Among many similar letters on record is one from the combine renewing its "annual subscription" of 5000 dollars to that journal, presumably in token of esteem. As to the politicians, Standard Oil lobbyists are known in every Parliament House in the world where their operations have any outlet. That England has not wholly escaped the tentacles of this monster is evidenced by the low flash-point of oil there set up by statute—the temperature, that is, at which an oil gives off explosive vapour. As a consequence the sale of inferior Standard oil is permissible, and many oil-fire fatalities are a result. The trust has been prosecuted over and over again for fraudulent conspiracy. It apparently dissolved in 1898 as a result of one conviction, and re-established itself as the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. In 1907 it was fined £5,848,000 on charges of conspiracy in regard to railway discriminations, but escaped on appeal. In 1906 the Federal Government indicted it for conspiracy. It was convicted. It appealed against the decision, and this week its appeal was dismissed.

Whether it will still survive by means of one more of its chameleonic fantasies, does not yet appear. What is certain, however, is that the Standard Oil Company well deserves the obloquy which Judge after Judge has cast upon it, and well deserves, too, the evil public reputation it has built up simultaneously with its vast commercial spread of itself—that, namely, of being the most unscrupulous influence in the whole world of business.

IN THE GARDEN.

SOME BEAUTIFUL FLOWERING SHRUBS.

At this season a great deal of forethought, time, and labour is usually devoted to the formation of new gardens, the extension of established ones, and the renovation of old ones. It is, therefore, opportune to give the names and brief descriptions of a few beautiful flowering shrubs as a guide to those who are contemplating planting. Amongst the first of the early spring flowering ones to claim attention are the charming and showy Indian or Chinese azaleas. These evergreen plants grow from 2 to 4 feet high, and to obtain the best results they should be planted in a rather light sandy loam that is rich in humus (organic matter) and in a position that is well sheltered from wind. They will only grow satisfactorily in the open in the coast districts and the more favoured portions of the State. The American or Ghent azaleas are very hardy deciduous shrubs, producing a profusion of lovely flowers, and are suitable for the cooler and the coldest districts. They do well in any deep friable soil, but thrive in good sandy loam.

The Brunfelsias (FranciscEas) are evergreen shrubs requiring a warm position for their successful cultivation, and doing well on a variety of soils, but best in well-drained, rich, sandy loam. The dwarf ones grow 3ft high, and the taller ones 10ft. The prevailing colours of their flowers are blue, purple, yellow, and white, and some of them are very sweetly perfumed.

Cassia candolleana is one of the most easily cultivated and profusely flowering shrubs in cultivation. In early autumn its bright golden-yellow flowers, which are borne in large bunches at the apex of the shoots, produce a very fine effect, especially when growing in juxtaposition to scarlet flowering shrubs, or those having dark-coloured foliage.

The gardenias are very popular, but will thrive in the open only in the warmer districts. Most of the introduced ones grow from 2ft to 12ft high, and all of them produce white flowers, some of which are very sweetly perfumed. These evergreen shrubs do best on deeply-worked good soils, and should be planted in sheltered positions to attain perfection. Gardenia globosa is one of the tallest, and in early spring its branches are literally covered with globular flowers, forming a very attractive object. All the other kinds flower in summer.

Hibiscus rosa-sinensis, the Chinese rose, and its numerous varieties, producing large single, semi-double, and double flowers of various colours, scarlet predominating, are worth extensively planting where sufficient room is available. They are evergreen shrubs, growing from 6ft to 15ft high, and are easily cultivated, thriving on a variety of good soils, and flowering profusely under favourable conditions a greater part of the year. They will grow in the open only in the more favoured parts of the State. There are several other species of hibiscus that are worth the attention of those laying out new gardens or making additions to their shrubberies.

Lasiandra macrantha and its variety floribunda, are very fine shrubs, growing about 6ft high and thriving on good soils in the warmer districts. They produce lovely blooms, sometimes six inches in diameter, of a rich purple colour. In favourable positions these shrubs continue flowering a great part of the year.

The evergreen magnolias will succeed in the open only in the more favoured districts. Amongst the best are M. fuscata, a dwarf plant, producing highly-fragrant, dull purple-coloured flowers, and M. grandiflora, a tall-growing shrub having sweetly-scented, large white flowers, sometimes more than nine inches in diameter. The deciduous magnolias are very hardy shrubs, suitable for planting in the warmer as well as in the colder parts of the State. The three following are amongst the most conspicuous flowering shrubs in cultivation:—M. conspicua produces large, highly-fragrant white flowers, sometimes tinged with red, and there are varieties with purple blooms. M. purpurea has large flowers, purple on the outside and white inside; and M. stellata, sweetly-perfumed white ones. All these magnolias thrive in any deeply-worked good soil.

Amongst the rhododendrons best suited for outdoor cultivation are the numerous hybrids and varieties of R. ponticum. These are hardy, handsome, evergreen shrubs, growing from six to ten feet high, or more, thriving in deep sandy loam, rich in humus, and are suitable for planting in the cooler and colder parts of the State. They produce magnificent heads of large flowers of various rich colours, some being beautifully spotted and marked, others displaying a wonderful combination of colour.

Spartium junceum, the Spanish broom, is a hardy, easily cultivated, rather tall-growing shrub, with rush-like, almost leafless branches, on which are produced in early summer a profusion of showy, fragrant, pea-like, yellow flowers.

The English lilac, Syringa vulgaris, is a very hardy, deciduous shrub, growing from twelve to twenty feet high or more, suitable for planting in the cooler and colder districts, thriving in good soils, and producing in spring a profusion of sweetly-scented flowers in large terminal clusters. There are a number of highly-ornamental varieties of this plant having flowers, including double ones, of various colours—blue, lilac, purple, red, white, and violet predominating.

The yellow elders—Tecoma stans and its variety, velutina, referred to in detail in this column in February last, are worth good positions in any collection of ornamental shrubs.

Viburnum macrocephalum, the giant snowball, V. opulus, the guelder rose, and V. plicatum, the snowball tree, are hardy, handsome, deciduous, tall shrubs, and when in bloom early in summer produce a very fine effect. They thrive in any good soil, and are suitable for planting in both the warm and cold districts.

When selecting shrubs for planting in various positions in the garden the dwarf Chinese cherries, the Japanese plums, flowering crab apples, and flowering quinces, are well worth including, for they are decided acquisitions to any collection. These very hardy, easily cultivated, deciduous, dwarf shrubs thrive in any good soil, and are suitable for planting in the warm and cold districts. In early spring their branches are literally covered with single and double flowers of the most exquisite and varied colours.

VEGETABLE GROWING.

The seed of asparagus is now ripe, and if it is desired to save any for future planting, gather it, and, when dry, place it in paper bags and store in a cool, dry place until the time for sowing it arrives. As soon as the stems of asparagus begin to wither, cut them close to the ground, and put them on the rubbish heap. Then give the bed or beds a good top-dressing of chopped-up seaweed, or, failing that, plenty of well-decayed natural manure. Asparagus is a maritime plant, therefore seaweed is an excellent fertiliser for it.

On fertile soils, or those that have been made so with natural or commercial manures, that have been well and deeply worked, permanent plantations of asparagus, horseradish, rhubarb, and seakale may now be formed. Where fairly large areas are available, asparagus may be planted in rows from three to four feet apart and the crowns or stools from eighteen inches to two feet apart in the rows. In small vegetable gardens, however, it is more convenient to grow asparagus in beds four or five feet wide, with pathways one foot wide between each bed, to facilitate gathering the crop, cultivating, etc. The roots (crowns) should be planted from 12 to 18 inches apart, and left covered with soil to the depth of four or five inches.

Horseradish should be planted in rows two feet apart, and fifteen inches apart in the rows.

Rhubarb is best planted in rows three to four feet apart, and the same distance apart in the rows, according to the vigour of the variety. The crown of the plant must not be covered too deeply with soil.

Seakale will grow into strong plants if set in rows two and a half feet apart, and the same distance apart in the rows.

Plant for succession eschalot, garlic, potato, and tree onions, and transplant from the seed-beds any seedlings of the cabbage tribe that are sufficiently forward.

Large sowings may now be made of culinary peas, and the best and largest crops are obtained on rich, friable soils containing a fair percentage of lime. Peas are best sown in drills, the distance apart to be regulated by the height of the variety. For instance, those attaining a height of four feet should be sown in drills four feet apart. Amongst the best of the early varieties are Blue Peter, 1½ft; M'Lean's Little Gem, 1½ft; and Sherwood, 2ft. Some of the best mid-season sorts are Telephone, 4½ft; Veitch's Perfection, 2½ to 3 ft; and Yorkshire Hero, 2½ to 3 ft; and excellent late kinds are Bedman's Blue Imperial, 2ft; Improved Telegraph, 4ft; and Pride of the Market.

Broad beans may also be largely sown, and although these plants do well on a variety of soils, the best and heaviest crops are obtained on strong and even clayey land. The beans should be planted about 12 inches apart in rows three to four feet apart, and left covered with soil to the depth of about 3 inches. Some good varieties to grow are Broad Windsor, Early Long Pod, and Giant Long Pod.

When endive plants, that are being grown for winter salad, are sufficiently advanced, the leaves of each one should be loosely bound together round the heart or centre, so that they will be in a perfectly blanched condition when required for use.

Sow cabbage, leek, spinach, and turnip, and seed of salad plants.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENCE.

J.A.C.—If you have good fertile eggs you can set them now, and the chickens will be easier reared than in midsummer. If Leghorns, the pullets should at latest lay at six months; Orpingtons, Wyandottes, and others some time longer. There are strains of the heavy breeds which lay as early as some Leghorns.

Berowra-road.—(1) The 50 hens have ample space, but the results will be better from the same number divided into two flocks, allowing half the run to each of the 25. With big lots of fowls feeding together, the bullies get the most food to the disadvantage of the weaker or less assertive ones. There are other reasons for small flocks. (2) Healthy fowls do not require to be given medicine. One of the ordinary packets of salts may occasionally be mixed in the soft food of each dozen fowls. It is not the best way to put the salts in the fowls' drinking water.

St. Elmo.—Young fowls, particularly the cockerels of the Asiatic varieties, not infrequently suffer from leg weakness, usually due to the absence of some bone-making element in the food. Whether yours are old or young, is not stated, neither your feeding nor management. If you supply these particulars, remedies can be recommended.

P.R. (Muswellbrook).—The party you inquire for is a well-known business man, Adelaide, South Australia, being a sufficient address.

J. M'J.—The birds certainly have roup, which may either have resulted from neglected colds or acquired from others having the disease. Full particulars were posted.

At the request of a number of breeders, Md. L. L. Ramsay, hon. secretary of the Poultry, Pigeon, and Canary Club of New South Wales, has postponed the closing of entries till to-day, while any suburban or country ones posted will be received up to Tuesday morning. As anticipated, Orpingtons form the biggest classes of the entries yet received; Wyandottes are in goodly numbers, while for Leghorns there will be a large show of them. A number of the other classes are poorly filled, and those anxious for first honours in these will have, by entering to-day, a good chance of securing such. Pigeon and canary entries will also be received by post up to Tuesday next.

A third and enlarged edition of "Refrigeration On The Homestead" has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture. The Bulletin appeals largely to poultry-breeders. Copies can be had on application to the Under-Secretary.

Things the past few weeks have not been so rosy from the food point of view with poultry farmers. While wheat and maize experienced little change, bran and pollard went up to 1/3 per bushel. The rise was largely due to an increased demand inland. The late rains have, however, relieved the situation a little, and a continuance will bring the prices to normal.

Although the egg market eased a little the present week the current 2/ per dozen is still a big figure for this article. Other States are also experiencing the shortage at this period. In Melbourne they are up to 1/9 per dozen, while in Adelaide the good price of 1/6 for that State has been experienced. The above figures are for the best new-laids, the lower grades and preserved ones fetching considerably less.

Mr. D. F. Laurie, the South Australian Government poultry expert, forwards a copy of his bulletin on the system of breeding for egg production. Mr. Laurie deprecates the trap nest system, for the reason that some hens will not enter the nests, others become excited, which seriously affects egg production. The trap nests require constant supervision, and the cost is too much from a commercial point of view. Mr. Laurie says that those who desire to experiment in improving the laying of their flocks should use the single pen system, there being no mechanical device to frighten the fowls, and each fowl can be studied without trouble. In other ways the single pen system is clearly shown as a distinct advance over that of trap nests.

Poultry had its fair share of attention in the House on the first night of its sitting. The high price of eggs was referred to, which was a small matter beside that of someone having purchased turkey eggs from a Government farm, which were not all fertile. Evidently Government turkeys are no better in this respect than those privately owned, infertility being still an unsolved problem.

Throughout the show season scarcely a week passes but one or more city or suburban poultry judges leave the metropolis to adjudicate at the poultry section at some country event. The usual arrangements are a fee, out of which the judge pays his return railway ticket, which on the production of a certificate from the secretary of the show, is had at single rates. A supplement to the Government "Gazette" of the 11th instant embodies the following important changes, which secretaries and judges would do well to note.

"Single tickets at half single fare will, at the convenience of the Chief Commissioner, be granted to judges attending recognised shows, who travel for a continuous journey of not less than 25 miles within the State, and return tickets at single fare will be granted for similar journeys to other States, available for return for one month, on production of the approved certificate signed by the secretary of the show. Where the journey is not less than 25 miles each way, and is wholly within the metropolitan or Newcastle suburban areas, return tickets at single fare will be issued. Forms of certificates may be obtained from the secretary to the Chief Commissioner. Certificate for the return journey, following a forward journey on a single ticket, must be presented within one month from date of the opening of the show. In all cases where certificates have to be presented, and passengers have to return to the station at which they commenced their journey, but returns tickets are not issued, it will be necessary for two certificates to be provided—one for the forward and one for the return journey."

Briefly, there will be no more return tickets issued beyond the 25-mile limit. The change will take effect from the 28th instant.

FEEDING FOR EGGS.

In last week's notes lengthy reference was made to the scarcity of eggs in winter and that such scarcity is likely to continue, notwithstanding all the advice about hatching at special seasons. Two correspondents, the present week, from different suburbs, write that their egg supply, although falling much below that in spring and summer, is beyond that recorded at any of the egg-laying competitions. That may be quite correct. One of the writers keeps but two dozen hens, and the other calls himself a backyard breeder. It may be here mentioned that the man with a few well-managed fowls, whether in winter or summer, always has and always will get more eggs than when big numbers are kept. There are several reasons for this condition of things, but the chief one is that the smaller flock is fed with a greater variety of food than the larger one receives, and this is of itself sufficient to account for a better winter yield. These small flocks usually get the household scraps, and from a family of half a dozen these scraps are considerable in quantity, and variable in kind. Meat scraps, cooked and raw vegetables, bread crusts, leavings of puddings and porridge, in fact, everything which the family eat, the fowls get their share, even to the salt and mustard, both of which have their uses. On the poultry farms proper where hundreds or thousands are kept, the formula with scarcely any variation, is cereals, and their meals or by-products, and, perhaps, but little meat or greenstuffs. To vary these much, or at all approach the miscellaneous nature of the small man's feed is impossible, and for this reason, the flocks of the labourer, the artisan, or other small rearer will always give better returns than do the farmers' poultry. Accordingly, then, the best use should be made of these table scraps. It is a most wasteful way to throw pieces of bread, cabbage leaves, meat, etc., and the many other food odds and ends into the fowlyard. The better and more economising and appetising way is to save them in some receptacle, and mix them up with the morning meals. In this way it is surprising to find what a variety of wholesome, edible odds and ends accumulate, and the use of them not only promote egg-production, but naturally reduce the food cost, these and other reasons being responsible for the very much increased profits of the small breeder over those with greater numbers, whose every ounce of food has to be purchased in the open market. Scores of instances could be quoted where the backyard breeder is getting a fair quantity of eggs from his fowls at the present time, and many of the big breeders are complaining of their rather poor returns. The poultry salesmen at the present time confirm this, the larger portion of new-laids coming from the small suburban breeders.

SHEARERS' CLAIM.

IS THERE A DISPUTE?

VALIDITY OF RESOLUTIONS.

An application for an award to apply to the shearing industry in Australia, with the exception of Western Australia, was again before Mr. Justice Higgins in the Federal Arbitration Court yesterday. The case is that of the Australian Workers' Union against the Pastoral Federal Council of Australia. The claimant union represents 45,000 men.

Mr. Duffy, K.C. (of Victoria), and Dr. Brissenden, instructed by Mr. A. C. Roberts, appeared for the claimants, the Australian Workers' Union; Mr. A. J. Kelynack, instructed by Messrs. J. E. Fitzgerald and Power, of Brisbane, for the Pastoralists' Association of Victoria, and the Pastoralists' Union of Southern Riverina; Mr. A. J. Kelynack and Mr. H. Jaques, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Jaques, and Stephen, for the Pastoralists' Union of New South Wales; Mr. Feez, K.C. (of Brisbane), and Mr. Kelynack, instructed by Messrs. Fitzgerald and Power, for the United Pastoralists' Association of Queensland, the Pastoralists' Association of South Australia, and the Pastoralists' Association of West Darling.

The lists of stations belonging to the respondent Pastoralists' Federal Council of Australia were put in evidence.

A copy of the "Worker" was put in, in which certain resolutions from country centres appeared as advertisements.

His Honor, after glancing at the paper, came upon another resolution not included in the list required for reference. He read it as follows: "That a vote of censure be passed upon conference for increasing the salaries of secretaries and organisers." (Smiles.)

Mr. Kelynack objected to one of the resolutions which appeared, it being included in a letter headed, "Dear Worker."

Mr. Duffy: The "Worker" is the official organ under the rules.

His Honor: The view I take of it is that the fact of it being a resolution is of no importance. The importance of the thing, to me, is to find out is it an expression of opinion on the part of the station hands. "S.D.S." is the only signature, and we do not know who he is. I think I must refuse to admit it until there is some better evidence to connect it with the station hands. There are two steps to be proved first, that the station hands specifically wished this thing, and, second, that this comes from someone officially acting for the station hands.

Mr. Duffy: With great respect, I concur with what your Honor has said, but your Honor has not considered this view, that it is also essential to show that the organisation which alone could make this claim, and did make it, was not making a paper claim.

His Honor: The difficulty is where to fix the limit. For all I know, "S.D.S." may be the Man in the Moon. It is that link that I want, and to find whether it is the wish of these men. I do not think I can admit it.

Mr. Duffy: Very well, your Honor, I will let it pass at present.

His Honor: It is only postponed.

Mr. Feez, quoting from a bundle of resolutions from Queensland, read one: "That green hands be paid at the £2 10s, and soakers £2 15s." (Laughter.) He did not know what was meant by "soakers." (Laughter.)

Dr. Brissenden asked another witness, who said that in a certain year there was a drought on in Queensland, whether there were any "soakers" on a particular station at that time. (Laughter.)

Witness: They would be down at the scouring-yard. (Laughter.)

Prior to adjourning,

His Honor said: I understand there are eight subjects on which you cannot agree, and nine or ten on which you may agree. It would be extremely advisable if you could agree upon these nine or ten. In view of the fact that I have no jurisdiction to deal with the counter-claim, it would avoid friction hereafter if the parties could come to some understanding with regard to these matters.

Mr. Kelynack: The question of profane language has been settled. (Laughter.)

His Honor: That is very good.

Mr. Feez suggested a local hearing in Brisbane and in the other States.

His Honor said that would be very expensive to the country.

Mr. Feez said that there was no common basis amongst the pastoralists of the various States as to rates. Local sittings in the various State capitals would be a convenience to the witnesses.

Dr. Brissenden objected to local sittings in the State capitals. Half the sheep were in New South Wales. Besides, Brisbane was only a suburb of Sydney. (Laughter.)

Mr. Feez said he resented such an insult to the northern State, which would yet annex New South Wales. (Laughter.)

The case was then adjourned sine die.

COAL VEND CASE.

PILING UP THE CROWN CASE.

HIS HONOR'S DIRECTION.

The proceedings in connection with the coal vend—25th day—were continued before Mr. Justice Isaacs in the High Court yesterday.

Mr. Wise, K.C. (for the Crown), applied for permission to add certain particulars to the Crown case.

Mr. Campbell, K.C. (for J. and A. Brown), said that the Crown should first satisfy the Court that it could not have reasonably got the information before. The magnitude of the exhibits already was staggering, and would absorb all their energies.

Mr. Knox, K.C. (for the colliery proprietors), and Mr. Mitchell, K.C. (for the shipowners), also raised objections.

His Honor held that, as the case was not an ordinary one, if any amendment applied for were bona fide, and would not prejudice the defendants, it should be allowed in order to help determine the real issues. He was satisfied as to the bona fides of the present application, and that the defendants would not be prejudiced, except as to costs. If any extra costs ultimately resulted from the lateness of the application, the Crown must pay them. If the defendants wished any of the witnesses recalled the Crown would have to bring them along, and pay the extra cost. He thought, moreover, that the defendants were entitled at this stage to have the particulars reduced to something like a definite shape. And he wished to intimate to the Crown that he would hold it strictly to the particulars given that day.

"I think it must be recognised," his Honor added, "that not only is this case of an unusual nature, but that it is one in which the Crown, although it has most extensive powers for getting information, should only apply those powers where there is some knowledge, or some belief, that the exercise of such powers will result in getting information. But it would be compelling the Crown to put an intolerable burden on, and become a perfect nuisance to, the public generally if it were expected to put those powers into operation whenever there was a mere possibility of getting information. It was never intended that the Crown should spread broadcast over the community a number of demands for papers on the mere off chance of getting some information. . . . I want to say that the case is now reaching a stage—of course it would not be right for me to exclude the exercise of my discretion afterwards—when matters will have to be much more urgent than they have been up to the present time before I will be induced to add to the particulars. . . . I should like it to be understood that these particulars are to be delivered by noon on Friday, and are to be substantially and practically considered as closed."

The Court at 1 p.m. formally adjourned till June 5, his Honor remarking that it might not be possible to meet till a later date.

CARRYING BEER FOR SALE.

At the Water Police Court on Thursday, before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., Edward James Foley, 32, was charged with having on Sunday the 14th inst. carried two bottles of beer for sale in Yurong-street, he not being the holder of a license authorising its sale. According to the evidence of Constable Leonard, he was on duty with Constable Mitchell in Yurong-street on the date named, when he saw accused with two other men, one of whom handed something to accused. Foley put his hand inside his coat, but on looking round and seeing witness, withdrew his hand and buttoned up his coat. Asked what he was doing with the two bottles of beer which witness found in his pocket, accused said, "What do you think; it's alright, come round with me and have a drink; I don't want you to say anything about it." In reply to further questions accused said that he had got the liquor from a "bloke" in an adjoining hotel, but declined to state his name. Not being satisfied with the explanation, witness took accused to the police station and charged him with carrying the beer for sale. Accused said "You can't prove any sale against me; I was taking it round for 'Rollo.' You will get no fine out of me, and if I've got to do time, I'll do it." Besides the two bottles of beer 3s in money was found upon accused. At the house in which accused lived witness found another bottle of beer and four empty bottles. Accused's house had been under observation by the police for some time, and many men had been seen going in and out on Sundays.

Accused admitted that he had on the date named the two bottles of beer in his possession, but said that he was taking them to Rollo's place in the vicinity, where they meant to drink it. He denied having any intention of selling the liquor or that any money passed between him and his companions.

A fine of £20 was imposed, or in default four months' imprisonment.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Pring, and Mr. Justice Sly.)

THE GARCIA SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

Gibson v Christian.

Mr. Flannery, instructed by Messrs. Hughes and Hughes, appeared for the defendant in support of the appeal; and Mr. Monahan, instructed by Mr. G. Crichton Smith, for plaintiff in support of the verdict. This was an appeal by the defendant, Mary Ellen Christian, against the decision of the jury at the District Court on February 24 in favour of the plaintiff, William Boyne Gibson. The action, which was tried before Judge Murray and a jury of four, was for the value of work and labour done and materials provided by the plaintiff for the defendant in connection with the completion of a certain unfinished building to be used for the "Garcia School of Music." The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £129. The defendant now appealed on the following grounds:—(1) That his Honor was in error in refusing to direct the jury that on the true construction of the agreement of March 17, 1910, R. Albert Shaw had no authority thereby to pledge the credit of the defendant for the work therein referred to, but that in the agreement Shaw had agreed to do the work as contractor, and not as agent. (2) That his Honor was in error in leaving it to the jury to determine whether on the construction of the agreement the defendant had thereby authorised the said R. Albert Shaw to pledge her credit for the work. (3) That his Honor was in error in leaving it to the jury to determine whether on their construction of the agreement, and of certain matters of evidence, the defendant authorised Shaw to pledge her credit for the work the subject matter of the action.

Mr. Flannery said he relied principally on the second and third grounds of appeal.

After argument,

The Chief Justice said the question was whether the written agreement of March 17, 1910, was submitted to the jury with a proper construction by the learned Judge. His Honor, in the special case, said that "counsel on each side asked me to direct the jury in accordance with their respective contentions as to the meaning of the document. Finding that the document was unintelligible and incapable of bearing any certain construction, I declined to direct the jury as to its construction; but I asked them to find on the whole of the evidence, including this document, by which, for what it is worth, the defendant would be bound as by an admission, what that real understanding was between plaintiff and defendant." The Court was of opinion that his Honor should not have left it to the jury to determine whether defendant had, by the document in question, appointed R. A. Shaw her agent, taken in conjunction with the other evidence, the result probably being that they were inevitably led to believe that that document might be taken as sufficient evidence that defendant's architect had a right to let this contract.

Appeal sustained with costs, and a new trial ordered.

APPEAL ON A TECHNICAL POINT.

REX v RUSSELL.

Mr. C. A. White, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. Tillett), appeared in support of the conviction, and said he had been instructed to inform the Court that no counsel had been assigned to the prisoner to argue the appeal. If, however, after seeing the point involved, the Court considered that it would be of any assistance to have the matter fully argued on both sides, counsel would be assigned to the prisoner.

The special case stated by the Chief Justice set out the following facts:—The prisoner George Cole Russell, was tried before his Honor at Dubbo on April 5 last, and convicted on three charges of misconduct against his daughter at a time when she was aged 13 years and 7 months and 13 years and 8 months respectively. The indictment, as originally drawn, contained the usual statement in accordance with section 73 of the Crimes Act, 1900, that the girl at the date of the respective offences was above the age of 10 years and under the age of 16 years; but before its presentment in court the word "sixteen" was altered to "seventeen," the age specified in the Amending Act of 1910, section 2 of which amended the original Act in that respect. No exception was taken at the trial to the indictment as so worded, but when the prisoner was called up for sentence on April 7 Mr. M'Manamey, the solicitor who appeared for the prisoner, pointed out that the amending Act having only come into force on July 25, 1910, and therefore being subsequent to the date of the offences charged and proved, the allegations in the indictment that the girl was under the age of 17 years was an incorrect description of any offence known to the law at the dates laid in the indictment. In reply to this the Crown Prosecutor relied on the statement in the indictment of the actual age of the girl at the time of each offence, and claimed that section 362 of the Crimes Act applied. His Honor overruled the objection, and was not asked to reserve the question for the consideration of the Court; but he had since received a request from Mr. M'Manamey that he should state a case, which he now did, in order that any action proper in the circumstances might be taken.

Mr. White said the objection was purely to the form of the indictment, and no defect was alleged. In any case, no injustice had been done to the prisoner. He cited Reg. v Goldsmith, 2 Crown Cases reserved at page 79, and submitted that the indictment was not bad, and that in any case objection ought to have been taken by demurrer or on motion to quash the indictment.

The Court said it did not think it necessary to say whether the indictment was good or bad, because at the time the offences were committed the girl was of the age of between 13 and 14 years. Therefore, the crime was committed at the time of the existence of the original Act. That being so, then, even if the indictment was bad, the case came under the provisions of section 470 of the Crimes Act, and there had been no substantial wrong or miscarriage of justice to the prisoner.

Conviction confirmed.

A PECULIAR POINT.

A DEAL IN OPIUM.

Rex v O. V. Waterhouse.

Mr. Mack, instructed by Messrs. Fulton and Lowe, appeared in support of the appeal; and Mr. Mason, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, in support of the conviction. The case as stated by Judge Backhouse was as follows:—The prisoner, Oswald Victor Waterhouse, and another person, who was acquitted, were charged with assaulting Chong Lee, and robbing him of one bag and nine tins of opium, his property. The evidence showed that there had been a deal between Chong Lee and the prisoner and one M'Glinchy (who was not before the Court). The money was paid, and the opium was put in a bag and handed to Chong Lee, then forcibly taken from him, and has not been seen since. The jury were out some time, and when I came into court to take the verdict I was asked to direct them as set out in the point stated below. This I refused to do. Had it been raised at an earlier stage an amendment might have been applied for, which would have got over the difficulty, if there was anything in the contention. There is therefore the further question for consideration whether in any event a substantial wrong has been done to the prisoner. The following is the point I was asked to note:—"That his Honor should not have left the question to the jury whether opium had been stolen or not, but should have withdrawn such question from their consideration, and directed them that, under the circumstances of the case, opium could not be the subject of robbery." The depositions which were annexed to the special case went to show that in October last Chong Lee purchased from Waterhouse nine tins of opium for £22 16s. The tins were put into a sugar-bag, which was handed to the prosecutor, and put under his arm, and Waterhouse suddenly snatched it from him and ran away, escaping through a house in the vicinity, in company with another man.

Mr. Mack said that there were certain conditions under which opium could be made the subject of robbery under the Police Offences Act of 1908, but his contention was that the evidence in this case showed none of the conditions under which opium could be made the subject of theft. He referred to sections 18, 19, 20, and other sections of the Police Offences Act, applicable to the point at issue, and pointed out that opium was a forbidden commodity. A person was prohibited, subject to certain exceptions, from buying or selling opium. It was a commodity which was under outlawry, and if a person was forbidden by law to have opium in his possession he could have no legal property in it. Opium was practically in the same class as things the possession of which was forbidden by the common law. There was no theft in this case, because opium was a thing that could not be stolen, there being no property in it. He cited Doadeward v Spence, 6 Commonwealth Law Reports, page 406, and submitted that the Court would not allow itself to be the catspaw of a person who had opium illegally in his possession.

Mr. Justice Pring: There is no doubt that if a person illegally sold opium to another, and afterwards brought an action to recover the price, he could not succeed. It would be a mockery if the Court assisted a person to recover at law that which was originally illegally in his possession.

Mr. Mack: There would be no right of action for trover or detinue, and there could be no right to prosecute for larceny.

Mr. Justice Pring: Of course the prisoner here was not only indicted for stealing the opium, but stealing the bag containing it.

Mr. Mack submitted that that made no difference at all, because the indictment containing a charge of stealing the opium should not have gone to the jury, and if so the conviction was bad. It was decided in the case of Regina v Gibson that if any evidence went to the jury which should not have gone to them the conviction must be set aside.

Mr. Mason, in support of the conviction, said that the prisoner was not only charged with stealing the opium, but the bag in which it was contained, and therefore there was no injustice to the prisoner or miscarriage of justice. No doubt the possession of opium under certain circumstances was prohibited, but there were exceptions under the Police Offences Act, and the onus was upon the prisoner to prove that the prosecutor did not come within those exceptions, and that he was in fact illegally in possession of the opium. He cited Rex v Payne, 15 New South Wales Law Reports, page 272.

The argument is not yet concluded.

A TRADES MARK CASE.

Havana Commercial Co. v Rutty.

Mr. Harvey, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for plaintiffs, the Havana Commercial Co. of New York, in support of a motion for an injunction to restrain defendant, Marc Rutty, of Sydney, from selling or disposing of boxes containing the cigars bearing the trade mark of the plaintiff company, and known as the "Villar Villar" cigars. Plaintiffs averred that defendant had been, and was now, selling in New South Wales cigars not of the plaintiff company's manufacture, contained in boxes bearing the words "La Flor de Villar," which words contained the essential part of the plaintiff company's trade mark, and were also calculated to induce the public to believe that in purchasing such cigars they were purchasing the goods of the company.

By consent, his Honor granted a perpetual injunction against the defendant.

A DEMOLITION CLAIM.

Couling v [illegible]nok and others.

Mr. Chubb, instructed by Messrs. Read and Read, appeared for plaintiff, J. D. Couling, a demolition contractor; and Mr. Milner Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Hughes and Hughes, for the defendants. This was an action brought by plaintiff against the committee of the German Concordia Club, Elizabeth-street, city, to recover £50, as payment for services rendered by him in the demolition of the old club building. The committee, it appeared, are building a new club house, and plaintiff accepted the contract to remove the old building. The defence was that plaintiff had been offered £41, which sum was now paid into court in full satisfaction of plaintiff's claim. As to the remaining £9, defendants said that plaintiff had failed to finish the work, and it had cost them the £9 to remove the portion of a wall which had been left by defendant. They also pleaded that plaintiff did not produce the architect's certificate that he had finished the work. His Honor held that the non-production of the architect's certificate was fatal, and entered a nonsuit as to plaintiff's claim for £9.

IS IT A COMBINE?

ALLEGED STEALING OF RABBIT CRATES.

The case in which John Davis was alleged to have stolen 480 crates, the property of Stanley Spain, Oscar Curtis, Joseph Moore, and John Paterson, was further gone on with yesterday before Mr. Barnett, S.M., at the Central Summons Court.

Mr. J. P. Sheridan (instructed by Messrs. Biddulph and Salenger) appeared for complainants; and Mr. J. W. Abigail and Mr. P. K. White for the defence.

Stanley Spain, cross-examined by Mr. Abigail, said that the secretary of the association had taken a holiday on account of an attack of influenza. He did not know that the costs of the prosecution were to be borne by the association, nor was there a resolution passed in connection with costs. The question was not discussed by the association. Witness was asked what he meant by "mutual protection" so far as the association was concerned and mentioned in his previous examination.

The question was objected to by Mr. Sheridan.

Mr. Abigail submitted that he was entitled to put the question, as part of the defence in the case was that the criminal law had been put into force where a civil action in the District Court would have been the proper course to take. Mr. Abigail further submitted that the defence implied an attempt to "freeze out" his client.

On the question being allowed, witness said that "mutual protection" was to arrange arrival of rabbits in the United Kingdom, so that members would not clash with one another. Witness said he laid the information on behalf of his company, but did not know that by proving his title to the crates he could get them back by an action in the District Court. He had acted on the advice of his solicitor.

To Mr. Sheridan, witness said he was chairman of the association, not president.

Oscar Curtis (recalled) gave further evidence.

Robert H. Cumming (secretary of the General Produce Company) said that the company had lost about 1100 crates.

To Mr. Abigail witness said his firm had used other persons' crates, and he had heard that Paterson had also done the same. The difference between Curtis using the firm's crates and defendant was that in the case of the former it was a matter of permission or tacit consent.

Other evidence having been given,

Mr. Abigail submitted that there was no case against defendant. The magistrate said he would look further into the depositions, and adjourn the case until next week.

ADULTERATED SAUSAGES.

Arthur Kench, an inspector of the Board of Health, on Thursday proceeded against John P. Ryan, at the Paddington Police Court, for selling adulterated sausages. A plea of guilty was entered. According to the certificate of analysis the sample contained 7¾ grains of sulphur dioxide per lb. The Pure Foods Act allows no more than 3½ grains per lb.

A fine of 40s, or 14 days' imprisonment, was imposed.

POLICE COURTS.

STEALING RABBITSKINS.

Alfred Adams, 19, was charged, at the Water Police Court, on Friday, before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., with stealing a bag of rabbitskins, of the value of £3, the property of Schutz, Bell, and Co., Ltd., on the 18th inst. Accused, who pleaded guilty, was fined £5, or in default two months' imprisonment, the magistrate remarking that it was a most barefaced robbery.

A BRUTAL BLOW.

William Robert Moore, 23, was charged, at the Water Police Court, on Friday, before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., with assaulting Robert Gamble. The evidence of the prosecutor was to the effect that early on Friday morning he was in Crown-street, when he saw accused strike a horse over the head with a whip. He remonstrated with accused, who became very abusive and insulting, and then struck him in the eye, causing a wound that necessitated his treatment at the hospital. Accused said that he did not strike prosecutor until first interfered with by him. The magistrate, in fining accused £5, or in default two months' imprisonment, said: "You struck prosecutor a brutal blow just because he stopped you ill-treating a horse. It is a pity that you cannot suffer the pain you caused the animal."

SHIPMASTER FINED.

At the Water Summons Court on Friday, before Mr. G. N. Payten, S.M., Louis Maas, master of the steamer Scharnhorst, was proceeded against for having, on the 15th inst., committed a breach of the harbour regulations by allowing ashes to fall into the harbour. It was stated that ashes were being discharged from the vessel then lying at the Nord-deutscher Lloyd Wharf, at Circular Quay, and that owing to the improper manner in which a tarpaulin was spread a quantity of the ashes fell into the harbour. Defendant, who pleaded guilty, was fined £10, ordered to pay 4s costs, or in default one month's imprisonment.

BEATING A HORSE.

At the Paddington Police Court on Thursday, E. G. Williams, an inspector of the Animals' Protection Society, proceeded against John Scholes for cruelly beating a horse. Defendant was seen by a witness beating a horse attached to a village cart, about the head with the handle of a whip. Defendant also struck the animal on the nose with his fist. Defendant pleaded not guilty. He said he was a dairyman, living at Rose Bay. He denied the illtreatment alleged. A fine of 40s, or 14 days' imprisonment, was imposed.

A DUMMY HAM.

Before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., at the Water Police Court, Gerald Griffith, a young man, was charged with stealing a dummy ham, the property of Alfred Robert Hodges, of 49 William-street. The evidence was to the effect that on the night of the 18th instant, accused was seen leaving the prosecutor's shop with a ham in his possession. When stopped and questioned accused said that he had purchased the ham for 1s. It, however, was proved to be a dummy ham used for decorative purposes, and was valued at 6d. On his own election accused was committed for trial at the next Quarter Sessions.

DESERTING HIS SHIP.

Sidney Gordon Robertson, a young man, was charged at the Water Police Court, before Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., with desertion. It was stated that accused was a member of the crew of the steamer India, and employed as baker's mate, he signed on in England for the round voyage. When he reached Sydney he deserted his ship. Accused said that during the voyage he was threatened and assaulted by the black crew. Since leaving the vessel he had secured employment in the tramway service, in which he desired to remain. He had also forfeited £5, which was due to him at the time he left. The magistrate informed accused that having signed for the round voyage he must complete it. Articles could not be broken in that way. Accused was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment, and informed that he would be placed on board the steamer on Saturday, as the company was willing to take him back.

LIVER AND LETHARGY.

When one's liver is lethargic the mental and physical impulses are so affected that we ourselves become lethargic too. Good work can no more be expected from a person whose liver is acting inefficiently than can good spirits. Life is not being enjoyed, and our speech, thoughts, and movements show that this is the case. Mr. J. H. Bartlett, of New-street, Middle Brighton, Victoria, explains how torpidity of the liver can be corrected, as follows:—"For some years I suffered unceasingly from chronic pain in my back, head, and under the shoulder blades, scarcely having an hour's peace; my liver was torpid, and I had very little appetite. I became subject to nervous prostration and spells of great dizziness. I tried various proprietary medicines without avail. A friend, knowing my condition, recommended a trial of Warner's Safe Cure. The advice was adopted. After taking a couple of bottles of the medicine a most favourable change developed itself. Continuing the treatment for some little time all the trouble left me, and I was again in good health. I can honestly recommend Warner's Safe Cure." Warner's Safe Cure is a specific remedy for liver and kidney disorders. It can be obtained from chemists and storekeepers, both in the original form and in the cheaper "Concentrated" non-alcoholic form.—Advt.

Frootoids

Frootoids to-night and to-morrow you're right

Few Medicines have leapt into public favor so rapidly or secured so many good opinions in so short a time as Frootoids. They are not cure-alls---far from it,---but in cases of headaches, indigestion, constipation and biliousness they give prompt and complete relief. Taken occasionally or at such times as you are feeling "out of sorts", Frootoids will repel pessimism and depression that are the inevitable accompaniment of a sluggish liver and re-introduce that spirit of cheery optimism usually associated with good health.

As an aperient medicine there is nothing to excel Frootoids, particularly in cases where congestion or blood poison is present, or when congestion of the brain or apolexy threaten.

A dose of Frootoids taken once a week will have a highly beneficial effect on your health, will permanently cure constipation and by degrees make you quite independent of aperient medicines.

As an economical medicine for those minor ailments, that too often are the fore-runners of more serious trouble, it is impossible to over-estimate the value of Frootoids.

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY HENRY LUCY.)

Ministers and the Opposition—A Picturesque Bill—Cecil Rhodes and the R.A.—John Oliver Hobbs—"General Knowledge."

WESTMINSTER, April 14.

Writing last week on the Parliamentary situation, I said that the desire of the Opposition to force Ministers to bring the closure into systematic use, would be gratified shortly after the Parliament Bill is taken in hand on resumption of the sitting after the Easter recess. That was the early Ministerial resolution. Its accomplishment has been hastened by the prosaic fashion in which obstruction has been carried out. On Monday it became clear that nothing was to be hoped in the way of modification of the Opposition plan of campaign. It has been formulated by the younger and more vigorous section of the party represented by the little group, who, with Lord Hugh Cecil as leader, are bent upon reviving the ancient glory of the Fourth Party. There being nothing save sheer waste of time in view if this conspiracy were ignored, the Premier moved what is picturesquely known as the kangaroo closure. The name is derived from the principle of the resolution which authorises the Chairman of Committees to skip over the more obviously obstructive amendments overloading the paper, putting to the question only those which have about them some modicum of business intention.

One of the most important events of the Coronation season will be the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre Ball, to be held at the Royal Albert Hall on June 20. The King and Queen have bestowed their personal patronage upon an enterprise which has enlisted the sympathy and the services of all the grandes dames of London society. The leading idea is the arrangement of quadrilles, based on Shakespeare's leading plays, the partners being dressed in character. The House of Commons will, in the persons of some of its most popular members, contribute to the success of the spectacle. Lord Winterton, withdrawing himself for a while from supervision and correction of his Majesty's Ministers, will appear as Benedict. Mr. F. E. Smith, another rising hope of the Unionist party, will pose as Romeo. The Attorney-General will not take a personal part in the pageant, but will be represented by his son, Mr. George Isaacs, who will play the part of Lorenzo. It is easy to understand how Mr. Winston Churchill will lament the circumstance that the dignity of the Home Secretary prohibits him joining in the fun. No dress later than the Elizabethan period will be permitted. The first fifteen hundred tickets, offered at the price of 30s, were speedily snappd up. There are five hundred more just now in the market priced at four guineas.

Sir Luke Fildes, who has been commanded to paint the State portrait of the King, is not new to the delicate and difficult class of work. He painted a similar picture for King Edward, and had already been favoured by a sitting of King George at the time of his wedding. His most remarkable work in portraiture is the unfinished, and, as far as the public are concerned, unseen portrait of Cecil Rhodes. This work was commissioned by Lord Northcliffe, the arrangement being somewhat unwillingly acquiesced in by the subject, who hated being made a fuss about. In this temper he approached the ordeal, and made himself distinctly disagreeable to the distinguished R.A. He would not sit exactly in accordance with the painter's point of view, and grumbled incessantly. Sir Lukes Fildes' temper reached the point of exhaustion, and one day when Mr. Rhodes was leaving the studio it was politely but firmly intimated to him that he was not expected to return. In spite of representations from Lord Northcliffe and half promises of milder manners from the South African autocrat, Sir Luke maintained his position, and the picture, as far as it had proceeded, remains in his private possession.

Just 20 years ago, being at the private view of one of the picture galleries, I was presented to the writer of a novel beginning to make a stir in the literary world. "Some Emotions and a Moral" it was called, and the name of the author given as John Oliver Hobbes. I had a short time previously come upon it in Mr. Fisher Unwin's quaintly-fashioned pseudonym library, and, finding in it talent approaching the height of genius, had communicated the discovery to the readers of "Punch." That was regarded as a considerable lift for a young and practically unknown author, and it was explained that she desired to make personal acknowledgment of the favour. The "she" was a startling surprise. I had without hesitation accepted the alleged sex of the writer, and pictured him as, if not a roue, a man about town, one intimately acquainted with its life and the sort of people who live it. I found myself in the presence of a young and pretty woman, not far strayed beyond her teens, of gentle, timid manner, which found no reflex in the book that laid the foundation of her literary fortune. From that day dated an intimate friendship that closed only with the tragic death of Mrs. Craigie, which shocked the world 15 years later. A week or two after this introduction I met her at a party given at Greenwich by the Civil Lord of the Admiralty, a pleasant, once regular, function now fallen into desuetude. Waiting for the train on our return journey she confided to me the sad story of her domestic life, an experience that sombrely coloured the whole of her life.

A lady who recently went through final examination for appointment as woman typist to the London County Council shows me the printed form of questions submitted with a view of ascertaining her measure of "general knowledge." There are twelve, of which the applicant may select ten, and has three hours allowed for the work. Following is the catechism:—(1) Explain: Isotherms, tundras, trossachs, longitude, meridian, cyclone, sierra, veldt, archipelago. (2) How would you treat a child with croup? (3) Explain the terms: Suffragette, socialist, methodist, monomaniac, kinematograph, encyclopaedia, mormon, troglodyte, unionist, little englander. (4) What do you mean by: A wiseacre, a jackanapes, a shrew, Utopia, the Gorgon, the sword of Damocles, a centenarian, the cloven hoof, Penelope's web, Rotten Row? (5) What is Isinglass, indiarubber, maccaroni, coral, cochineal, gum-arabic, quicklime, putty, dough, asphalte? (6) What do the following letters denote: C.B., K.G., P.P.C., D.D., F.R.C.S., R.A., V.C., R.S.V.P., Q.E.D., J.P.? (7) Explain: Bill, receipt, invoice, customs, excise duties, inventory, lease, mortgage, discount, commission. (8) What do you know of: The Picts and Scots, the Iron Duke, the King-maker, the Ironsides, the Pretender, the Grand Old Man, the Sailor's Friend, the Lady of the Lamp, the Peacemaker? (9) Name the author of each of the following books: "The Canterbury Tales," "Gulliver's Travels," the "Pilgrim's Progress," "Comus," "The Idylls of the King," and state briefly what you know of two of them. (10) Write short notes on the following persons: Archbishop Anselm, the Black Prince, the Duke of Marlborough, Edmund Burke, Richard Cobden. (11) Write geographical notes on Belfast, Buenos Ayres, Athens, Labrador, Sydney. (12) Explain carefully the cause of the bursting of water-pipes in frosty weather.

This is not a practical joke. It is the actual transcript of a document deliberately, evidently with great care, prepared for testing the capacity of a girl desiring to obtain a situation as a typist. Fully to realise what it means it should be understood that, whilst no books of reference are provided or permitted, no notice is given beforehand of the form the examination will take. For unconscious humour, which the hapless typist will fail to see, the nearest approach to it I remember is Mr. Pecksniff's endeavour to supply Martin Chuzzlewit with occupation in the office, whilst the great architect was absent on a visit to London. "Suppose," he said, "you were to give me your idea of a monument to a Lord Mayor of London, or a tomb for a sheriff; or your notions of a cowhouse, to be erected in a nobleman's park."

Remedy he was soon well again."—Advt.

A WOMAN'S LETTER.

The Season.

LONDON, W., April 14.

Everyone prophesies a very brilliant season. Up to this week London has never been gayer; so many dancing parties are given, and the utmost is done for the young dancing people at the big houses. This state of things will go on until the usual break-up for Goodwood and Cowes week. The King and Queen spend a great deal of their time in London itself, which will have an immense influence on people residing there. I hear that more town houses are being taken than had been the case for a long time.

Modern Dressmaking.

I was passing the other evening one of the great dressmaking houses which back on to Berkeley-street. The huge building was lit from basement to roof; no blinds were drawn. Thus one had an uninterrupted vision of five floors of workrooms, with numbers of girls busy at their work. Blouses were fitted on to stands, tunics and skirts were being adjusted coram populo. It was a revelation of what dressmaking on a large scale means. This house is one of the first where each individual customer is fitted, and work is from models or to design only.

Then, again, at 1 o'clock some business drew me abroad, and I was struck by an apparently endless stream of girls issuing from a great house in Westbourne Grove. It was just as if a large church had disgorged its congregation. On and on came the girls, all well and comfortably dressed, chattering and laughing with almost the gay air of the Parisian midinette in the Rue de la Paix at the hour of dejeuner. I inquired from a policeman about the sight, and he told me in that house alone over a thousand girls are employed in the dressmaking department. In addition to these you must reckon a considerable number of men—tailors, furriers, as well as the chiefs of staff. Truly the dressmaking and clothing of women are one of the great powers when the question of employment is considered.

Stuffs and Lace.

The stuffs this year are wonderfully rich and beautiful. I have seen gauzes of a kind of firm silk ninon woven with old Italian patterns in gold and silver, in pale blue, cream, a delicate mauve, and black. The effect of the black and gold was richer than anything I have seen. The gold is so deftly interwoven it almost looks like embroidery. I imagine court trains will be made of these lovely materials edged with full ruche and gold lace borderings. The dresses themselves of satin charmeuse, veiled in gold net or something of the kind. Great raised roses in gold and pink are much used in connection with dresses. It is wonderful to see how well made such things are. And yet there is a great difficulty in getting trimmings made in England. This class of work is almost entirely done in Paris, Germany, and Vienna.

This year is a great era for lace. I was looking into the window of one of the best established houses in Oxford-street the other morning at the magnificent display of point de gaze. There were deep flounce lengths costing £127 per yard. These were quite knee-deep; others, about 12in wide, cost £10 and £12 per yard. Of course, such fine lace as point de gaze would only be used for court dresses, or for some well-found bride. But they were heirlooms. Filet lace has returned to favour again, after but a short rest from the world of fashion, and many of the best models are trimmed with it.

Muffs and Etceterra

I have seen some beautiful summer gowns in biscuit-coloured voile, trimmed heavily with filet lace matching in colour. The make of these gowns does not vary much. There is always a tunic slit up at the sides or draped well up on to the hip, with a deep piece of filet or other lace at the foot of the underskirt. The deeper the lace the more fashionable the gown. The kimono bodices have an under-bodice of lace, the voile being scooped to show it clear at the throat. Cords and buttons play important roles in connection with the dresses this spring. I am always fond of biscuit or string coloured gowns; they look so charming with a good black hat, and a touch somewhere on them of black velvet is always an important hit. You will be thinking of your cold weather kit when this reaches you, so I thought I would tell you of a novel idea for a muff, which may come in useful. It is intended as a demi-saison muff, and thus may be all you want for your lovely winter. The foundation was, no doubt, of satin, well wadded, and large. On the front of the muff an immense chrysanthemum had been evolved out of loops of ribbon. The ribbon should be a wide width, such as you trim hats with. Each petal was folded. The outer petals reached the edge of the muff, and decreased in size as the centre was approached. But the great thing was to keep the petals or the loops of ribbon, for such they were, as loose as possible. The effect is charming, so pretty and so unlike the flat pillow-case kind of muffs we have been carrying so long. This kind of muff could be mounted with a long ribbon finished with a bow on the side, and would furnish a charming addition to any toilette. I commend the idea to bridesmaids, for the same thing could be carried out in loops of chiffon or any light-coloured ribbons.

Many people throw over their hands a light kind of wrap to keep the long white gloves clean when driving. French houses have brought out these things as chiffon muffs, made with just a lining of fine silk. They are dainty in a carriage, and certainly do preserve the gloves and sleeves from a certain amount of dust.

Scarfs play an important part in a woman's toilette. The same skill is shown by the weavers as in materials in the manufacture of scarfs. They are long, wide, and of all colours, with a heavy woven pattern in gold at either end. The edges of the scarfs are generally a broad satin woven with the material of which they are made.

It is indeed an age of sumptuous trimming. Beads are immensely used, and they are woven in with the stuffs of gowns, so that they stay on the gown until it wears out.

Another revival which I think I have warned you to expect is the finishing of the short skirt, made in silks or thin materials, with a full ruche. I first saw it on the winter models in feathers and in fur, and I said at the time I should not be surprised to see the idea carried out in ruches of pinked-out silk or lace. And lo! the ruche has arrived. Nothing is more becoming to the feet than a thick ruche above them. It decreases the size of the foot at once, and I expect on the lace gowns, on silk slips, for tunics, you will find the ruche triumphant. A word in your ear! There is nothing so useful for freshening up a gown the hem of which shows signs of wear. Have the existing hems undone, the stuff well pressed out, and cut away as much as you dare, turning up the edge of the skirt with a false hem, which gives you a firm foundation for the ruche. The old measurements were for ruching to allow three times the quantity of material. You can easily have the widths of silk pinked out and made up. Stitch them firmly in the centre, for your ruche is a fiend if it is not firmly attached. All that remains is to brush your skirt well when you take it off, for ruche picks up a great amount of unconsidered trifles in the course of a day. The improvement to a short, smart frock when a ruche is added is immense.

The broad hems of black satin that have been in favour for so long are as much worn as ever. And this year there is a prevalence of black and white striped gowns, as well as coats and skirts. A bit of striped silk as revers for coats is almost like a uniform. And I see it introduced into the scanty trimming that obtains on hats. Hats are indeed quite the quaintest that I have seen for years. I suppose the large hat will come in with the summer, but at present we wear funny little conical things of straw that look like beehives, well rammed down over the head, showing hardly any hair at the back. They are trimmed with a tiny motif of beads or a knot of gold cord or an upstanding feather, lined with a colour. They have one merit in the high winds we have had lately; they do cling close to the head, and do not require pins to keep them in position.

TALE OF TWO CITIES.

WELLINGTON AND AUCKLAND.

(BY T. H. NESBITT, TOWN CLERK OF SYDNEY.)

I.—WELLINGTON.

During my recent visit to New Zealand I noticed that a vast improvement in the style and architectural pretensions of buildings had been made in Wellington since my first visit to that city. Great numbers of old buildings had disappeared, being replaced by handsome and imposing ones, and the city had made remarkable progress, being municipally a city big in engineering works. The city of Wellington, as the result of the various amalgamations and absorptions of adjacent suburban areas which have taken place during the last eight years, now comprises an area of 9505 acres—nearly three times as large as Sydney. The area under the jurisdiction of the Wellington City Council is now on a par with the great cities and boroughs of the old world. The capital value of Wellington is now £17,627,216, the unimproved value being £10,064,984. There are 11,700 buildings in the city, and the population is 71,553. The Wellington City Council holds an endowment of land, comprising 1590 acres, situate 106 miles from the city, which is let to various tenants on lease in areas varying from 12 to 209 acres. The district in which the endowment is situated is in a thriving dairying and agricultural centre.

GREATER POWERS THAN IN SYDNEY.

In many respects the municipal services of public utility and powers controlled and exercised by the cities of the Dominion greatly exceed those possessed by the City of Sydney, the consequence being that dual control is practically non-existent, local government in New Zealand being a potent force, actual and visible, and not nominal. For instance, whilst the City Council of Sydney controls and administers certain public services, such as the electricity supply undertaking, public baths, public parks and reserves, and public libraries, the City Council of Wellington, with a population and rateable value which cannot be compared with Sydney, in addition to the services named, municipally controls and administers the water supply, drainage, fire brigade, tramways, public abattoirs, public cemeteries and crematorium, municipal museum, the Zoological Gardens, and the Botanical Gardens. Further, the City Council of Wellington controls the general issue of licenses, receiving the revenue annually derivable from this source, a by no means inconsiderable item. The amounts payable as license fees vary from 1s to £40 per annum. The annual amount received by the City Council of Sydney as license fees is approximately £1600. In Wellington it amounts to £5889. The City Council of Wellington also possesses a valuable area of town belt, aggregating 970 acres, part being laid out as recreation reserves and part let for grazing purposes. The total civic revenue of Wellington for the year 1909-10 was £397,928, and the total expenditure £385,173, leaving a handsome surplus of £12,755.

The harbour of Port Nicholson is under the control of a Harbour Board, on which the City Council is represented by the Mayor for the time being, the wharf fittings and thoroughly up-to-date appliances for rapid cargo handling being universally admired. The recognition of civic and commercial interests on the Harbour Board is one which might be followed with advantage in Sydney, such a course being by no means unusual in England.

It will be interesting to note that water is supplied for certain domestic purposes free of charge. This is, indeed, a rapid progressive step towards the municipal millennium.

STREET CLEANSING.

In Wellington the total mileage of streets and lanes cleansed by the council is 180, the annual cost of city cleansing being under £13,400, including street watering and destruction of refuse. The scavengers and labourers employed in city cleansing receive 8s per day, and are dissatisfied, agitation being now on foot for an increased rate of pay. Drivers receive 8s 4d per day. In Sydney the mileage of streets and lanes is 132, and the cost of city cleansing, exclusive of watering, for the past year was £56,471, of which wages alone absorbed £49,857. At first sight of these figures it would appear that there is something radically rotten in the State of Denmark in connection with the city cleansing of Sydney, when compared with Wellington and other cities. The conditions of working, however, are vastly different, and financial and utility comparisons are valueless for practical purposes. For instance, in Sydney until quite recently all refuse has had to be carted a distance of three or four miles, which is necessarily a heavy charge on the rates, and a severe tax on horseflesh, whereas in Wellington the refuse destructor is on the flat on Clyde Quay, in the very heart of the city proper. This destructor is capable of destroying 120 tons per day. Last year 12,000 tons of refuse were destroyed by fire in Wellington, compared with 31,243 tons destroyed at the Moore Park Destructor, Sydney.

MUNICIPAL TRAMWAYS.

The tramways in Wellington are municipally administered, and were constructed at a cost of £595,781, there being the equivalent of 33½ miles of single track. The hills commanding the port have, during the past few years, become seamed with rock cuttings, and are pierced with tunnels for the tram service to the outlying districts. The average length of penny section is 103 chains, compared with 152 chains in Sydney, the latter city being much in advance as regards fares. Motormen are paid 1s 1d to 1s 1½d per hour, the average earnings being £3 7s 6d per week. Conductors are paid 11½d to 1s per hour, the average earnings being £2 19s 9d per week. Inspectors are paid £3 5s per week. The average speed is 7.94 miles per hour, including stops. In Sydney the average speed is 8.518 miles, but the stops in Sydney are much more frequent than in Wellington. The passengers carried annually in Wellington aggregate 21,932,507, compared with 187,537,473 carried in Sydney on the electric lines. By legislative enactment an appeal board is constituted to hear and determine appeals made by the tramway employees against dismissals and suspensions, for misconduct, neglect of duty, etc. This appeal board consists of a stipendiary magistrate as chairman, the town clerk as representing the City Council and a representative of the union to represent the employees. The last published statement of accounts showed a credit-balance of £6124.

ELECTRICITY SUPPLY.

The electricity supply undertaking in Wellington is municipally administered as in Sydney, 180 miles of streets being lighted by electricity. The corporation acquired the undertaking by purchase in 1907 for the sum of £166,000, including the public lighting installation. The price of current for electric lighting is at the rate of 10d per unit, but with a discount 7d to 5d. The charge for power is 4d per unit but with a discount of 3d to 1½d. For heating and cooking purposes 1½d per unit is charged. The last published statement of accounts showed a credit balance of £2228. In Sydney electricity is supplied at the following rates:—4½d per unit for lighting, 1½d per unit for motors, heating, and cooking apparatus; or at the option of the consumer, 5d per unit until the quantity consumed amounts to 365 multiplied by the consumer's maximum demand, and 2d per unit for all in excess of this amount. This option to be exercised by the consumer yearly.

OTHER IMPORTANT SERVICES.

The public abattoirs are controlled by the City Council of Wellington, and are established outside the city, slaughtering being done by contract at schedule rates. The building cost approximately £10,000, and the land £3700. The fire brigade is administered and maintained out of the general rates, there being a high standard of efficiency. The City Council control the public libraries and museum. There are one central and two branch libraries, and the Government contributes an annual subsidy merely nominal in character. Books are provided for the blind, available for loan on guarantee. Lending departments are attached to each of the libraries, the subscription being 5/ per annum. This subscription precludes the municipal library from being a "free public library," and is somewhat unique in the municipal management of public libraries. The museum, managed by the curator and library staff, contains a valuable natural history collection, presented to the city. Many valuable gifts have been added to the collection by citizens who manifest much public spirit in this direction. The Zoological Gardens, controlled by the City Council, comprise over 500 exhibits, representing about 150 species, an extensive collection of animals having been received as a free gift from the Duke of Bedford. These gardens are open free on Sundays as well as week days. The public cemeteries are controlled by the council, and are remarkably well kept.

THE CREMATORIUM.

It may interest Dr. Creed, M.L.C., with whose views on this important hygienic subject I am in hearty accord, to know that an excellently-arranged crematorium has been established in the Karori Cemetery. The cost was approximately £1433, of which amount £863 was raised by public subscription, the balance being paid from the corporate funds. The building is of an ornate though unpretentious type, in harmony with the surroundings, built in brickwork with a chimney shaft 50ft in height. Several cremations have already taken place, and the efficiency of the furnace has been thoroughly and satisfactorily demonstrated. A temperature of 1500 degrees Fahrenheit has been readily obtained, and can easily be exceeded if required. Bylaws regulating cremation have been adopted by the council, the fees being very reasonable. Sentiment, however, is very strong, the public requiring to be educated to the hygienic advantages of cremation.

PARKS AND BAND MUSIC.

The city parks and recreation reserves, including the Botanical Gardens, all controlled by the City Council of Wellington, involve an annual expenditure of some £6700, the money being well applied, though Wellington has no Albert Park like Auckland—"a thing of beauty and a joy for ever." Band music is provided in the parks, and is a legitimate charge on the rates, as in England. The performances are given at regular intervals throughout the year, the City Council subsidising four local bands for the performances at the rate of £50 per band per annum. Alderman Evan Jones and Mr. Layton would rejoice if we could engage bands on these terms, free from the direction of wages boards, thereby releasing a large sum annually which could be advantageously employed in park development.

NO STREET-OPENING NUISANCE.

Street openings, the curse and despair of Sydney, are not at all troublesome in Wellington. The Wellington Gas Company is the only public body which has statutory power to open up the streets, and in every case it must notify the city engineer of its intention so to do. The openings per street mile are comparatively small. The company, as in Sydney, is required to pay the cost of all repairs rendered necessary by its operations.

The council has recently purchased one of the latest and most improved tar-spraying machines, from which excellent results are expected. Ordinary macadam is largely used for street maintenance purposes, and it appeared to me that an extension of woodblocking in many of the city streets might, with advantage, be undertaken. There might be some improvement in city cleansing in some of the streets, particularly where cab stands are situated, one or two places being somewhat notoriously unclean. In conection with pedestrian traffic in the streets, the same difficulty is experienced as in Sydney, it being practically impossible to educate the public to distinguish the right hand from the left. "Keep to the right" is utterly ignored in Wellington and Auckland, and a reform is very urgently needed.

POST-OFFICE AND TELEPHONES.

New and extensive accommodation for post-office and telegraphic purposes is being provided in Auckland and Wellington. In the former city the site is one of the worst possible which could have been selected, being in the immediate vicinity of the Queen-street wharf, and a considerable distance away from all business, professional and commercial. In Wellington the site is good, though it is a matter of comment as to why the front entrance is to be at the back. New Zealanders were by no means backward in giving expression to the view that the Sydney telephone system was the most atrocious in the world, an opinion in which, unfortunately, I was very reluctantly obliged to concur, although jealous for the honour and reputation of Australia.

SATURDAY HALF-HOLIDAY.

An active, well-organised movement is now on foot in Wellington to secure a compulsory Saturday half-holiday in lieu of the optional Wednesday, and much capital is being made out of the fact that in Brisbane, Melbourne, and Sydney the adoption of the compulsory Saturday half-holiday had not resulted in any dislocation of business or in any public inconvenience such as was anticipated. Wellington shopkeepers are much opposed to the proposed change, a fighting fund has been established, and energetic steps are being taken to counteract the proposal.

GAS AND ELECTRICITY.

In Wellington I found that an acute controversial correspondence had been going on for some time with regard to the merits and cost of gas and electricity. It may be stated that in Wellington the deferred payment system for wiring premises has been introduced, and has been remarkably successful during the few months it has been in active operation. Wiring work is not done by the city council, but each case is let by tender, the owner or occupier of the premises repaying the council by 12 monthly payments of the actual cost incurred, plus 5 per cent. to cover the incidental expenses incurred by the council.

A DEFIANT MONK.

The eyes of the Russian people are fixed on Czaritsin, where the monk Iliodor continues to defy both the Holy Synod and the Government. The Holy Synod ordered Bishop Hermogen to remove him from the monastery and to hand him over to the lay authorities, but the bishop telegraphed that the use of force would be followed by tragic consequences. According to telegrams from Czaritsin (states a London contemporary) notwithstanding the large numbers of police and Cossacks, Iliodor's fervent followers, numbering thousands, have sworn not to allow his arrest, and they are prepared to lay down their lives if need be. Regular rounds by torchlight are made into the innermost recesses of the monastery in order to make sure that there are no police concealed there. Ropes have been suspended outside the church from the belfry for the purpose of raising an immediate alarm in the event of an incursion being attempted. Three doors leading to the sanctuary are heavily bolted and barred, and a subterranean exit has been prepared to enable Iliodor to escape in the last extremity. The monk is ill, and spends the nights in his cell, but appears in church daily, when the building becomes so thronged that it is impossible to raise a hand to make the sign of the cross. The defenders of the monk are obtaining their meals from the monastery kitchen, and the refectory is overflowing. Soup and bread is served in the open air.

ORIGIN OF A FAMOUS HUMAN FOOD.

The story of great discoveries or inventions is always of interest.

An active brain worker who found himself hampered by lack of bodily strength and vigour and could not carry out the plans and enterprises he knew how to conduct was led to study various foods and their effects upon the human system. In other words, before he could carry out his plans he had to find a food that would carry him along and renew his physical and mental strength.

He knew that a food which was a brain and nerve builder (rather than a mere fat maker) was universally needed. He knew that meat with the average man does not accomplish the desired results. He knew that the soft grey substance in brain and nerve centres is made from Albumen and Phosphate of Potash, obtained from food. Then he started to solve the problem.

Careful and extensive experiments evolved Grape-Nuts, the now famous food. It contains the brain and nerve building food elements in condition for easy digestion.

The result of eating Grape-Nuts daily is easily seen in a marked sturdiness and activity of the brain and nervous system, making it a pleasure for one to carry on the daily duties without fatigue or exhaustion.

Grape-Nuts food is in no sense a stimulant, but is simply food which renews and replaces the daily waste of brain and nerves.

Its flavour is charming, and being fully and thoroughly cooked at the factory it is served instantly with cream.

The signature of the brain worker spoken of, C. W. Post, is to be seen on each genuine package of Grape-Nuts.

Look in packages for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville." "There's a Reason."

BICYCLES AND MOTOR CARS.

YOU'D FIND A B. & B. MOTOR CYCLE EXCEPTIONALLY EFFICIENT—£55.

It is a medium-weight machine of 130lb, with a 2½-h.p. J.A.P. engine that is very powerful. Many heavier machines of higher h.p. cannot do the speed or heavy climbing that this machine will, because of the extra weight they have to carry.

For city and country work it is practically the only Motor Cycle on the Australian market combining lightness with great strength. Of course, there are 90 and 100 lb. machines, but they cannot stand the strain of hard driving. They go to pieces under work that the B. and B. will stand for years without shifting a nut.

Transmission is by a ⅞ V rubber belt on a deep section pulley, or a leather belt will be fitted to order. Gear 5¾ to 1—the one most suitable for all-round work.

Why not call and inspect this tested machine? For the price—£55—you cannot secure more efficiency or speed.

If you cannot call during the week, our Pitt-street Depot is open till 9 p.m. on Fridays. Make a trip in then.

From CREMORNE: "My 11-16 h.p. Bayard has done over 14,000 miles in 2½ years, the greater part of which were over country roads, and it has not cost me sixpence for repairs, and has never been to a repairer's."

INVERELL: "Our 11-16 h.p. Clement-Bayard has done PERFECTLY 20,000 miles, many of which were over the ranges, and it is still going well."

MUSWELLBROOK: "Yesterday we ran the car from Bylong to Muswellbrook, 70 miles, over the ranges again, and she came through tip-top—5 in car. She ran through splendidly. One wants to know what the climbing over these ranges is like to understand what the trip is. We have had four other makes of car all stop. This car is the only one that has never stopped, and with a good load on, too."

The Straight Road to Reliability

"There is no Royal Road to Learning" the proverb says, but there is a straight and direct Road to Reliability and Efficiency in Motor Cars. The puts you on that road, and you will continue on it as long as you drive a Daimler. It is fitted with the world-famous "SILENT-KNIGHT" Engine, the acme of smoothness and silence in running.

Even if there is no Royal Road the Daimler Car is the favourite of Royalties on the Road. It is used by H.M. The King, (8 Daimlers), by the German Emperor, the King of Spain, and by many other Royal personages.

Call and inspect the models (red, blue or green) now in stock at our Garage. Fitted complete with several extras, such as detachable wire wheels, electric lights, etc. 7-seated Touring Phaeton bodies.

Fred White establishes New Overland Record on Continental Tyres.

3,077 Miles in 36 Days 13 Hours 3 Minutes.

On April 4 Fred White set out from Fremantle on a bicycle fitted with Continental Tyres, his object being to lower the record for the 3077 miles separating Fremantle from Sydney. He reached Sydney at 9.3 p.m. on Wednesday, May 10th, having taken 36 days 13 hours 3 minutes to complete the long overland trip, beating the previous record by 1 hour 57 minutes. A very fine performance!!

Continental Tyres were ridden throughout the trip, and stood the long and severe test splendidly.

The long list of Continental Tyre successes is not due to luck. Luck does not hold in such infinite variety. It's sheer merit—merit in the tyres and the construction of the tyres—which gets home.

CADILLACS—America's Champions

60⅓ miles an hour for 24 hours—World's mileage record easily beaten.

Here is proof—actual demonstrated fact—that the Cadillac Cars are wonderfully powerful and remarkably reliable. This one telegram shows, more effectively than pages of claims or arguments would, that the Cadillac is the grandest value ever offered in an automobile.

EVERY MOTORIST SHOULD READ THIS CONVINCING TELEGRAM:

> Cadillac Motor Car Co., Detroit, Mich. Los Angeles, Cal., April 9, 1911.
> Cadillac to-day made greatest mileage ever made by an American car in a 24-hour race, beating former world's records by 195 miles. Covered 1448 miles, an average of 60 1-3 miles an hour for 24 hours of continual running. . . . Second to, and only 43 miles behind, special-built 7000dol. Fiat racing car. . . Although the race was a free-for-all, the Cadillac entered was a STRICTLY STOCK CHASSIS to the very smallest detail. Never missed a shot, or made a mechanical repair. Lost 31 minutes changing tires, changing crews, replenishing fuel, and replacing broken lamp. Car at end of race in perfect condition. Ten starters: five finished. Cadillac 229 miles ahead of nearest following competitor, and 334 MILES AHEAD WORLD'S RECORD FOR 30-HORSE-POWER CARS. This proves the Cadillac beyond all doubt the American long-distance champion.—DON LEE. 12.15 a.m., 10th.

There is more than mere SPEED behind this; there is proof of RELIABILITY and Absolute Perfection of Every Detail of the Cadillac Motor.

Buy a Car for Hire!

In this country of long distances, few railways, and large holdings, the enemy of progress is slow transportation. Every business man loses days and days each year in slow travel. In our country towns—in every place where coaches are used—there is urgent need of quicker movement. It means more business, more time, more money. The motor-car has filled a demand which has been waiting for centuries.

ARE YOU going to take advantage of this demand—are you going to start now and lay the foundation of an enormous business in future? In your own particular district there's an opening for hire cars—there's an opening for a regular passenger line between towns. If you don't do it someone else will. There is big money in it. Don't wait until everybody knows it. Three or four of you get together, form a small company, and buy two cars to start with. Later on you'll want six or more.

are earning money for a dozen men—young fellows who know motor cars—who chose this car for its suitability to the work required. Country hotel owners are using this car to increase their profits—to take travelling men around their district. The result is more customers, bigger takings, and a reputation for up-to-dateness.

READ THIS!

MR. WHITBY, of ARMIDALE, has a Chalmers. With one car he ran 7000 miles in ten weeks—took £250—rear tyres just taken off—front tyres still on.—Business so good—took delivery of another Chalmers two weeks ago.

Mr. DODD, of GOULBURN; Mr. Moore, of Newcastle; Mr. Jacobs, of Junee; many Sydney Owners, are making money with Chalmers Cars.

The LONGREACH MOTOR CO., the Warwick Taxi-Cab Co., the Toowoomba Taxi-Cab Co., and a dozen other Companies are using cars sold by Roy W. Sandford for Hire Work.

THE REASON OF THE CHALMERS' WONDERFUL SUCCESS FOR THIS PURPOSE IS:—

BECAUSE it weighs 8-10cwt. lighter than cars of equal horse-power, having the same correct design.

BECAUSE it has the same size tyres as these heavier cars, and that's why they run 6000 and 7000 miles.

BECAUSE it has a Monobloc engine—a ball-bearing crank shaft—a multiple disc clutch—a full floating rear axle.

BECAUSE the engine clutch and gear box are in one unit—dirt-tight and oil-tight.

The 20-30 Chalmers is the only car selling in America below £800 to ever win the Glidden Tour. For the last two years in open competitions the motor car journals give the Chalmers the title of "Champion American Car."

Remember, for 2½ years ROY W. SANDFORD has given satisfaction not only when the car is sold but afterwards. The reason is easy. He knows the business.

GUINEA GOLD.

(BY BEATRICE GRIMSHAW.)

VI.

The history of gold-seeking in New Guinea differs almost altogether from that of gold-seeking in Australia.

It is sensational enough, in all conscience, but the sensation lies much more in the seeking than in the gold. In Australia the finding of gold has always been a story of more or less interest and incident, but when the find was once made interest centred at once on wonderful nuggets, astonishing pockets, fortunes made in a day and lost in a week, scraps of waste ground sold for a glass of whisky, and afterwards making the fortunes of half-a-dozen companies—in a word, all the many-times-told romance of sudden gain.

There is not over-much romance of sudden gain about the New Guinea goldfields. They have never been rich, as goldfields go. The official returns from all the goldfields ever proclaimed in the country, from 1889 till 1908, totals less than a million and a quarter—which sounds like a good round sum, but is, after all, not very much for the total output of seven goldfields during 19 years. One must, of course, add a large sum on to this, in view of the fact that the official returns are almost altogether guesswork, and that the miners always do their best to conceal the exact amount of their takings. Still, even if one doubled the sum (and that is not an entirely unreasonable guess) two millions look poor enough by the side of Australian returns, correct or incorrect, since 1889.

No, it is not among the wonders of sudden fortune that we must look for the romance of New Guinea gold. From the first, of course, there has always been payable gold somewhere, and a few rich patches in places, else no miners would be at the trouble and expense of coming to the country, or of staying in it. Also, some men—not a great many—have accumulated a few thousands, by industry and luck combined, and some others have had "finds" that enabled them to cover all their expenses, and put by a few hundreds as well, in a week or two. There has never been a big nugget found, however; never a patch that turned a poor man into a rich one between Monday morning and Saturday night—nothing worth romancing about in all the alluvial fields, and in the one place where the reef has been worked of late, Woodlark or Murua Island—nothing at all likely to cause excitement on the share markets.

For all that, it has been good enough to attract men from every part of the world, and to keep many of them five, ten, and even twenty years in one of the most uncomfortable countries on earth, living beyond call of civilisation, and undergoing dangers and hardships, by the side of which the adventures of Australian pioneers look like the tale of a Sunday-school picnic. It has been good enough, when men fell under the invisible bullets of fever, exhaustion, and want, more thickly than ever they fell on South African fields to keep the survivors in the firing line, and to bring up shiploads of new lives from the safe, sane, comfortable south, ready to take up the picks and prospecting dishes of those who fell.

It has been good enough to inspire the exploration and gradual opening up of a country which has no equal for intricacy and difficulty in all the world. It is good enough to-day to bring more money into Papua, directly and indirectly, than all the plantations put together. And one must add, most important of all, that the best days of New Guinea gold are not, as in Australia, past, but still to come. The opinion of all mining men who really know the country is the same—only the fringe of the gold has been touched. There is no reason, furthermore, why the huge gold-bearing areas still unexploited should not produce fields as rich as any known in Australia.

The history of "Guinea Gold" is an old one—so old that no one knows when it begins. More or less always, since the discovery of the country, there had been vague rumours of gold-bearing rivers; the sort of rumour that no one pays very much attention to until some one man goes and tests it; after which, if the result is favourable, everyone (of course) has "always known" about it. The one man in British New Guinea was Dr. Lawes, the missionary, who had probably read certain remarks in the "Voyage of the Rattlesnake" (published 1852), and who, no doubt, had also heard many rumours about the royal metal in the course of his wanderings through little known parts of the country. He, with Mr. Goldie, actually found "colours" in the Central Division, and as a result of this find a party of Australian miners came up to Papua and prospected two or three rivers. They did not find payable gold, but they heard rumours and suggestions that, later on, bore fruit in the discovery of the first of the goldfields, that of the Louisiade Archipelago. The islands of St. Aignan and Sud Est were the scene of the first "rush" in 1889. Marua or Woodlark, in 1895, the Gira River in 1898, Milne Bay in 1899, the Yodda in 1900, Keveri in 1904, the Waria River in 1906, the Lakekamu in 1909, followed. Of all these, the Woodlark fields have proved the most paying. From 1895 up to the middle of 1909, the returns from this field are given as £425,048; and the output has very largely increased since then. It must also be remembered that the Government have no method of estimating returns except that of plain guesswork, supplemented by a rough statement as to the amount of gold which passes through the stores. That they guess wrong, both as to Woodlark and other fields, is plain to anyone who divides the total number of miners at work in 1908-9—102—into the total amount of gold supposed to be won—£51,108. This gives only about £501 to each miner—an amount that would not even cover expenses, in some instances, and would leave very little over in others; for it must be remembered that the Papuan miner works with large teams of native labour, and is at very heavy expense to feed them. Practically all the miners cover expenses, and many of them have a few hundreds over at the end of the year; some, indeed, are more fortunate still.

It is clear, then, that the Papuan goldfields produce an annual return that, if not sensational, is by no means despicable. I shall have more to say about this subject later on.

Nothing in all the history of exploration is more interesting than the many tales of gold discovery in New Guinea. It is a silent story for the most part, written only on the face of the country, in the lives of hard-faced, lonely men grown early old, in scores and hundreds of unmarked, unnoted graves. By the black sand shore of Buna Bay they lie, those graves, little wind-blown heaps without even a name; in the unknown bush of the far interior; on the gold-bearing sand of the Gira, the Yodda, the fever-haunted Mambare, the Kumusi River; close by mountain tracks where a man must climb with feet and hands, and where a fever-shattered, hunger-worn body may well give up the fight; all through the inner valleys, all over the unknown ranges—God alone knows where, for men forget, and the lost mate has not so much as two crossed boughs above his bed to recall his name to those who pass that way, through the warm, living days that are dead, cold night to him.

Round every goldfield store, there are little green mounds in the bush; there are graves beneath miners' rough-built houses, and on the edge of black, steaming mangrove swamps. Every one has its history; but of them all, perhaps the tale of the graves on Buna Beach is the saddest. For it was here, at the point where the Mambare River joins the sea, and where the little steamer from Samarai creeps up at long, long intervals, that many men who had escaped the dangers of fever, hostile tribes, and sheer starvation, in the inland places, laid their bones at last on this inhospitable shore, while waiting for the ship that was to take them homewards with their hard-won gold. . . .

There is a hill leading up to a store on an inland field, where for months, perhaps years, you could see a raffle of white bones gleaming out from the scrub at the side of the track, just on the last rise before the summit, while at the very foot of the hill, rotting and turning grey, lay the skull that had rolled away from the fallen vertebrae above. A man dying of fever had stumbled and crawled for miles to reach the nearest human aid, and had reached it—all but that last hill. . . .

There are other relics, worn round the necks of natives, and hung in cannibal temples, that tell of fates yet worse. And there are bones among the coral of the fringing reefs of Papua, that are not bones of sailors. Landing from tiny, overloaded boats, dangerous river-beaches has taken its full toll of the miners' lives. In truth, the story of the earlier fields—of the Mambare and the Yodda in especial—is like the tale of a campaign. The death-rate among the pioneers of the 'nineties was higher than that of the Boer War. Men came up from Australia, utterly unprepared to face the conditions of Papuan life, hardy pioneers who thought a blanket and a billy-can outfit enough for any "rush" on the surface of the earth. They found out their mistake only too soon. The drenching rains of Papua were not to be kept out by a yard of calico stretched on a bush. The steamy heat of the inland valleys soaked the strength out of hardy limbs; the hideous nights, spent amid swarms of blood-sucking mosquitos and leeches, on soaking ground, were bad preparation for hungry days passed in climbing over all but impassable precipices and ranges, and crossing torrential rivers. Men who had always gone prospecting with an outfit of packhorses, carrying food for weeks, found themselves, in Papua, obliged to live on the scanty stores that could be conveyed by a few mountain boys; and these very stores were in many cases of the worst possible kind. On the Yodda, in the early days, miners used to welcome the sight of weevils in their small supplies of mouldy flour, for when the weevils deserted the stuff it had no nourishment left in it. Perhaps more men died of ptomaine poisoning than of fever—when a tin of meat was not to be procured by less than a fortnight's journey, and tins at best were few, a man would make a pound of "dog" last much longer than any preserved food should last in tropical climates—often with disastrous results. Fifteen or twenty years ago, the term "ptomaine poisoning" was not public property, and people merely "died of bad food;" but they died none the less certainly.

Poisonous meat, rotten flour, and very scant supplies, at that; small knowledge of the uses of quinine, or of the need of avoiding sudden chills; a rainy, steamy climate; fatigue carried daily to the point of exhaustion—there is little wonder that New Guinea was, for the early miners, the White Man's Grave. Many died in Cooktown, on their way back from Papua—the little North Queensland town has its tale of miners' graves, as well as Buna Bay. Many died in Port Moresby and Samarai, waiting their turn for a place on the overcrowded boats that ran to the various fields—for, in Papua, not even the hardiest bushman can make for his destination; the dense tropic forests, huge ranges, and numberless rivers are an insuperable barrier, for all but slow-moving exploration trips, and the man who wishes to arrive anywhere within six months, must go by sea.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS.

TRADE COMMISSIONS.

LEGAL REMEDY SUGGESTED.

The Royal Commission appointed to inquire into the letting of Government contracts continued its sitting at Richmond-terrace yesterday. Acting Judge Hamilton presided.

Mr. L. Armstrong, instructed by Mr. W. D. Loveridge, of the Audit Department, appeared to watch the proceedings on behalf of the Minister for Public Works; and Colonel Vernon appeared on behalf of the Government Architect's Office.

Dr. Sinclair, Inspector-General of the Hospitals for the Insane, outlined the nature of the transactions of his branch of the service with the Public Works Department. There were occasions when he made suggestions in regard to various matters, and he had always found that his ideas were given consideration. His suggestions were courteously listened to, and invariably met. Referring to prime cost items, either he or the superintendent of the hospital was consulted by the department prior to purchases being made. When recommendations were made they were generally adopted. Whenever transactions took place no particular firms were favoured. It was natural, however, that some firms should possess a large and more varied selection of articles, which might be particularly required by the institutions in question.

Colonel Vernon asked if witness had found the different officers of the Colonial Architect's branch ready to assist him in every form of work in connection with the construction and erection of the institutions.

Dr. Sinclair: In regard to that I would like to say that the Colonial Architect has informed his officers in my presence that they are the architects, and I am the client.

It was in the interests of the public, Dr. Sinclair said, that quotations should be invited. It was preferable to do this than to make purchases without competition from the different firms.

His Honor: You have an idea, no doubt, of what you require, and will be able to prepare for it in advance?

Dr. Sinclair: No; not always. Now, in regard to some matters—take mantelpieces, for instance. Last year there was a new pattern, and next year there may be a different one. We want to secure the latest.

His Honor: Surely mantelpieces have nothing to do with the matter?

Dr. Sinclair: The idea is to secure uniformity. It makes an impression on the minds of the patients.

John Reid, architect, detailed the practices followed in his profession. He adopted the customs and practices set by the Royal Institute and by the local Institute of Architects.

At a later stage of his evidence, witness went on to allude to the system of giving commissions more or less in vogue in New South Wales. In some respects, he said, a lot of "back-door" business was going on in regard to commissions. He thought that the difficulty of the present situation would be overcome if a system the same as that followed in England were adopted. In England it was the custom, and had been for many years, to allow a 10 per cent. commission to tradesmen. It was a troublesome matter to get at the back-door business.

His Honor: Yes. That is the trouble. This back-door business is what we are inquiring into.

Mr. Reid: There is a class of men that will do anything to hurt those in competition with them. It is not what they say, but what they don't say, that does the damage. They make guarded insinuations against a man for no other reason than that he is against them in trade. He may be a perfectly honest and upright man, but that does not matter to them.

Witness went on to say that a law should be established to regulate the matter of commissions. It had been in force in England for 20 years. There certainly should be a law in respect to men sneaking round the merchants looking for commissions. A discount should be fixed by law, and a merchant making a greater concession or a tradesman trying to secure more than the legitimate percentage fixed should be exposed. He was in favour of discounts being allowed.

Colonel Vernon: Then it would have to be a general matter?—Yes; make it general.

Would the Government departments have to fall into line with those outside?—Yes, certainly. If it works in the old country, and is found to be a good custom there appears to be no reason why it should not prove so here.

His Honor: You say that a lot of underhand work is going on?—Yes, it is pretty general, except, of course, among Judges.

Arthur Stanley Cook, first-class assistant architect, also gave evidence.

Colonel Vernon submitted a statement showing the works carried out by the Government Architect's Department during the past three years at a total expenditure of £1,456,325.

The Commission adjourned indefinitely.

AN INVERELL COMPLAINT.

Complaint was voiced at a meeting of the Inverell Council during the week as to the state of the railway service on the Inverell-Moree line, which was said to be unsafe, the engine of one train being described as rusty and dangerous. The Chief Commissioner on Thursday said he expected to be in Inverell the week after next, and he would be prepared to receive any representations from the council. "The Moree-Inverell branch," said Mr. Johnson, "was constructed as a pioneer line. It is entirely unballasted, and it would not be safe to run trains at a high speed. A great deal of money is being spent in improving the formation, and everything is being done to prepare for the ultimate ballasting of the permanent way. As regards the engine failure, this is a matter that may occur, and does occur, on all railways from time to time. It's impossible to avoid leaking tubes occasionally."

Mr. Johnson went on to say that steps were being taken to provide water-softeners to neutralise the corrosive qualities of certain waters, from which source pitting in boilers often arose, leading to leakages. It was absolutely untrue that the engine was rusty and dangerous. No engine was allowed to go out in a dangerous condition.

SCALES ALL OVER HER BODY.

"About three years ago I was affected by white scales on my knees and elbows. I consulted a doctor who treated me for ringworm. I saw no change, and consulted a specialist, and he claimed I had psoriasis. I continued treatments under him for about six months, until I saw scales breaking out all over my body save my face. My scalp was affected, and my hair began to fall. I then changed doctors to no avail. I went to two hospitals and each wanted to make a study of the case and seemed unable to cure it or assure me of a cure. I tried several patent medicines, and was finally advised by a friend, who has used Cuticura on her children since their birth, to purchase the Cuticura Remedies. I purchased a cake of Soap, the Ointment, and the Resolvent. After the first application the itching was allayed.

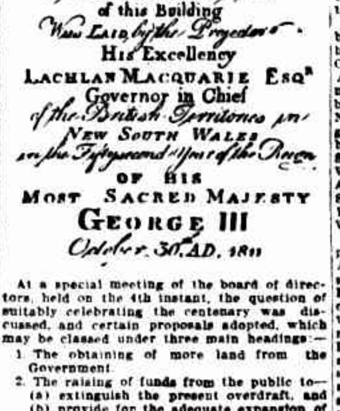
"I am still using the Soap and Ointment, and now feel that none other is good enough for my skin. The psoriasis has disappeared, and I everywhere feel better. My hands were so disfigured before using Cuticura Remedies that I had to wear gloves all the time. Now my body and hands are looking fine." (Signed) Miss Sara Burnett, 2135 Fitzwater-street, Philadelphia, Pa., U.S.A., September 30, 1910. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to R. Towns and Co., Sydney, N.S.W., for liberal trial tin of Cuticura Ointment, with 32-page book.—Advt.

HOSPITAL CENTENARY.

TO BE CELEBRATED IN OCTOBER.

ARRANGEMENTS IN PROGRESS.

The centenary of Sydney Hospital will be celebrated on October 30—exactly 100 years from the date on which Governor Macquarie laid the foundation-stone of the hospital buildings, since demolished, but which stood on the site of the present magnificent structure. The following is a facsimile of the inscription of the brass plate recovered from the foundation stone:—



The Foundation Stone of this Building
Was Laid, by the Proprietors
His Excellency
LACHLAN MACQUARIE Esqr
Governor in Chief of the British Territories in NEW SOUTH WALES
in the Fifty-second Year of the Reign
OF HIS
GEORGE III
October 30th AD 1811

At a special meeting of the board of directors, held on the 4th instant, the question of suitably celebrating the centenary was discussed, and certain proposals adopted, which may be classed under three main headings:—

1. The obtaining of more land from the Government.
2. The raising of funds from the public to—
   (a) extinguish the present overdraft, and
   (b) provide for the adequate expansion of the scientific departments of the hospital.
3. A review of the administrative and scientific work of the hospital since its inauguration.

SPECIAL APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

In making a special appeal for funds to provide for the thorough equipment and expansion of all the scientific departments, and especially the pathological department, the board realised that the old idea of a hospital merely as a place for the reception of the sick and injured has been displaced in favour of the modern conception of a hospital as an institution which not only fulfils all the old ideals, but goes much further.

The modern hospital, with its clinical school, should be a great educational centre, where the rapid advances of medical science demand that side by side with the ordinary work there should be carried on every day scientific research for the benefit of suffering humanity. It is felt that at Sydney Hospital there should be available opportunity for the adoption and perfection of new methods and discoveries likely to be of advantage to the patients of the institution.

INTRODUCTION OF RADIUM.

The instalment of radium has been a step in this direction, but it is felt every effort should be made on such a memorable occasion as the centenary to raise a large sum of money to enable the hospital to be unhampered, so far as funds are concerned, in the expansion and development of its scientific departments. All the advances in medical science in recent years, such as vaccine therapathy, Salvasan treatment, etc., have been the result of laborious and scientific research. If sufficient funds were available some distinguished Australian graduates would have the opportunity of devoting their energy and ability in research work here under local conditions, instead of having to go to other countries offering the facilities which the board would like to provide at Sydney Hospital.

It is hoped that the centenary of Sydney Hospital will appeal to all sections of the community, as it is a national institution, where not only are treated cases from the city proper, but also a large number of cases from the country, requiring major operations and special treatment.

FIRST TRAINING SCHOOL.

To bring the centenary celebrations to a successful issue a strong executive has been appointed, with power to form sectional committees. It is interesting to note that Sydney Hospital provided the first regular training school for nurses in Australia, inaugurated by Miss Lucy Osborne under the direction of the late Miss Florence Nightingale.

FISHING INDUSTRY.

IN TASMANIAN WATERS.

HOBART, Thursday.

With reference to the statement that the Minister for Customs intended asking the Tasmanian Government to consider the matter of the right of the Victorian fishermen to fish in Tasmanian waters, as a deputation which waited upon him complained that owing to the regulations framed by the Tasmanian Government fishing boats from Victoria could go no further into Tasmanian waters than Flinders Island, the Chief Secretary (Hon. Dr. Butler) stated, when spoken to to-day, that he would await the receipt of the promised communication from the Minister of Customs before expressing any opinion in regard to the complaint of the deputation. One trouble in regard to Victorian fishermen was that they would not submit to the regulations that the Tasmanian fishermen had to submit to, especially in regard to use of crayfish pots. When the communication was received he would inquire fully into the whole matter.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

FRICTION IN NEW HEBRIDES.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

A report on foreign missions was introduced in the Presbyterian Assembly to-night by the Rev. Dr. Cairns, the convener of the foreign mission committee.

Referring to work in the New Hebrides, he said that the position was a very difficult one, owing to friction with the French. The committee had all the year been in communication with the Commonwealth Government, and they appreciated the sympathy and interest shown in the work by the Minister for External Affairs, and his willingness to do all in his power to conserve the interests of the Presbyterian Church in the New Hebrides. The committee hoped that as a result of the conference to take place in London shortly, the position in the islands would be improved.

The report was agreed to.

HILL END GOLD MINES.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

MINING MEN AT VARIANCE.

What is probably a unique case in regard to mining matters came before Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Judge in Equity, yesterday. The allegation by the plaintiffs is, in short, that the defendants had, to use a mining expression, "jumped" their title, in consequence of which plaintiffs had been unable to register their company, owing to the defendants having forestalled them.

Mr. R. K. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Lobban and Lobban, appeared for the plaintiffs in support of a motion for an injunction to restrain the defendants as stated below.

The plaintiffs were John Edward Scantlebury, William Logan, Harry Syer Land, Robert Jardine Browning, Chisholm Rose, Charles Gregory Wade, Robert M'Shane, Anderson, Richard Garnez, Henry Tollemache, Edward Charles John Peterkin, Robert Anderson, Henry Dean, and Albert Nathan. The defendants were "the Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," Albert John Higinbotham, James Cereel Rankin, Christopher Smith Cross, Cecil Percival Smith, Alfred William Walker, Gordon Edward Cross, Alfred Robinson, Claude Bristow, James S. Stening, Elliott William Murray, Robert Bruce Buchanan, Henry Seymour Blake, William Alexander, John Marshall.

Plaintiffs' statement of claim set out that plaintiffs and defendants H. S. Blake, W. Alexander, and John Marshall, herinafter styled "the promoters," or the plaintiffs J. E. Scantlebury, W. Logan, and H. S. Land, on their behalf, had purchased or acquired the option of purchase of certain mines, mining property claims, and interests at Hill End, in the parish of Tambaroora, with a view to the amalgamation of the same, and among other things the acquisition of the said mines, etc., and the working of the same. The promoters had for some time past been engaged on the promotion of a company, to be called "Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," having for its objects the acquisition and working of the mines, etc., and carrying into effect an agreement which had been prepared between the plaintiffs, J. E. Scantlebury of the first part, W. Logan of the second part, and H. S. Land of the third part, and the proposed company of the fourth part. The promoters had expended large sums of money in purchasing the properties, and had advertised very extensively in the newspapers throughout the Commonwealth. The prospectus of the proposed company, a large number of which prospectus had been sent to various stock and share brokers and others, in all of which the proposed company was called "Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd." The promoters had otherwise largely advertised the promotion of the proposed company, and had invited intending investors to apply for shares in the company.

In view of the intended incorporation of the proposed company an office had been taken in Sydney by the promoters, on the door and window of which the name "Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," was painted. The promoters had advertised that the proposed company would be registered on May 11, 1911. The name "Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," long before the registration of the defendant company, had become well known throughout the whole of Australia as the name of the company proposed to be formed for the purpose of acquiring and working the mines, etc., at Hill End, and the name "Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd." was at the time of the registration of the defendant company, and was now in the minds of persons desirous of purchasing shares in or transacting business with a company of that name, and in the minds of the public, solely identified and associated with the company proposed to be formed by the promoters. On May 9, 1911, the defendant, A. J. Higinbotham, and other defendants, formed and caused to be incorporated, a company to be called "The Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd." being the defendant company, the objects for the formation of which, it was stated in its memorandum of association, were "To mine, own, lease, and work gold mines in the Hill End mining district of New South Wales, and the doing of all such other things as are identical or conduce to the accomplishment of the above object."

Plaintiffs believed and charged it to be the fact that with the exception of the shares for which the "signatories" signed no other shares had been issued or agreed to be taken in the defendant company, and the promoters had been informed by the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, or his deputy, that registration of the proposed company would be refused, owing to the defendant company having been registered with a name identical with that of the proposed company. Large numbers of shares in the proposed company had been applied for by persons in various parts of Australia and New Zealand, and plaintiffs believed that further applications for shares would be made on the faith of the prospectus, etc. The similarity of the name of the defendant company with that of the proposed company was calculated to mislead persons into thinking that the proposed company had been incorporated, and that if they applied for shares in the defendant company they were dealing with the proposed company. By reason of the registration of the defendant company, and the consequent inability of the promoters to procure registration of the proposed company, certain of the applicants for shares had withdrawn their applications, and demanded repayment of the moneys paid by them in respect of the applications, and by reason of such registration the promoters had suffered great loss and damage.

Plaintiff, therefore, prayed that certain defendants be respectively restrained from allowing the defendant company to remain registered under the name of "The Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," or any name or title colourably resembling the same, or so nearly resembling the same as to be calculated to deceive, and for that purpose may, if necessary, be ordered to do all things necessary to dissolve the defendant company, that the defendant company and the defendant signatories be ordered to do all things necessary to enable the promoters to procure registration of the proposed company in the name "Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," and that the defendant company, its directors, servants, agents, etc., be restrained from commencing or carrying on business in the name of "The Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," or any other name colourably resembling the same, or so nearly resembling the same as to be calculated to deceive; also from using any such name or publicly advertising circulars or prospectuses, or otherwise representing that the company had been incorporated under the name of "The Amalgamated Hill End, Ltd.," or any such name. Other relief was asked.

His Honor said he thought an exparte injunction should not be granted, but gave plaintiffs leave to serve short notice of motion for an injunction on the defendants for Wednesday next.

HIGH-PRICE HARNESS.

WAGES ADVANCE 30 PER CENT.

The statement made by Senator M'Gregor, Acting Minister for Defence, in reference to the high price of the tenders received for a supply of harness for the complement of the war equipment of the existing defence force, has been received with some surprise by the manufacturing trade.

It was stated by the Minister that the prices quoted for harness were about £2 per set higher than last year's contracts, and £5 higher than English prices. He affirmed that there was an advance of about 60 per cent. in the price quoted for the current supply.

Mr. J. J. Weekes (Messrs. Weekes, Ltd., manufacturing saddlers) stated on Thursday that the announcement made by the Minister would lead the public to believe that manufacturers were endeavouring to extort from the public unjust profits.

"This is not so," added Mr. Weekes. "Whatever the increase in the price quoted may be, it has been based on business principles. As a matter of fact, the present contract is different from the previous one. There is a variation in the style of goods required, which means an enhanced cost to the producer. Then again the contractor is bound by new conditions, which also mean a still greater cost in production. Assuming that the £2 extra which the Minister quotes is correct, then it is only a 20 per cent. advance on the previous price, and not 60 per cent., as he states.

"I have no hesitation in saying that if the Minister can guarantee the same conditions as were fixed in the previous contract a number of contractors would be prepared to execute the order at very nearly the old price.

NEW TENDERS WANTED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Acting Minister for Defence (Senator M'Gregor) said yesterday that he had had inquiries from one of the firms tendering for military harness as to what action he intended taking, in view of his statement that he was not prepared to let the contracts at the prices quoted in the tenders received by him. He had replied to the effect that it might be necessary to call for fresh tenders.

VICTORIAN TEACHERS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

One of the main features of the Education Act Amendment Bill, it is expected, will be a minimum wage rate for classified teachers of £110 per annum.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

NORTH COAST NOTES.

BANANA CULTURE.

V.

As previously stated, amongst rural industries of a somewhat unusual nature, in the North Coast, that of banana-growing attracts attention.

This industry appears to be steadily growing. The drawback that confronts the would-be planter is the difficulty of obtaining the young plants. Bananas are cultivated by setting out the young suckers that continually grow out from the original tree. Those who have the trees in any quantity naturally save these suckers to extend their own area.

The young plants are put out 10ft by 10ft, or thereabouts, and make rapid growth. They bear usually in about 18 months. After the bunch has arrived at the proper stage, it is removed in its green stage, and the tree is then cut down. In the meantime, however, other young plants have suckered out and steadily grown, so that after the first crop has been gathered there is a regular succession of fruit. Harvesting is thus almost a continuous operation throughout the year. Only a small clump of these suckers is allowed to mature, the others being removed when between two or three feet high, and planted out elsewhere.

The planting is generally done about October, if conditions are suitable. The young trees then get properly started by the time the summer rains set in. The proper site is on a hillside, to get away from the frost, which is fatal to the plant's proper productive capacity. The best variety on the North Coast has been found to be the Cavendish, although a few other sorts are tried, more for experimental purposes apparently. The Fiji banana, Gros Michel, and the South Sea banana are amongst the latter. From a commercial standpoint, the industry has not been established long enough to prove the bearing age of a banana plantation, but there are trees growing and bearing fairly well in the Tweed district that have been in for 24 years. A northerly or north-easterly aspect is the best for the plantation.

The largest plantation in the district alluded to is that belonging to Mr. S. S. Farrant, from whom the above information was obtained, at Condong, the original locality of that name, which is said to be the native name for Big Scrub. It is a very appropriate one if that is the case, for there is evidence at this site of the formidable nature of the original scrub with its dense undergrowth, clambering about the trunks of the fine cedar and teak trees, of which only a suggestion now remains. Mr. Farrant's plantation is right on the hilltop, some 700ft above sea-level. About 30 acres are under bananas, while a few pineapples and other tropical plants are also grown. The country is volcanic, very rich, but very rough. As in the case of some of the sugarcane fields, it would be an utter impossibility to cultivate this ground. The liveliest stump-jump plough that ever came out of the machine shop could not negotiate this proposition, for there seem to be more stones than soil. The ground is therefore chipped, and the plants put out. They certainly thrive under these conditions.

Mr. Farrant has a fine lot of young trees coming along, and they, in common with the older ones, all look very healthy and robust. He started his plantation five years ago, and has so far found it very profitable and promising. It can be understood that it is not an easy matter to reckon the yield of bananas per acre, unless a very careful record is kept. This grower reckons his returns at about 1000 bunches per acre from the older trees. The bunches weigh up to 90lb, but may be taken as averaging about 50lb. It is interesting to learn that the best bananas grow in the roughest country in Mr. Farrant's experience. Portion of his plantation was put in on most formidable country, and it was generally expected that failure would result. From there, however, he has obtained his best results. No doubt, as in the case of sugarcane grown under very similar conditions, the moisture is well retained and the soil kept warm by this natural mulch of stones. With the above yield, banana-growing should be a profitable business when prices are good. At present they are low, but last year Mr. Farrant obtained up to 9s per bunch in Sydney. The price is now nearer 3s per bunch. As a bunch averages out roughly at 10 dozen upwards, it looks as if, as in the case of other fruit, there is a very wide margin between the price paid by the consumer and that received by the man who grows the fruit.

Mr. Farrant considers the industry, however, should be a profitable one, but points out, as stated above, that the difficulty in establishing an orchard is to obtain the young trees. In his case he managed to obtain a good number from coloured men in the neighbourhood, who had always grown a few trees, and thus got a start. He has also grown, and still does grow, some sugarcane, but considers that bananas are a more profitable crop. Cane, however, can be grown in areas where it would be useless planting out banana trees.

Probably one great difficulty ahead of any extension of this industry would be the labour factor. Taking into consideration the country to be worked over, and the general nature of the business, carrying these bunches on the steep hillsides is no easy work. It is not a job that we think would appeal to the average white man, unless the wages offered were such as to cut too heavily into the returns.

Otherwise considered, this banana-growing business is another illustration of the extensive resources of this State alone, and to any one more accustomed to the wheat fields and sheep walks of Riverina and the west, it is a quaint experience to eat bananas, and rich luscious fruit at that, within a few feet of where they were grown in one's own country.

ITEMS.

Though cheese-making on the Ritchie Estate, Jellat Jellat, in the Bega district, has only been in existence for two years, the Cheddar cheese produced at the two factories has rapidly come into the front rank. The Jellat brand was awarded every prize in all sections at the last Bega show, in addition to which two first prizes and one second were secured out of four entries at the late Royal show in Sydney.

THE WOOL TRADE.

GOOD SKIN WOOLS COMING FORWARD.

Business has been confined during the week to private sales of scoureds from the local fellmongering establishments, and to passed-in lots from last week's auctions. There has been a firm inquiry for all scoured wools of good length at late full rates, but faulty descriptions are not in active request. In anticipation of a continuance of these favourable conditions for skin wools of good length there has been a very keen demand in the Homebush market at firmer values for sheep carrying good woolled skins. All sheep early shorn, and sheep with a large spread of wool, even old rams, command all-round competition and extreme rates. So important are the skins in determining the value of the sheep that several of the largest buyers have wool valuers determining the value of the skin during the progress of the sales. There has never before in the history of the Homebush sheep sales been such a keen demand and brisk competition for all classes of sheep carrying half to full wool skins as has been the case during the past few weeks. As soon as it became evident that there would be practically no increase in the 1910-11 wool production, and that wool of good combing length was comparatively scarce, an active demand set in for early-shorn wethers. These were not too plentiful at first, and the demand only affected a small proportion of the offerings. Latterly, however, especially during the past two or three sale days, the keenness for good woolly wethers has extended to merino ewes, and some highly satisfactory prices have been paid for lines from the north-western slopes and Riverina. A few weeks ago there was a large proportion of the sheep coming forward from the southern districts late shorn, and only medium quality; but more recently the proportion of these undersized merinos, yielding only short wool, has materially decreased, giving place to some representative lines of wethers and ewes that are reminiscent of the first three or four years after the 1902 drought, when practically only sheep from crack flocks, with dense fleeces of good length of staple, came into the market. The recent good rains give promise of the wool market being kept going with the better classes of skin wools; it is these that are in strong demand, and as the rates for good wool sheep are so satisfactory they will probably come forward in fair volume; while those flockmasters with short wools will not be driven, through stress of weather conditions, to rush a market that is not too satisfactory for such classes of sheep. In short, the wool demand is reflected in the sheep market, and it is satisfactory to find the one responsive to the other, such as it was at Homebush on Thursday last.

CURRENT SYDNEY QUOTATIONS.

Of the passed-in lots from previous auctions that have been realised this week prices have been obtained slightly above the bids; the demand is particularly strong on English and French account. The satisfactory progress of the London sales naturally keeps the tone very firm. Rates current for the principal descriptions of staple now offering may be given as follows:—

PRESENT PROSPECTS. PAST ESTIMATES.

Now that useful rains have fallen in South Australia, Victoria, and parts of New South Wales, and the prospects are brighter for pastoralists, the question of supplies for next statistical wool year will soon come into prominence. The promise in the early part of the season that will close on June 30 next was not fulfilled. Even the estimates of conservatives, and those in the best position to forecast, have not come up to expectations; while those gentlemen who guess, and have cheap yarns to spin, have been hopelessly tangled up in their "warnings" and prognostications. They are sure to be at it again this season. The rains last week and this week must be exceedingly beneficial, especially if frosts do not follow too soon. Good lambings are reported, and the outlook for the next clip is now very much brighter than a fortnight ago. Allowing for these satisfactory features at the present time, there is still the necessity for going slow in trying to arrive later on at some reliable estimate of next season's production. One of the surprises this season comes from New Zealand, and Dalgety and Company's special correspondent in the Dominion says:—"So far no special publicity has been given to the adverse movements shown by New Zealand exports, and yet the figures are serious enough to warrant attention. There is a remarkable decline in the exports of wool this season. An increase was anticipated, and a decrease is realised. Wool is still the most valuable product exported from New Zealand, and a drop, whether in quantity or value, becomes a serious matter. Comparing the quantities exported during the first four months of the year with the same periods of last year, the position is as follows:—

	Lb.	Lb.
January	43,765,382	45,459,244
February	30,456,530	45,075,466
March	26,106,666	31,175,228
April	12,131,857	15,521,146
	112,460,144	137,231,184

There is a decrease of 24,771,040lb. The declared values of the shipments aggregated £4,303,542, as against £5,598,668 for the first four months of last year. Taking the ten months of the statistical wool year, that is, to April 30, the figures show a decrease of 28,245 bales. Of the decrease, the North Island accounts for 17,832 bales, the totals being 262,093 bales, against 279,925 bales. The decrease shown by the South Island is 10,413 bales, the totals being 187,414 bales, against 197,827 bales.

PROSPECTIVE AMERICAN DECREASE.

Besides that shrinkage in New Zealand, recent reports of the domestic American clip indicate a decrease this year, on top of a 5 per cent. decrease last year. According to the "Wool and Cotton Reporter," of April 13 last, the size of the United States clip last year was variously estimated at from 321,000,000lb to 336,000,000lb, and it is reasonable to suppose, says the "Reporter," in view of later advices, that the clip will approximate around 330,000,000lb. Last year on account of the excessive cold and the storms of the winter of 1909-1910 in the Rocky Mountain districts there was a large decrease in the number of sheep, an da decrease, small to be sure, also occurred in the southern sections of the country. Because of this, there was necessarily considerable of a falling-off in the wool clip for the year, a falling-off generally estimated at between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 pounds, or a loss of about 5 per cent. In the first two months of the present year the same conditions held in the Rocky Mountain district. The winter has been very severe, and the districts have been visited with severe cold and heavy storms, thus bringing great sufferings and death to the flocks of sheep; and, in order to save himself, the wool grower has been compelled to ship to the killing markets thousands of sheep, which he would otherwise have kept for shearing purposes. As a matter of fact, the receipts at Chicago alone, during the month of February, were 340,915 sheep, or 118,520 more than for the corresponding month of 1910. Indeed, the total receipts at the leading points during February were 1,004,248 sheep, against 774,996 in February, 1910. In other words, then, the total receipts at the ten leading killing points during the month of February were 229,252 in excess of the receipts at these points for the corresponding period of last year. As the receipts last year were in excess of those of the year previous, thus bringing about a smaller wool clip, it is evident that there will be, at least, the same loss in the clip for this year. Therefore, the total domestic wool clip for the year 1911 probably will not amount to over 315,000,000lb, if not less than that.

KEEPING ALL SIDES IN VIEW.

If that is a fair summary of the American position, and the United States tariff question is settled favourably to wool importers, any prospects of an Australian increase next season should do no more than promise to satisfy trade requirements. There has been a lengthened period of depression in America, and with an opening for a wider range of wools consumption should considerably increase. The prospect of a lessened local supply of wool, and the fact of the manufacturing trade being on a wider basis, should be reflected in Australian selling centres next season. These are factors that go to the determining of wool values, and this past season's experience goes to show how necessary it is to keep probable decreases in view when one side is solely engaged in magnifying increases out of all proportion to probable actual results.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

Melbourne reports show that wool supplies are arriving slowly and in small volume. Crutchings are moderate, and a small quantity of Queensland new clip has been received. No date has yet been fixed for the next auctions in that centre, but it is expected that there will be public sales there early in June. Wool is arriving in Queensland, and the next series there are arranged to take place on June 13 and two following days. The next Sydney auctions are fixed for June 20, 21, and 22. The wools catalogued and sold for the season to date, compared to last season, are as follows:—

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

The quantities of wool arriving in Sydney during the week have been small, there being a decrease of 233 bales by rail and 1484 bales by boat. There is still a moderate increase in the receipts for the current statistical year by rail, but a greater decrease by boat. The increase of 12,827 bales by rail is more than counter-balanced by a decrease of 15,363 bales by boat. The comparative table of figures is as follows:—

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

AN OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK.

MORE LAND WANTED.

The tone of the annual meeting of the Royal Agricultural Society of New South Wales, held yesterday at the central offices, was distinctly optimistic. Sir Francis Suttor was in the chair.

The report for 1910 showed continued and increased prosperity in all departments. It is was stated that 262,000 people had attended the show, and the total of exhibition receipts amounted to £19,000. The horse parade had been the most successful yet held, £23,000 worth of horses bing disposed of by auction, leaving a profit of £243 15s 4d, while the members' subscriptions had totalled £2284 against £1837 in 1909. Total revenue reached £23,964, and the expenditure £25,471, the debit balance brought forward being £2568. Revenue indicated an increase of £1490 over 1909. In order to meet the expenditure on works it was necessary to obtain an overdraft of £5000 prior to the show. This was paid off, and the society had a credit at the end of May of about £2500.

In moving the adoption of the annual report and balance-sheet, the president (Sir F. B. Suttor) remarked that the society was advancing in almost a phenomenal degree. Taking a subsidiary show—the horse parade—which had been held for the fifth year, it would be found that the patronage of persons who had, or wanted, horses had increased with rapidity. This parade was a matter of great importance, and he hoped that patrons would give the society even greater encouragement. (Applause.) The total revenue for last year was £23,964. That was a sign of the society's sound health, and he was glad to see that they had been paying for the great improvements to the ground in buildings, etc., out of revenue. When the society attained its aim of securing the land on a better tenure, towards which legislative steps were being taken, he hoped they would be in a position to spend even more than in the past. The tenure of the land, which was leasehold, had about four years to run, and it was highly desirable to have a better security. The Government had been approached, and the time was not far off when a proposal would be submitted to Parliament asking that the land be given the society for all time. (Applause.) They had three acres more than before, and he was sanguine that a large area of land at the back of the cattle stalls would be the society's in the future. He hoped that the Government would see in the power for good the society was justification for such a gift. (Hear, hear.) That land was only used by the military for drilling purposes, and it was said that the Victoria Barracks was not of much use for military requirements, so that the necessity for the drilling ground would not be so great. Alluding to the last Easter show, the president said that horse and cattle exhibits had come in with such a rush that at the last moment the council had had to erect stalls. If the exhibitors would only send in within the advertised time it would be a good thing. (Hear, hear.) Five years ago the entries numbered 5000, last show they were 8000, which was a satisfactory proof of the public's appreciation. Subscribers last year did not exceed 2000, now they numbered 3000. He hoped to see 10,000 enrolled. The Easter Show, he thought he could justly say, resulted in the spending of much money in Sydney, possibly from £750,000 to a million. (Applause.) An evidence of the show's popularity was shown in the gate receipts. In 1900 they were £4712, in 1910 £11,054. The last show, in other respects, was magnificent, and they had 83,000 persons on the ground in one day. The society had a great work in hand. They had to lead the societies of Australasia. (Hear, hear.) He hoped that in the future they would prove to the public of Australasia that the society was one of the greatest in the world. (Applause.) The show corresponded with Cup day in Melbourne. They were the two greatest events in Australasia. (Applause.) He thought the council had endeavoured to do everything good for the society, and their harmonious relations had been to the best interests of the society. Sir Francis paid a high compliment to the secretary and staff.

Mr. W. Moffit Burns, in seconding the adoption of the report, also alluded to the success and prosperity of the society. He was supported by a gentleman who remarked that if the people of Sydney only considered the significance of the Easter show, and the business it brought, they would "shell out." A number of business men, who might easily do so, failed to support the society as they should.

The report and balance-sheet were carried.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—President (unopposed), Sir F. B. Suttor, M.L.C.; vice-presidents (unopposed), Mr. Jas. Ashton, M.L.C., Mr. E. Denham, Dr. T. Fiaschi, Messrs. H. B. Francis, and Alban Gee; council (first 12 elected), Messrs. A. J. Hoskins (912 votes), F. L. Martin (898), A. D. Playfair (894), A. Bowman (892), Major A. P. Gribben (876), H. M. Hamilton (861), Henry Lord (847), Edwin Burns (846), Dr. L. J. Lamrock (826), H. F. Marr (795), H. Pateson (780), H. A. Jones (767), V. H. Green (295), W. A. Windeyer (244), D. M'Fadyen (243), A. P. Stewart (227), J. Pritchard (206), J. F. Cunningham (199), S. G. Hawkins (188), J. J. Giltinan (145), A. H. Collett (135), St. L. L. R. Holtermann (95), J. H. Rose (93); hon. treasurer (unopposed), Lt.-Col. A. T. Pringle; auditors (unopposed), Messrs. David Fell, M.L.A., and H. Dunstan Vane.

THE SHEEP-BREEDERS' SHOW.

Entries for the annual show of the New South Wales Sheepbreeders' Association close on the 27th inst. During the year correspondence has been carried on between the association and large numbers of sheepbreeders in Australia and New Zealand. It is believed that this fact, together with an increased number of classes, will result in a larger entry in both merinos and British breeds. Several new exhibitors are expected, and the prospects for the show are very good.

This year the sheep dog trials will be a most attractive feature of the show. There are two contests, and these are to be conducted under new conditions, which will render them unusually interesting. These trials exhibit the intelligence of the sheep dog at its highest degree of perfection. Lovers of animals cannot fail to be entertained with the contests between the wilful and often stubborn sheep, on the one hand, and the wonderfully trained animal, which so skilfully persuades the woolly subject to go exactly where it does not want to go.

The committee of the association will shortly appoint the judges and stewards for the show, and the details necessary to success are being pushed forward by the secretary and his staff.

THE UPPER RICHMOND.

DAIRYING AT BONALBO.

Preparations for the building of the butter factory at Bonalbo, Upper Richmond, have advanced to such a stage that the contractor for the building and the machinery will start work this week. A lot of timber is now on the site. The work is to be finished, ready to begin making butter, on September 5. Selectors are busy erecting bails, etc., in anticipation of dairying with the beginning of operations at the factory. Various mobs of cattle are passing from Casino and other centres to their new home at Bonalbo. The farmers recognise the importance of getting a good class of stock. For some time the country around Bonalbo has been placed under tick quarantine. Now the better part of the district has been made a buffer area, and it is expected that within a few months, it will be declared "clean." As a matter of fact, no ticks have yet been discovered in the district comprising the buffer area.

The impression in the North Coast is that the quarantine area will, before many minths or, perhaps, days have elapsed, be extended over the country surrounding Lismore. As to what the effect will be, there is a difference of opinoin. The tick country has been a menace to Casino, Lismore, and all the clean country in the neighbourhood. Now that ticks have been discovered at Lismore, it is thought that their spread will break down the barriers which have blocked the interchange of business between the important towns on the North Coast. The tick trouble has, undoubtedly, interfered to a great extent with the passing of cattle from one district to another, and as practically the whole business of the North Coast depends upon the cow, it can easily be seen what a difference to business will accrue from the removal or the relaxation of the quarantine laws. The people who will be affected are those still holding large areas. There are still many properties where beef cattle are being raised. They are, perhaps, too far from a butter factory, and further, there are still people who prefer the comparatively easy life of grazing, to the tied occupation of dairying. They have to go afield to find a market for their beef, and they find that the dipping process interferes with the condition of the cattle, and it is necessary to wait until the effect of the dip has worn off. It is not everybody who can afford to do so. Consequently those who cannot do so are making preparations for dairying, and the effect of this and also of the opening up of new dairying country will be a great increase in the already enormous output of butter in the North Coast.

IMMIGRANTS.

"Farmer" writes:—"Will any of your readers who have been employing immigrants kindly give their experience as to the capability shown by them in the different branches of farm work; also as to their adaptability for bush work, such as splitting posts, etc? My own experience of them has been so disappointing that I should like to hear how other employers have fared, to the end that those whose duty it is to select them at home may know how their proteges are faring out here, and if, as a whole, the class they are sending out will make useful farm hands.

AN AUSTRALIAN IN GLASGOW.

EMIGRATION TO CANADA.

In a letter received by Mr. P. J. Macnamara, of Coff's Harbour, from Mr. John Brogan, formerly a resident of Sydney, and now in business in Glasgow, the latter says:—"A good many people are leaving here (Glasgow) for Australia, but nothing compared to the numbers leaving for Canada. I think it is owing to the nearness of Britain and also the result of booming Canada; but, to my mind, the country is too cold. We are having an industrial exhibition here this summer, which I am sure will bring people from all parts. I was over in Ireland for a few days; the people are well forward with their spring work owing to their having been no rain last month. This has been a very mild winter, without any snow. All trades are good, and the outlook is splendid for farmers. We are having large supplies of Argentine beef and mutton sent here for some time past. It is splendid quality—forelegs 3d, and hinds 4½d per lb. They are all young cattle, and well fleshed, which is not the case with the Australian. The Argentine beef is only chilled, which gives it a great pull over the Australian. I may mention your Australian is aged compared with the other, which makes it harded in the fibre and bone."

BEET SUGAR.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

The State Government, having determined to establish the beet sugar industry in Victoria, proposes to purchase land on which to establish a body of farmers, and negotiations are now in progress to secure the whole of the Boisdale estate, near Maffra. Arrangements have been completed for purchase of between 700 and 800 acres of the estate at a price amounting to about £16,000. The property which is now the subject of negotiations has an area, it is stated, of about 6000 acres, but no estimate of its value is available. The matter has been discussed, and Mr. A. Foster, one of the owners, has gone to Tasmania to consult with his brothers respecting the suggested sale to the Government.

VICTORIA'S DEPARTMENT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The much-talked-of long-deferred reorganisation of the State Department of Agriculture was announced officially to-day by the Minister for Agriculture. The scheme provides for some rearrangement of duties as will, in the opinion of the Ministry, enable the various services of the department to be carried out more effectively. The immediate saving to the State as a direct result of the scheme is estimated at £2723 per annum. At present the department is separated into 23 branches. These are eventually to be reduced to four—agriculture, stock, export, and fisheries.

SHORTHORN STOCK.

COONAMBLE.—With a view of creating a greater interest and improving the entries at the Coonamble Show, a movement has been initiated which will place the Shorthorn classes at the local show ahead of any other western show. Speaking of this scheme at show setting on Thursday night, C. Featherstonhaugh outlined the intentions of the stockbreeders of the district. It was proposed that four cups would be competed for each year, one each for champion bull and cow, and one each for the young stock. These would be devoted to the Shorthorns. Already £60 has been donated, and the society, through the secretary (Mr. J. M. Rees), has agreed to double the amount of prize money for the different cattle classes.

DAIRYING.

PARKES.—During April 18,573lb of cream was received for treatment at the local butter factory, and 8405lb of butter produced. The total amount distributed among suppliers was £255, the basis of payment being 7½d per lb for first-grade and 7d for second-grade. Owing to the continued dry weather there has been a marked falling-off in cream supplies. The directors have decided to expend £200 in extensions to the factory, and a visit from Mr. Pederson, Government expert, is expected next week to advise the directors on the plan of the proposed extensions.

WINGHAM.—For the month of April the Purfleet Butter Factory paid /8 for first-class butter and /7 for second.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BRANXTON.—A meeting of district dairymen and farmers was held, when a union was formed, and delegates appointed to attend the Sydney meeting. The object is to combat the claims of the Rural Workers' Union.

WEST WYALONG.—The recent rains in various parts of the district has enabled many people to resume ploughing operations, and has put the ground in good order for the seed drills. Owing to the lateness of the season there will not be much new ground sown as was anticipated, and a good spring will be needed to force the late-sown crops to produce anything like satisfactory results. The good results obtained by cultivation of green fodder crops this and last year, is inducing many people to prepare ground for sorghum, lucerne, etc. Changes of ownership of landed properties in this district are of very frequent occurrence, and in several instances resales at considerable advances on first purchase are reported.

COONAMBLE SHOW.

COONAMBLE.—This year's show, which was concluded yesterday, was one of the most successful held by the society, and despite inclement weather the takings at the gate were almost a record. A large and enthusiastic gathering of members of the society and visitors to the show was entertained at a smoke social on Thursday night. The president, Mr. Landers, presided. Nearly £300 was given in special prizes. A sum of £25 as the nucleus of another citizens' prize of £100 for the sheep section was contributed, and a cup as a trophy was promised. Mr. P. A. Shea's Signal won the high jump.

PROPERTY SALES.

Mr. A. J. Barnes, Bondi Junction, reports recent sales of farms for dairying, being portions of the Windaroo Estate, totalling £25,723.

TROUBLES OF FAT WOMEN.

Every woman who is fat suffers daily, hourly humiliation through the knowledge that, no matter how young she may be, her corpulency makes her appear much older than she really is and, in spite of all the care she may take over her dress, everyone can see that she is abnormal. In addition to this, she knows that the shortness of breath and the palpitation from which she suffers, together with excessive perspiration, make her life a burden. Although there are many remedies on the market to overcome this pitiable condition, none have met with such great success as "FORMETTES," and their largely increasing sales are due to the fact that ladies recommend them one to another, and it is a common thing nowadays to find these Tablets in a stout woman's purse. Their chief advantage is that not only will they do all that is claimed for them, but, being purely vegetable, they have no injurious after-effects, and their good results are permanent. They are quickly assimilated and stop the stomach and digestive apparatus producing fat. They reduce the fat from the bust, hips, and waist and this is done without in any way altering the diet. They are sold by all chemists throughout the Commonwealth at 5/3, or will be posted free by S. R. Henshall, Chemist, 246 Clarendon-street, South Melbourne, Victoria. Obtainable at Anthony Hordern and Sons', Washington Soul's, and all Pattinson's Drug Stores. Elliott Bros., Wholesale agents.—Advt.

SOCIAL.

Springlike weather prevailed again nearly all the week, and with such warm temperatures one could not help noticing how inconsistent many women appear to be in the matter at least of their wearing apparel. Furs and velvets are surely only appropriate for cool days, but they have been largely in evidence during this mild mid-season, and one wonders how they can be tolerated with the temperature over 70 degrees, and bright sunshine. There seems, however, to be some unwritten law that after Easter, winter clothing must be worn, no matter what the weather may be.

His Excellency the Governor-General is still away in Queensland, where he is touring in the northern district. It is understood that their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Countess of Dudley will leave Australia about the end of June, and that during the short interregnum before the arrival of the new Governor-General the position will be filled by Sir Gerald Strickland, Governor of Western Australia. Lord and Lady Denman are expected to arrive in Melbourne on July 29.

Parliament was formally opened by his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor on Tuesday morning, when the ceremony was witnessed by a large number of interested spectators. The seats reserved in the Council Chamber were filled with visitors, amongst those present being Lady Cullen, who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. White, and her sister, Mrs. Hungerford; his Excellency the Admiral and Mrs. King-Hall, the Archbishop and Mrs. Wright, Lady Suttor and Miss Suttor, Captain Rolleston, Mrs. Trefle, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Cann, Mrs. Flower, Mrs. Edden, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Bird, Mrs. R. Suttor, Mrs., and Miss Langtree, Mrs. and Miss Sandeman Collum, Mrs. Arthur Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Lowe, Mr. and Miss Downes, the Misses Garran, and Miss Ethel Morse. At the conclusion of the ceremony the President, Sir Francis Suttor, and Lady Suttor entertained a few friends at tea, served in the President's room, the guests including Lady Cullen, Mrs. King-Hall, the Archbishop and Mrs. Wright, Captain Rolleston, and several others.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. King-Hall to an "at home" at Admiralty House on Thursday next, May 25.

The Lady Mayoress presided at a meeting held in her rooms at the Town Hall on Thursday afternoon, when it was proposed to present her Excellency Lady Dudley with some token of appreciation from the women of New South Wales before her departure from Australia. Several subscriptions were received, and a committee was formed, the Lady Mayoress (Mrs. Allen Taylor) being elected president, Mrs. T. H. Kelly hon. secretary, and Mrs. P. H. Morton hon. treasurer. Contributions may be sent to the Lady Mayoress, at the Town Hall, or to Mrs. Kelly, or Mrs. P. H. Morton. The next meeting in connection with the movement will be held at the same time and place on Thursday next, when those willing to join are invited to attend.

A special meeting of the committee of the Hospice concert (in aid of the Hospice for the Dying, Darlinghurst) was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday morning. Most satisfactory progress was reported as to the sale of tickets, and her Excellency Lady Dudley and the Duchess of Bedford have signified their intention of being present, also his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Cullen, and his Excellency the Admiral and Mrs. King-Hall. The concert is to take place on Saturday evening, June 10, and promises to be a great success. The Lady Mayoress is president of the committee, and the hon. secretaries are Mrs. H. Deery and Mrs. Leahy, and the hon. treasurers Mrs. J. F. Hayes and Mrs. Arthur M'Elhone.

Mr. Sousa and his band arrived in Sydney last Monday morning, and was accorded an enthusiastic welcome at the Town Hall. Excellent concerts have been given each evening, and the "Sousa" marches have been played as they had never been heard before in Sydney. Included in the company is Miss Nicoline Zedeler, a young violiniste, who at once found favour by the excellence of her playing and the sweetness of the music she drew from her violin. On the first night Miss Zedeler wore a short simple dress of silver tissue, veiled with white ninon, and relieved with a cluster of red flowers on the corsage and in the hair. Miss Virginia Root (the soprano) was also dressed in white, and received well-merited applause for her song, and especially for her rendering of "Annie Laurie" on Monday evening. Both ladies were the recipients of floral tributes.

PEOPLE'S REFORM LEAGUE.

WHAT WILL THE OUTCOME BE?

The annual meeting of the women's branch of the People's Reform League was held yesterday in the rooms of the Women's Patriotic Club. The chair was occupied by Mrs. J. B. Christian (vice-president).

The report was read by the secretary (Mrs. Moseley), and showed that the work of the year was of a satisfactory character, that great assistance had been given during the State elections campaign and during the discussion on the referendum proposals. The finances were in a healthy condition, the year ending with a credit balance of £39 6s 3d.

Mr. J. Stinson in the course of an address said whether it would be necessary in the immediate future to become more active it would be difficult to forecast. Matters political were now in a state of transition, and what the outcome will be they did not know. He was sure that the good sense of the community, adherence to principle, and obligations to their fellow-beings would be asserted so as to produce some definite programme, which would express the general desire for the welfare of the country as a whole, and not for any one section.

Mr. C. W. Oakes delivered an address on Empire obligations. He gave interesting comparisons showing the development of the Empire and pointed to the great success which had followed its colonisation schemes. It was a lasting shame to Australia, he said, that for so long she had allowed the British taxpayer to find 15s per head per annum, as against Australia's one-farthing per head per annum, for the protection she had enjoyed.

The following were elected members of the council:—Mesdames J. B. Christian, Jenkins, Kirkcaldie, Munro, Antill, Broomfield, Bacon, Russel-Crone, Docker, Stanger-Leathes, Lambert, Rutter, Tayler, Watson, Yarwood, Piercy Burgess, Mills, Tovey, Arding Thomas, Freeman, Meeks, Donaldson, Macfarlane, Moseley, and Miss Holland.

A GOLFING CHAMPION.

VARDON MAY VISIT AUSTRALIA.

Mr. Hugh MacNeil's visit to England, one of the objects of which was to engage one of the leading British professionals to tour Australia, is likely to meet with success.

Negotiations are proceeding with Harry Vardon, who is likely to undertake the trip.

Australians will probably have the opportunity of witnessing the most graceful player in the world, for Vardon is essentially a stylist, but he combines with style an effectiveness which, on his day, makes him unapproachable. He has one of the best-known names in the golfing world, and is a member of the famous "golfing triumvirate," the other names being those of James Braid and J. H. Taylor.

Excelling in all branches of the game, his brassie work stands out pre-eminently, and if he has a weakness, it is on the greens, where, however, he has improved remarkably since he started to play with a wooden putter.

Vardon, who is a native of Jersey, is about 38 years of age, and has won the open championship four times, his first success being in 1896, at Muirfield. He followed this up by winning at Prestwick in 1898, and at Sandwich in 1899, his latest success being at Prestwick again, in 1903, when he had an average of 75 for the four rounds.

Three years ago he and A. Herd took part in a great international foursome match, in which, representing England, they were opposed by Jas. Braid and A. Herd, of Scotland. The Englishmen won the purse of £400 in hollow fashion. In addition to his successes in Great Britain, Vardon once won the open championship of America. He is at present the professional of the South Herts Golf Club, whose links are at Totteridge, near London, before which he was engaged at Ganton Club, Yorkshire, and at Alnmouth.

If the negotiations are successful, arrangements will be made for exhibition matches to be played in the leading golfing centres of Australia, and it is hoped that Vardon will be able to get here in time to compete in the open championship, in September.

THE DENTAL BOARD.

At the last meeting of the Dental Mechanics' Union the fact that applications had been called for the position of inspector under the Dental Act at a salary of £160 per annum was discussed. It was pointed out that the members of the union were affected by the way in which the Dental Act was administered, as by its agreement with the Dental Council certain obligations were placed on the union. There was no necessity for the appointment of the inspector, it was contended, as the duties could, and should, be performed by the Registrar of the Dental Board. This gentleman, who received £200 per annum as Registrar, also held another paid position. A resolution protesting against the appointment of an inspector under the Dental Act, in view of the fact that the duties could be performed by the Registrar, was carried, and it was decided that it should be forwarded to the Chief Secretary's Department and to the Labour Council, with the view to securing that body's co-operation.

NEW MUSIC.

Ernest Truman, City Organist, has composed a "Cantata grotesque" on Robert Browning's poem "The Pied Piper" (of Hamelin), which has been published in excellent style by Messrs. W. H. Paling and Co., Ltd. This forms the composer's "Opus 50," and is dedicated to "Allen Taylor, Lord Mayor, and the Aldermen of the City of Sydney." The work is for full chorus, orchestra, tenor (the Pied Piper), baritone (the Mayor), bass (the Rat), and mezzo-soprano (the Lame Boy), and is comparatively short, consisting as it does of 11 numbers. Mr. Truman in the choice of his subject, whether intentionally or by chance, has followed the advice given in a recent speech by Sir Edward Elgar, who regretted that, with so many subjects before them of a brightly serio-comic character, English composers of the day almost always directed their cantatas towards the tragic emotions. Mr. Truman, as far as can be gathered from the pianoforte score, has succeeded well in preserving, without undue exaggeration, a partially persisting vein of humour, and his themes are melodious. The opening introduction for orchestra brings forward the Pied Piper motif which runs through the work, and the motif of the Rats, and later on of the Children, indicate the contrasted elements in the musical scheme. The Children's Chorus, with male voices joined in later, is one of the most effective in the cantata, and is cleverly scored for eight vocal parts, with independent orchestral accompaniment. Though the cantata is beautifully printed, several errors have escaped the revising reader's attention. In the Mayor's part, on pages 74 and 75, the treble clef has been accidentally substituted for the bass clef; in the second bar of the second line of the introduction, it seems that the composer must have written "B flat," misprinted "B natural;" on page 28, in the third line of the left-hand piano part, the third and fourth bars should change places; on page 68, in the second bar of the first line right hand for piano, a D flat should follow the D natural. Students who will naturally wish to examine the style and structure of this interesting work may find these errata troublesome if uncorrected. "The Pied Piper" will be produced at the Truman Festival later on in the year, under Herr Slapoffski's direction.

ALL NATIONS' FAIR.

At a meeting of the executive committee in aid of the recent All Nations' Fair and Art Union of the fund for the extension of the nurses' home of the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, it was reported that when the final accounts had been adjusted there would probably be a net credit balance of over £900. This was stated to be a record sum so far as Sydney was concerned, in connection with any entertainment for charitable purposes. The committee decided that a public acknowledgment should be made of splendid services rendered.

HUNGRY AS A BEAR, AND CAN'T EAT.
If, when Mealtime Comes, you suffer from a Yes-No kind of Hunger,
You're a Dyspeptic.
HOW TO CURE ALL STOMACH TROUBLE.
A great many people get angry when you tell them they've got dyspepsia, but way down deep in their stomachs they know they've got it.
"I'd love to eat it, but I can't," is one kind of dyspepsia.
"I hate to think of it" is another kind. There are thousands of people to-day who hate their meals and love them at the same time. They haven't that fine empty-hungry, eat-everything-in-sight kind of feeling which goes with every good, healthy stomach.
And then there are others whose mouths don't water at mealtime or at any other time. They sit at the table and go through the motions, only because it's time to eat. These people, too, are dyspeptics.
Every possible kind of stomach trouble can be cured by taking something which will just take right hold of all the food in your stomach and digest it alone without the help of the stomach, and let the stomach take a rest.
Dr. Sheldon's digestive Tabules do this very thing. They are composed of the best digestive known to science, and are absolutely safe. One ingredient alone of one of these tabules will digest 3000 grains of food. These do exactly the work that a good, strong, healthy stomach does.
Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules are invaluable in all cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, burning, or irritation, loss of appetite, bloat, brash, belching, aversion to food, fermentation, and gas in the stomach.
Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules will make you feel "good" before and after each meal, and make your stomach strong and healthy again. They will make you happy.
Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules are obtainable everywhere at 2s 6d per tin of 80 tabules.—Advt.

TESTIMONIES THAT TELL THEIR STORY.
THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE VIRTUES OF CLEMENTS TONIC
THE MEDICINE THAT BENEFITS.

"GLENEVON,"
SODWALLS, 7th March, 1911.

CLEMENTS TONIC LTD.—
"I wish you to know what benefit I have received from your Tonic and Fletcher's Pills, which you sell with the Tonic. I have suffered from chronic indigestion for many years, and about ten months ago, through an illness and trouble, my health completely gave way. My digestion, as well as all other functions of my body, became so weak that I could not take even the slightest of food without suffering very much pain. I became quite a wreck. I suffered pain from all parts of my body and limbs, which ached to such an extent that I could scarcely walk about. There was not one part of me which was not in pain, my heart especially felt very bad, with constant pain and heaviness there. Also, a feeling of weakness, which made me feel it was quite impossible for me to live for long. There was also a dreadful cold sensation shooting from the heart. My nerves, too, were weak, that the slightest noise upset me completely, and increased the awful pain and weakness at my heart. I had given up hopes of ever getting better, as I had been attended to by three doctors, and also two chemists, and had taken different patent medicines, but without any improvement. I then decided to try Clements Tonic, and I cannot find words to express my feelings of pleasure in doing so. Before the first bottle was completed I found I was improving in every way. I have taken three bottles only. I can now take any kind of food, and can sleep well, and all pain has left my body and limbs. My heart, too, is feeling quite well again. I have taken a great amount of medicine during my life, but never any have I derived so much benefit from as Clements Tonic and your Fletcher's Pills. You may use this testimony as you wish, as I have witnesses to prove it is true."

36 MORRIS-STREET,

CLEMENTS TONIC LTD.—
"It is about two years ago since my illness started. We had just finished loading a ship with wheat, and were waiting for another to come up to the wharf, when, without any warning, I fell unconscious with convulsions, and was carried home, where I lay for six hours in that condition quite as stiff as a dead man, without a relaxation of any muscles. That was the start of a nine months' illness for me. The doctor was soon in attendance, but I believe he was puzzled as to what my complaint was, and treated me for some spine disease. After a time another doctor examined me, and said I had uric acid, but I believe my complaint was in the spine. After a time I was able to get about a little by holding on to the fence. At times I could feel that my heart was ceasing to beat, and my head would swim round. Every man, woman, and child in this part of Williamstown recollect the bent-up cripple I was, trying to shuffle along from place to place, and were always ready to help me, for they believed I was a permanent cripple. One doctor said he could do no more for me, so that if I were ever to get better it must come from other sources. A neighbour, who knew from experience the value of Clements Tonic, bid me try it. Six bottles, and I began to feel better, and have taken some pounds' worth of that medicine; but what's that? I have got my health back, thanks to Clements Tonic. No stranger would think I ever had a day's illness in my life. My statement in this letter can be backed up by business men about here. You can use this as you think fit."
(Signed) FREDERICK JOHN HARDEN.

THE CHURCHES.

The Archbishop of Sydney has recommended the clergy of the Diocese of Sydney, taking part in any observation of Empire Day, the use of a special prayer.

Archdeacon Gunther, who has long advocated the revival of Easter offerings in Australia, stated at a meeting this week that last year in England they amounted to over £113,940, and this year up to the present to over £111,825.

The new church of St. Peter, Neutral Bay North, will be dedicated by the Archbishop on Friday next. The church property is valued at over £5000, and has a debt of £2800 remaining on it, but the whole building, with tower steeple and all appointments, has been completed.

At St. Saviour's, Belmore, on Thursday night a presentation was made by the parishioners to the Rev. R. Heffernan, V.D., who, for the past 3½ years has been in charge of the conventional district of Belmore and Moorfields, in addition to discharging his duties as rector of Canterbury. The Archbishop has now appointed the Rev. A. R. Shaw as minister in charge of the conventional district of Belmore and Moorfields. The presentation was made by Mr. Westheider, one of the churchwardens, on behalf of the parishioners.

On the occasion of the funeral of Bishop Camidge the boys of All Saints' College, Bathurst, marched from Bishopscourt to the Cathedral, and after taking part in the ceremony there accompanied the cortege, with the Church Lads' Brigade, to the grave in Kelso churchyard, thus showing a final tribute of respect to their revered visitor.

To-morrow Cardinal Moran will bless the new Roman Catholic Church school at Coogee.

The Coadjutor-Archbishop, who has recovered from his recent illness, will open the new Roman Catholic school at Wollongong to-morrow.

Father Thomas Rogers, of Branxton, who has been absent a year in Europe, has returned to his parish, Branxton.

The Rev. Father Terence Brown, who has been working in Victoria, has been appointed rector of the Redemptorist Monastery, Waratah, in succession to the Very Rev. Father P. M. Lynch, C.SS.R., who, with Fathers Mitchell and Gilmartin, sailed from Sydney during Easter week for the Philippine Islands to take charge of the Order's missions there. Father Brown has just concluded a series of missions in the Ballarat diocese.

Until he was appointed Bishop of Perth, Dr. Clune was rector of the Redemptorist House in the Western Australian capital. Now Rev. Father Henry I. O'Donnell, C.SS.R., of Waratah, has been appointed successor to Bishop Clune.

Cardinal Gibbons has just celebrated the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood.

The Right Rev. the Moderator (the Rev. R. Kay, M.A.) will open the new Presbyterian church at Wahroonga on the 31st instant. He will then proceed to the Shoalhaven district to assist in carrying out communion on June 4.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Australia concluded its labours on Wednesday evening last. The amount of work accomplished was greater than usual in the time, and much useful legislation was accomplished. The officials of the church are now preparing to put the findings into operation.

The committee appointed by the Presbyterian General Assembly to take charge of the Coronation services met yesterday at the Church offices and completed arrangements for the central service at St. Stephen's Church. By direction of the assembly services are to be held in all churches throughout the State, or conjointly with other congregations.

The Rev. W. Laurie, the new Presbyterian minister at Broken Hill, left for that place on Monday last. He will take over his duties to-morrow.

At the annual assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Victoria, the Rev. John Matthew was inducted as moderator. In the course of his address he said that one of the pressing problems was the reunion of the Protestant Churches. The problem of wider union was by no means impracticable, in spite of many difficulties.

A new Methodist church at Biddon, Gilgandra, has been opened by the Rev. J. W. Dunbar.

The Central Methodist Mission is making an appeal for £2000 for debt extinction and social extension effort.

The president of the Baptist Union (Rev. Jas. Barker) is paying an official visit to the churches of the Clarence River. Pastor R. Pickup was inducted into the charge of the Woonona Baptist Church by the superintendent of Home Missions on Wednesday last. Steps are being taken by the congregation of the Lithgow Baptist Church to proceed immediately with the erection of a church. The Rev. Dr. Porter has undertaken the temporary oversight of the Parramatta Baptist Church. Important resolutions are to be considered at a special meeting of the Baptist council as an outcome of the recent Australasian Congress held in Melbourne, having in view federal action with regard to certain denominational matters.

The diocesan festival of the Church Society in connection with the Mission Zone Fund will be held at the Town Hall on Tuesday next. The Lieut.-Governor, Sir William Cullen, will preside.

Mr. H. K. Gordon, deputation secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society of N. S. W., has succeeded in forming branches at Warialda and Oakwood (Inverell); while the branch at Glen Innes has been resuscitated, Miss Legge being appointed secretary.

The New South Wales auxiliary to the British and Foreign Bible Society has decided to print for the Melanesian Mission the prophecies of Isaiah, Haggai, and Zachariah. This is a translation by the late Dr. Henry Welchman.

Mr. Keech, writing to the British and Foreign Bible Society with regard to a recent journey in the north of Guatemala, said that one thing specially impressed them, and that was that the missions were beginning to reap a rich harvest. That, in his opinion, was attributed partly at least to the labours of Bible societies. Day after day groups of believers were met with far from any mission station, who without missionary or pastor gladly met together for preaching.

Considerable anxiety has been expressed of late in America as to the decrease in Bible knowledge among the educated classes. Professor Herbert F. Hamilton publishes some disquieting figures respecting the 150 freshmen who entered Amherst College, Massachusetts, last year. They were set a paper of six Bible questions, of which two were "the easiest that could be thought of," while "two were exceedingly difficult, so as to test the intimate as well as the average knowledge of the men." More than 70 of these undergraduates could remember nothing about the fall of Jericho, 37 knew nothing of Cain, 40 knew nothing of Daniel, and 65, 102, and 105 failed to answer questions about Saul, Gideon, and Timothy respectively. Indeed, 25 confessed frankly that they had done little or no Bible study. Professor Hamilton also reports that in visiting certain schools in New York he found, among pupils preparing for college and nearly of an age for entrance, whole classes that could not tell the story of Daniel in the lions' den.

The Young Women's Christian Association building fund committee met this week, under the presidency of the hon. treasurer, Sir James Fairfax, in the unavoidable absence of the chairman, Sir Philip Sydney-Jones. It was reported that, in cash and promises, £9000 of the required £20,000 had been raised, and it was decided to work quietly until the spring, when a new effort would be initiated, probably by a garden fete.

At a meeting in connection with the Petersham branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society held on Thursday it was resolved to support a second Bible woman in Korea.

In the interests of the Young Women's Christian Association of Parramatta, Mr. Alexander Copeland, of Harris Park, entertained a number of guests a few days ago. Miss Meager, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., Sydney, spoke on the origin of the association and its international and interdenominational aspect. Mr. Hugh Paton also gave an address.

On the eve of the departure of the Rev. C. and Mrs. Hughesdon from St. Michael's, Flinders-street, to Moss Vale, Mrs. Hughesdon was presented by the Ladies' Parochial Association with a gold brooch, by the Girls' Friendly Society with a silver cake basket, and by the Mothers' Union with a set of vases.

Mr. F. Collins, evangelist, of the Auburn Church of Christ, was publicly welcomed in the Auburn Town Hall on Thursday last.

Mr. A. E. Illingworth, evangelist, of Paddington, has been appointed hon. organising secretary of the Churches of Christ in New South Wales, Mr. T. Hagger, the previous secretary and State evangelist, having resigned to take over the superintendence of the Lismore and Richmond River district.

The Queensland auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society has offered the Rev. V. H. Jenkyn, pastor of the Hinton Baptist Church, the position of assistant in deputation work in their State. Mr. Jenkyn has accepted.

Mr. Newton Jones, of the United Sunday School Union, who has been conducting missions in Western Australia and South Australia, has arrived in Victoria. After leaving Victoria he comes on to Sydney.

A.M.P. SOCIETY.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The sixty-second annual meeting of members of the Australian Mutual Provident Society was held yesterday in the main hall of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. A. W. Meeks, M.L.C., chairman of directors, presided, and had associated with him upon the platform the following gentlemen:—Senator Walker, deputy chairman; Mr. Reginald J. Black, M.L.C., Mr. F. E. Winchcombe, M.L.C., and Mr. James Burns, M.L.C., directors of the head office board; Mr. R. Teece, general manager and actuary; Mr. H. W. Apperly, secretary; Mr. A. Consett Stephen, solicitor to the society; and the following representatives from branch local boards:—Mr. Alfred Deakin, M.P. (Victorian board), Mr. John Duncan (New Zealand board), Mr. Robert Philp, M.L.A., deputy-chairman of the Queensland board; Mr. L. A. Jessop, chairman of the South Australia board; Mr. B. H. Darbyshire (Western Australia board), and Mr. J. H. G. Murdoch, chairman of the Tasmania board.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

The chairman, moving the adoption of the annual report, said that without the putting forth of any special effort the new business for 1910 was largely in excess of £5,000,000. This new business consisted of 19,560 policies, assuring £5,487,376, and producing a new annual premium income of £176,455 13s 10d, in addition to which they received £85,671 11s 7d in single premiums, which included £72,050 19s 5d as purchase money for annuities. If they added the new business secured in the industrial department they arrived at a total of 41,311 policies assuring £6,265,116, with a new premium income of £224,872 4s 10d. (Cheers.) Towards the ordinary business the industrial agents contributed 2475 policies, assuring £457,029, and during the six years that the industrial department had been in operation the agents of that department had contributed £1,787,207 of new business to the ordinary department, and probably very little of that business would have been obtained without their aid. One more and a very gratifying feature regarding the new business was that 21 per cent. of the policies and 27 per cent. of the assurances consisted of policies on the lives of those who were already members. The London business continued to increase in a satisfactory manner, and while the average new sum assured in London was £590, that for the rest of the business was only £275. The industrial department continued to make good progress, the new business having steadily increased from year to year. The valuation as at December 31, 1910, notwithstanding an increase in the severity of the standard, showed a surplus of assets over liabilities of £17,841 9s 9d, an increase during the year of £9715 8s 7d. The mortality experience of the year had been remarkably favourable, the claims in the ordinary department amounting to £779,826 10s, including bonus additions, as against £819,653 4s for 1909, notwithstanding the large increase in the sums at risk. Payments under endowments and endowment assurances matured accounted for £620,084 6s, as against £626,186 18s the previous year.

The total funds ordinary and industrial now amounted to £27,078,810 13s 11d, the increase for the year being £1,372,381 10s 4d. (Cheers.) The actuarial report disclosed a surplus of assets over liabilities in the ordinary department of £1,039,602 14s 10d. This was the first occasion in the history of the society on which the surplus for a single year had exceeded a million sterling. (Cheers.)

The revenue account showed receipts amounting to £3,492,095 10s 5d, an increase over the corresponding amount for the previous year of £154,669 1s 3d. On the other side of the account appeared the items of the various disbursements. Surrenders had increased by £9320 0s 4d, and this was explained by the Railway Superannuation Act, passed by the New South Wales Parliament in the last session. Under that Act officers in the railway service were no longer to maintain life assurance cover, but were allowed the option of surrendering their official policies, and leaning upon the very liberal Government fund instead. During the last three months of the year 687 availed themselves of this option, which entailed payment by the society of £8798 2s 8d in surrender values. One at least of those who surrendered had since died.

The ordinary expenses of management showed an actual decrease in amount of £4164 1s 3d, and a fall in the ratio to the premium revenue from 13.66 per cent. to 13.21 per cent., representing a saving of £10,000. Only on two previous occasions in the society's history has this percentage been as low as in 1910, and on neither of these did the new business approach that of last year. Two of the items showing an actual decrease were salaries from £97,741 to £97,477, and rent from £11,431 to £11,200. These reductions had not been effected at the cost of efficiency. The directors gave the usual increases to the members of the staff, but the introduction of improved methods, and the extended use of labour saving appliances, enabled them to economise. Taxes showed an increase of over £2000, and the new Federal land tax will impose a further burden this year of about £4000. The rate of interest realised on the investments had been £4 9s 8d per cent., which was a penny less than that of last year. They had received during the year a sum of £3,492,096; they had paid out to members or their representatives £1,841,184, and they had added to the funds, in the ordinary department, £1,322,771, bringing these up to just on £27,000,000. These were very large figures, and indicated that the society was now attaining colossal proportions. The balance-sheet, which included the funds of the industrial department, indicated how the assets were invested, and showed the changes during the year. Investments in mortgages had increased by only about £200,000; loans to municipalities had increased by over £400,000; Government securities held had increased by over £600,000, while foreclosures had decreased by £75,000.

The industrial department continued to make rapid progress. The new business had increased, the funds had grown from £49,336 to £98,946, the rate of expense as a percentage of the premium receipts had decreased by 6¼ per cent., and the surplus had risen from £8126 to £17,841. The department was now in so stable a position that they would be able to declare a bonus at the close of the current year, to all participating policies, which would have been in existence for five years. This would be a real and tangible bonus, and will be permanently attached to the policy. A summary of the actuary's report showed that, notwithstanding that the stringency of the basis of valuation had been maintained in the ordinary and increased in the industrial department, there was a surplus of assets over liabilities of £1,039,602 14s 10d in the former and £17,841 9s 9d in the latter. This result would enable them to give an increased bonus to policy holders, and to add a large sum to the contingency reserve, which now stood at £170,000.

Mr. Deakin, M.P., in seconding the adoption of the report, said they might look the world over before they found an institution that was such a magnificent exemplar of the fruitfulness of co-operation and of the magnificent possibilities of mutuality as the A.M.P. Society. (Cheers.) The foundations of the A.M.P. were the broadest that could be made. There were in the society absolute equity, absolute justice, and absolute freedom on the part of its members in the government of their own affairs. Nowhere the world over could such an institution be paralleled—certainly it could not, in those basic principles, be anywhere surpassed. The meeting would be gratified to know that in Victoria they had 80,000 policyholders, with assurances reaching a total of £20,000,000.

Short speeches dealing with the work and prospects of the society were also delivered by Mr. John Duncan (New Zealand), Mr. Robert Philp (Queensland), Mr. Jessop (S.A.), Mr. Darbyshire (W.A.), and Mr. Murdoch (Tasmania).

Mr. David Storey, M.L.A., suggested that a bonus be paid to those in the employ of the society. Mr. A. Jobson supported the suggestion.

Mr. T. A. Dibbs, who on rising was received with a great outburst of cheering, said that during his 44 years' management of the Commercial Banking Company the directors had paid £250,000 to the officers, and the dividends paid were a proof that the bank had not suffered by this generosity. (Cheers.)

The chairman welcomed the suggestion thrown out, and indicated that the board proposed to do something to encourage the staff.

The report was adopted. It was also announced that Messrs. R. J. Black and F. E. Winchcombe had been re-elected unopposed as directors, and that Mr. W. H. Perry had been re-elected an auditor.

POSTAL DELAYS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The Postmaster-General is anxious for the public to give him specific instances of delays, etc., in connection with postal and telephone matters. I submit the following for his officials' consideration:—A card reached me by post yesterday bearing the office stamp May 17, 1911. I find that it was, according to other office stamps thereon, posted in Sydney December 24, 1910, so it took close on five months to reach my residence in Woollahra. I have the card in my possession. It is a congratulatory card from Mr. J. P. Osborne, M.L.A. for Paddington, and if the officials care to see it I will be pleased to show it to them.

I am, etc.,

May 18. CHARLES W. OAKES.

AMERICAN POLITICS.

DEMOCRATS CONTROL LOWER HOUSE.

THE NEW SPEAKER.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK PERPLEXING

NEW YORK, April 16.

The extra session of the new Congress began a week ago; and for the first time in 16 years the Democrats are in responsible control of the Lower House, and are in a minority of only 8 even in the Senate. And next year there comes again the quadrennial struggle for the Presidential succession. Put these two facts together, and it is easily understood that all eyes are fixed upon the debates day by day, and that every Congressman on both sides knows it, and governs himself accordingly. Will the Democracy (with a big D) take the broader view of things, and by adopting a "progressive" platform tempt into its camp the Roosevelt Republicans—including, perhaps, Roosevelt himself—or will it insist upon what it used to call a "strict construction" of the now outgrown Federal Constitution?

To be progressive means the shelving of many of its older leaders, and the abandonment of the absolute supremacy of the sovereign rights of the several States and other like moribund doctrines; and, besides, a genuine and thorough reorganisation of the party machine and its methods. In the two-party caucuses for floor-leaders and committee appointments, both sides have shown marked signs of internal division. Of the 50 Senate Republicans, 12 "insurgent" senators stood out as a separate body, and insisted upon special terms; and of the 42 Democrats 17 bitterly opposed the selection of a "Conservative" as "minority-leader."

In that chamber, therefore, when the hour of strain comes—as it surely will a month or two hence—the 38 "Old Guard" Republicans will certainly have the help of just enough "conservative" Democrats to save them from defeat—one or more of such Democrats taking in turn the odium of party disloyalty, and making up for it by vehement loyalty on occasions when other men are chosen to play the same ignoble Machiavellian part.

In the long run, as the stock-market shows, the "interests" and "combines" are confident that such a Senate is a sure defence against radical reforms; and that the deluge, if it comes at all, will begin only after the 1912 election. But this will only make the fighting in the House the more determined and bitter; for there, and not in the Senate, will the party records be established. The House Republicans are divided almost equally, while at least two-thirds of the Democrats are "progressive." Two days ago the first serious tilt occurred on the question of sending a resolution to the Senate recommending the election in future of senators by popular vote instead of by the Legislature. And after a few speeches, in which recent flagrant scandals in senatorial legislative elections were handled without gloves, all but 15 Republicans and one Democrat abandoned the unpopular side, and the resolution was passed by the crushing vote of 296 to 16. Eighty men stayed in the background, and did not vote at all; but that perhaps only makes the warning to the Senate that it must in all things obey the popular will the more significant. In the House caucus for organisation the Democrats voted as a unit both as to men and rules of business, for in this way only could the minority avoid giving a pretext for depriving them of their fair share of patronage and committee favours.

The Speaker, in the way of precedence, is the third official representative of the nation, and the new man, Mr. Champ Clark, is in ability, character, and experience in every way equal to the part. Indeed, he and Gov. Woodrow Wilson are just now far ahead of all other candidates for the Democratic nomination for President next year; and this may be an incentive, as Speaker, to be moderate in his counsels to his party, and temperate and impartial in his rulings from the chair. Already he and the President seem to have reached confidential relations, for he has given up any party advantage that might be gained by delaying the Canadian Reciprocity Agreement, and has pushed it to the very front for passage; and Mr. Taft has openly promised on his side to make no attempt to shorten the length of the session, even if it should drag along to the regular meeting in December. Such delay, if it come, will be caused by the obstructive tactics of the Senate, not by any waste of time by the House.

Taken as a whole, the country has never had a more perplexing political outlook since the breakup of the old parties, just before the war, into four factions, and perhaps not even then: for the matters now at stake are a medley of very modern and very puzzling issues—mainly economic and social, instead of just that one question of slavery. And if parties now again break up, and there comes a general remoulding of political organisations, it will be not, as was the case with slavery, on geographical, but on class, and so to speak social, lines. There can hardly be a doubt that in some way great wealth will ultimately be shorn of the hold it now undoubtedly possesses on the Government by "financing" the campaigns of both parties, aiding Republicans in Republican and Democrats in Democratic States, and asking in return only an occasional service in secretly smothering undesirable bills in committee, or if publicity be unavoidable in making up enough votes, regardless of party, to defeat them.

One of the most significant present-day facts is the narrow margin by which important measures in late years have been won or lost—for example, the 5 votes by which the Beef Trust advocate, Senator Lorimer, was recently saved from expulsion in spite of the confession of six members of the Illinois Legislature that they had been bribed to vote for him. That Lorimer also had other secret friends even among those who voted against him is perfectly well-known, but it would have been foolish for them to tempt criticism needlessly.

SHIRE DELEGATES.

VISIT HAWKESBURY COLLEGE.

The delegates to the conference of the Shires Association paid a visit to Hawkesbury College yesterday, under the guidance of Messrs. J. L. Trefle (Minister for Agriculture), J. Garlick (officer-in-charge of local government), and the principal of the college (Mr. H. W. Potts). The wives of several delegates accompanied them, and the visit was found to be instructive in the highest degree.

During the afternoon the president, Mr. R. J. Higgins, expressed the pleasure the visit had given to the delegates.

Mr. H. A. Potts (the college principal) said that there were 200 young Australians in the college, and the records of those who had passed through the college and were now scattered about the continent and the world did infinite credit to themselves, the college, and the country.

Mr. Trefle said his party had been long enough in office to show them that they were not the wild, mad-headed sort of people their opponents led them to believe. They had proved themselves to be practical in giving attention to the affairs of the State. The weakness of the people on the land was that they were too much inclined to listen to Sydney barrackers, who had been trained in the art of rhetoric. Now they had men of their own class in charge, and they would have no cause to fear that a practical and businesslike handling of matters connected with the land would not follow. He had found when he took charge of the department that it had an essential weakness. In its administrative and clerical sections it was well manned, but when it came to practical matters these sections were not sufficient. For instance, when a manager of an experimental farm at, say, Cowra or Glen Innes had some knotty problem on which he desired enlightenment connected with the management of his farm he would write to the department, but the officers there could not help him. Accordingly after inquiry he had appointed Mr. Valder. He was determined to make the college the finest in Australia. He had secured much information likely to be of use to the schools and colleges of agriculture. The results of the poultry experiments at the college were valued all over the world, and inquiries were constantly being received as to the results of long years of experiment.

Mr. Dooley, M.L.A., said that the trend of thought was towards the land. It might be that the country would have to import mechanics to assist in developing Australia, but there would be no need to import men to work the land. Young Australia could be trained for that purpose.

NAVAL COURT-MARTIAL.

A naval court-martial was held yesterday on board H.M.S. Powerful. An A.B. on H.M.S. Encounter named Daniel Suckley was charged with striking a superior officer while the ship was on the high seas between Fiji and Tonga. The charge was sustained, and a sentence of six months' detention imposed.

Dr. Heine, who is working amongst the immigrants at Quebec in the interests of the British and Foreign Bible Society, can make himself understood in 13 languages. He says that 110 different languages may now be met with in different parts of Canada, and the Gospel is preached by the living voice in from 26 to 30 of them.

Mr. Henry Crothers, a resident of the Maitland district for 25 years, but lately residing in Manly, died yesterday from heart disease. Deceased, who was 79 years of age, was a native of Armagh, Ireland. He came to the State 72 years ago. For many years he followed pastoral pursuits in the Warrego district, Queensland, but retired about 30 years ago. During his residence in Maitland he was a very active townsman, being Mayor for four years. He leaves a family of five sons and two daughters. The remains are to be brought to Maitland for interment.

A floral parade held in the Mechanics' Institute in aid of the school hall of St. Stephen's Presbyterian Church realised £60.

Mr. W. T. Keating has been appointed postmaster at Wingham. He comes from Rockley, near Bathurst. Mr. P. E. Row, whose place Mr. Keating takes, had occupied the position of post and telegraph master at Wingham for about four years.

A new industry has just been inaugurated on the Wallamba—that of charcoal burning at the several mills in that district. Already two shipments of many tons have been sent away to the metropolis, where much of it is to be used for insulating and gas-making purposes. Mr. Wright, of Sydney, is the firm's representative in the Wallamba district, and the coal obtained from local sources is of better quality than that procured from other localities. Consequently it commands a higher price.

Since the introduction of the sawmilling industry it has been customary to allow the hearts and other waste portions of the logs to be consumed by fire without any profit being obtained. A systematic change has now been adopted, and what was once a useless product will in future prove a profitable adjunct. A pit 3ft deep is excavated, 20ft or 30ft long by 10ft wide. Then the waste timber is carefully stacked in this, so as to ensure perfect combination. The timber is packed 3ft or 4ft higher than the sides of the cavity made in the ground. The whole mass is then lighted, and in the process of combination sinks down to within the limits of the pit. When the flames have almost ceased to rise from it the glowing coals are covered with corrugated iron and ashes or dirt in such a manner as to exclude air. By the following morning the burning has ceased, and the pit can be uncovered. When the charcoal is sufficiently cooled it is transferred to bags ready for shipment.

THE BOSWORTH CASE.

ROYAL COMMISSION REPORT.

The Lieutenant-Governor yesterday received the report of the Royal Commission which inquired into the Bathurst case of the death of Walter Alexander Bosworth, arising out of which certain charges were made against Sergeant Sheehy and First-class-constable Boon, by Constable Mitchell. Bosworth was arrested on January 8 by Sheehy on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and was taken to the lockup by Constable Mitchell, assisted by Boon. In the evening Bosworth was found dead in the cell in which he had been placed. The coroner, after an inquest, found that he had come to his death by alcoholic poisoning, caused by excessive drinking, and not otherwise. The body was at a later stage exhumed. The full text of the Royal Commission report on the matter is not available, but it is understood that the commissioner, having carefully considered the evidence, is convinced that the allegations of Constable Mitchell were not correct, and that neither Sheehy nor Boon in any way led to the man's death. The report has been forwarded to the Chief Secretary for action.

"LESS MISERY."

SYDNEY NIGHT REFUGE REPORT.

The Sydney Night Refuge and Reformatory recorded at its annual meeting last night:—"There is less misery being experienced by the wretched and the outcast." This tribute to the prosperous times is of special significance, this institution having been concerned with the relief of the destitute in the metropolis during the past 47 years.

The annual meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A. Hall, and was presided over by the Rev. Dr. Roseby. The committee stated in its annual report:—

"It might be suggested that when work is so plentiful and times so good the need for such an institution as this old charity was not very great, but it is only when one comes in touch with the work that one realises just how little difference industrial prosperity or poverty or depression makes after all. In a great city like Sydney there is always a large number of men who stand in need of friendship and help; penniless men for the time being—perhaps only for a day or two, homeless men; and also that strange assortment of the wretched whose condition calls for the compassion of those who think that mercy, in all the judgments of a Christian country, should season justice."

During the year 1910 4357 men were admitted to the shelter of the Sydney Night Refuge and Reformatory. Of this number 2965 were strangers to the institution, while 1392 had been the recipients of its benefits before. Among the men referred to 3916 beds, with the accompanying breakfast in each case, were given. At Christmas time a special breakfast was given to about 120 men. The expenditure during the year was £129 19s 11d.

On the motion of Mr. Dixson, seconded by Mr. Hampshire, a vote of thanks was accorded the subscribers and workers at the refuge for their assistance during the year. The following were elected a committee of management for the year:—Revs. E. Price, Dr. Roseby, W. A. S. Anderson, Messrs. T. Cummins, G. D. Dixson, J. E. Hampshire, Hon. John Kidd, James M'Laughlin, J. W. Roseby, and H. P. Palser.

NEWCASTLE.

DESTROYERS.

AQUATIC SPORTS.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The ferries were busy here all the afternoon conveying crowds of people to and from the two destroyers Yarra and Parramatta, which are anchored in the stream. Aquatic sports held during the afternoon were witnessed by large crowds on the surrounding wharfs, as well as on the two vessels. The Mayor, Alderman Shedden, and the Mayoress, Mrs. Shedden, were the guests of Commander Hyde during the afternoon, and witnessed the races from the Parramatta, which was used as the flagship. The course was set between a point near the Customs-house and the A.A. Company's schute.

The first event was between crews of five oars in a whaleboat from the destroyers. The race resulted in a win for the Parramatta men by a boat length and a half. The other events were decided as follows:—Merchant ships' crews (four oars): There were only two entries, a crew of seamen and a crew of apprentices, both from the training ship Dartford. The seamen won by about a length. Parramatta v Yarra (firemen and stokers), five oars in whalers: An easy victory for the Parramatta boat. Parramatta and Yarra combined crews v Newcastle Naval Brigade (12 oars in cutters): Newcastle Naval Brigade won easily. Parramatta seamen and stokers combined v Newcastle Naval Brigade (five oars in whalers): The Parramatta boat won by about three lengths. The event caused great excitement on the Parramatta, and one of the sailors on the latter vessel greeted the victory of his shipmates by playing the "Cock of the North" on a cornet.

BILLIARDS.

LINDRUM v REECE.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

Two matches of 16,000 up have been arranged between Fred. Lindrum, jun., and T. Reece, the visiting professional. The first will be played in Melbourne, commencing on Monday week, and lasting a fortnight, and there will be a return match in Sydney. Lindrum had arranged to go to England in August, but he now thinks of returning with Reece, who is remaining here for about three months.

H. W. Stevenson, the champion of English billiards, will probably leave England this month on a flying visit to Australia. The trip will be taken for the sake of the sea voyage only, and Stevenson does not expect to engage in any matches. Writing to a friend, he says that he will very likely make the outward and homeward voyage without changing steamers.

AUTO CARS.

FOR USE ON RAILWAYS.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The Minister for Railways has approved of the purchase of five petrol-driven auto cars for use on the Queensland railways. The cars are of the Millane M'Keen type, and will cost about £24,000. There are 90 of these cars now running in the United States and Mexico. They are capable of carrying 75 passengers each.

The main object of purchasing them is that they may be used on the branch lines in outside districts where the passenger traffic is small, but in addition the Minister has it in mind that they may be useful on the suburban lines during the time the traffic is light.

At the last council meeting of the Sydney City Mission it was reported that arrangements had been made to secure a city missionary in place of the late Mr. James Mathers. It was resolved to begin a campaign to further the jubilee schemes, which are to provide a new building for the present headquarters, and also a retiring fund for aged and disabled missionaries attached to the Sydney City Mission. The receipts for the past month were £197 18s 7d, and the expenditure £335 9s 6d, leaving a debit balance of £493 19s 5d. It was stated that gifts of clothing, etc., would help the missionaries to deal with necessitous cases.

UNIVERSITY REFORM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The relations between the authorities of the University and the students at the present time have in them all the elements of a serious disruption, and what was looked upon at one time merely as a little pleasantry has developed into a very awkward contretemps—for the senate, at any rate. The reason of such disruption, to one who writes as a graduate of the University, and a teacher of many years' standing, is not far to seek; and it is to be hoped that out of the evil good may come, and that the government of our University may be made more in keeping with a new and democratic country such as ours.

Every teacher knows that the relation between teacher and taught has very radically changed within the last 15 years. No longer is the teacher a martinet whom his pupils avoid at all times; no longer is he an autocrat looking at his pupils from a mighty height, and despising them as insignificant. The ideal teacher is quite able to preserve his dignity while treating his pupils as entities—he enters into their joys, their sports; he sees their difficulties; he helps and sympathises with them in all matters outside and inside the school. In fact, he is their "guide, philosopher, and friend," and is affectionately remembered in after years by all well-disposed pupils. And all this he does without jeopardising the discipline in the school; his influence over the minds of those he is moulding is immense, and he realises and glories in the responsibility he undertakes when he takes up his profession as teacher. He is not too old to remember that he was once a boy; to remind himself occasionally of the pranks he played, and the scrapes into which he got. The students at present at the University have all been trained and taught in schools where the teachers approximated, at any rate, to this ideal, and their ability and will to conduct in such a laudable manner last Saturday's festival show that they do credit to the training they have had, and that they would not bring any discredit on the University, which they all reverence.

While admitting that the relation between the governing body of the University and the students is not exactly analogous to that of teacher and taught, I yet hold that it is merely a widening of that relation, and that there should be an analogy—that the governing body should enter into the sports and pleasures of the students as well as into the more serious phases of university life.

I hold that a young and vigorous chancellor, with high ideals of the duties of his position, could make himself a power in the University, which would make itself felt in all its varied activities, and that such a power might be a mighty influence, making for all that is good.

The idea of electing a chancellor or a senate for life is distinctly a wrong principle—for, if there were an election every three years, would not those who were deserving be re-elected, and so hold the position for life; while the unworthy, the old (who had lost their sympathy for the young), would be replaced by the worthy and the young.

While admitting that there is a certain dignity in age, and that the present chancellor is worthy of respect by reason of his services to the University—I do not at all feel inclined to admit that he is an ideal chancellor—and if age is a necessary adjunct to a chancellor, for any sake, let it be a genial old age which has not forgotten the days of its youth.

I am, etc.,

May 18. M. L. G.

DIGESTIVE WEAKNESS IN CHILDREN.

A GENTLE AND NATURAL WAY OF OVERCOMING CHILDREN'S AILMENTS.

The stomach of a child is the organ above all others upon which the future of a child depends.

Most children who are nervous, irritable, and cross, who dream, sleep restlessly, who tire easily, and have no desire for child exercise, generally have stomach trouble and indigestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will thoroughly digest food and place the system in shape to obtain all the nourishment it needs from such food.

These tablets mix with the juices of the system, enriching them and giving to the body the ingredients necessary to build up the rapidly forming brain and body of the young.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be given to children after each meal and at bed-time. They are made from pure vegetable and fruit essences, and contain no harmful chemicals whatever. The use of these tablets will produce appetite, soothe nerves, and destroy the bad effects of improper foods.

It is due to the child that his stomach be protected by the parent, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets always prove the finest safeguard against the destructive influence of over-eating, irregular meals, and stomach troubles generally.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are given to each and every degree of life. Any condition of the stomach welcomes them, from the strongest to the weakest. For sale by all chemists, price 1/3 and 2/6 a box. Send us your name and address to-day, and we will post you at once a trial package free. Address, F. A. THE PROBLEMATICAL PACIFIC.

The undiscernible future has at least one point of contact with things seen. It will doubtless resemble all the futures that were and are now the visible past, in that it has its concealed surprises awaiting their due time of revelation. The unexpected will happen inevitably. And we Australians are surrounded on all sides by an inscrutable concrete of possibility. We belong entirely to the future. Empty and untamed as yet, it is the coming development of our country that matters. Many things are wrapped away from us, and all our peerings and pryings after elucidation of what is to be avail us nothing. Nor can our effort upon the task of determining for ourselves the direction of event do much more than clear the way for the appointed time to come. Our country itself, in its material significance, is full of puzzle. Inhabitants of a continent, we are faced with Continental problems in embryo, at least. Surrounded by a sea, we are at constant call of the problems that no open way of access can wholly escape. That sea problem of ours, indeed, slowly grows to its due dimensions. It deserves increasingly, nay, it compels, our closest care of it, for within the inner heart of it lies our destiny. No small part of the history of the world is taken up with the dominating influence of the sea upon national life. Not only has it moulded and fashioned the hearts of nations to its use, but no people set upon a seaboard has ever yet escaped the seaboard's duty of watch and ward. It is our duty. The story of the sea nations is a heroic story of defence against the aggressor easily come by an illimitable and unguarded path of open water. It may be our story. All about us now, even, is the rising murmur of the Pacific in its relation to the future. Unless the prophets are wrong, the whole tendency of modern national development is toward the command of the southern and eastern ocean as the key that will open up new empires and set new Powers upon Imperial eminence. And the prophets are not likely to be wrong, for rarely has prophecy been so favoured by the obvious. And, being right, the prophets are of inestimable service to Australia. For Australia is of all Pacific portents the least baffling. From its own point of view it is empty and practically defenceless. Its capacity to withstand attack is in the germ. The provision of British ships for its defence is wholly inadequate. From the potential enemy's point of view all these things are carefully diagnosed in their connection with Australia as a land of limitless opportunity for everything that is desirable.

There are other problems of the Pacific, more American than Australian in their immediate incidence, but not less Australian essentially. They all centre upon the upward movement of Japan towards national significance in the Western sense, and they are not without a thicker cloud of mystery by reason of the mysteriousness of China. But it is Japan that counts at present, and the plain facts of the case are that Japan is a sea-Power of formidable strength; that it comprises a patriotic and increasingly ambitious people; that the existing Anglo-Japanese Alliance terminates in 1915; and that the present British patrol of the Eastern seas is utterly powerless against any organised movement by Japan. Mr. Archibald Colquhoun's recent paper at the Royal United Service Institution in London, and our cable messages of two months ago as to the bearing, for one thing, of the Mexican trouble upon the Japanese-American position, and for another thing, of Dominion immigration restrictions upon Japanese patience, are important expressions of that unrest which is now the normal attitude towards the Pacific problem. It is certain that the coming Imperial Conference will be called upon to handle this matter with all the seriousness befitting a crucial Empire question. At the very best, Great Britain and therefore Australia is dependent now on the generosity of Japan in withholding her hand. That generosity may possibly be dictated in some measure by the reluctance of the Eastern Power to enter upon another great struggle before her complete recuperation from the last one. The arbitration treaty proposals now maturing between Great Britain and the United States, further, must appreciably affect any war movement. But the fact remains that a Pacific poorly policed by Great Britain gives Japan complete mastery of that sea so far as Australia is concerned; while, moreover, General Homer Lea's book, "The Valour of Ignorance," has established it as almost equally certain that the United States would have little chance of retaining her share of the Pacific bases under stress of Japanese hostility. As far as Great Britain is concerned, a position of sufferance under the toleration of an Eastern race, especially in a matter of sea supremacy, does not become the greatest sea nation known to history. It is not at all likely, indeed, that the British people will sit down under it. A far finer and more characteristically British spirit is that readiness to fight, if fighting is inevitable, which has set and maintained our nation in the forefront of the world. And, towards that readiness preparation is essential, and with that view of preparation the Imperial Conference must discuss the matter. It is obvious that our own scheme of national defence can have but little effectual bearing upon it. The problem is here and now, and our scheme will not mature for years to come. Such being the case, we can have small share in the determining of the Pacific. Our best share will be that of hastening our equipment of ourselves. A strong British fleet in the Pacific is essential. Our own fleet will gradually grow towards helpful stature. And that function of assistance to some swift squadron of British battleships, rather than an independent Australian function, must suffice us for a long time to come. The Pacific problem connotes a change of venue. The North Sea menace, into which the Channel fights, and the battle and the breeze of a hundred British victories, have merged, remains the constant care of Great Britain in respect of her own coasts. But her Empire coasts are far-flung upon other seas, and the Pacific gateway of the spreading East cannot always be free of the invader.

THE MODERN PARLIAMENT.

In his letter last week Sir Henry Lucy described one of the most remarkable incidents that have taken place in the House of Commons within recent years. During the committee stage of the Parliament Bill an amendment was moved that division on the third reading of any bill dealing with finance be taken, not in the usual way, but by ballot. The suggestion of the mover was obvious, and scarcely needed the explanation given by himself, and subsequently by Lord Hugh Cecil. Finance bills for the future will be within the control of the House of Commons alone. The Lords will be not only unable to either amend or reject them, they will not have even the power which is conceded to the Australian Senate of suggesting improvements. The opposition to the Parliament Bill has been put on two grounds. The whole of the Unionist party have joined in defending the existence of the House of Lords when reformed in accordance either with Lord Lansdowne's scheme or with some other, to be put forward later, but a section of them have based their case on the supposed weakening of the House of Commons. In his speech in support of the amendment Lord Hugh Cecil claimed that for many years members had been gradually losing their independence, that votes were given at the dictation of the party whips, without regard to the convictions of those who gave them, and sometimes without consideration or knowledge of the issues involved. He argued, therefore, that the ballot should be introduced in divisions for the same reasons that had led to its introduction at elections, to give members an opportunity of exercising their discretion without fear of punishment or hope of reward. The amendment was, of course, bound to be defeated, as it was certain to be opposed by the Government. But the speech in which the arguments of its supporters were most clearly refuted came not from Ministers but from the leader of the Opposition. "Reading maketh a full man, and conference a ready man." Mr. Balfour has both, and in a short speech he gave the most authoritative and most convincing defence of party government that that somewhat damaged institution has received for many years. When the Prime Minister came to sum up the debate all that he could say in answer was that he entirely agreed with every word that had fallen from his right honorable friend. On the question whether there had been any degeneracy among members Mr. Balfour could speak from an experience dating from 1874. He reported a conversation with Sir Charles Dilke, an almost exact contemporary, in which they agreed that, though there had been many changes in habits and procedure, there had been no falling off in the general standard of personality.

Mr. Balfour altogether denied that argument had ceased to count for anything in the House of Commons. No doubt it was a rare thing for a speech to influence the division lists immediately, but no party, whatever its number, could hope to maintain a policy for long if the balance of reasoning were against it, and only a majority of votes in its favour. The really decisive argument in the speech was, however, contained in the passage in which Mr. Balfour gave his views on the degree of obedience which members owe to their leaders. Lord Hugh Cecil had protested, as being a Unionist Freetrader he well might, against the penalties inflicted on a member who on some particular point votes against his party. Mr. Balfour insisted on the value of the stability of administration as well as of legislation, which can be maintained only on the condition that members are prepared to sacrifice their views wherever the sacrifice does not entail a breach of the promises given to their constituents. He repeated the reasons in favour of compromise which all apologists for the party system are compelled to give, but he lent to them the incalculable authority of a statesman who first became prominent as one of a band of insurgents, who has been both Secretary of State and Prime Minister, and has subsequently had the difficult task of welding together an Opposition divided into two sections, apparently irreconcilable. In his defence of the general standard of personality in the House of Commons, Mr. Balfour's evidence has the weight of impartiality. The critics who say that Parliament is not what it was are open to the retort that, like "Punch," it never has been. Burke, in one of his speeches on the American rebellion, has given as savage an indictment as can well be imagined, both of the electors and the elected in his day, when Mr. Pitt, after drinking two bottles, could win over his fellow-members who had drunk three. Mr. Gladstone in the fifties speaks of the "adventuring, disreputable class of members of Parliament who make God knows what use of public patronage, and of the large number of borough members who are mainly dependent on it for their seats," and he asks almost in the language of Lord Hugh Cecil, "What are the members to do who are sent down by the Patronage Secretary in the interests of the Government, and who are pledged twenty deep to their constituents?" In this century we are told that members are bribed by the hope of a coronet, but there is no hint of the corruption which flourished from the time of the Georges; at least, until the passing of the second Reform Bill. In manners apparently the same general proposition is true. It is unfair to say that, because there has certainly been a change, therefore there has been deterioration. To found any inference on altered standards of "good form" would be to confuse what is essential with what is non-essential; such a confusion as Mr. Balfour unkindly attributed to his nephew's youth. The same reason, no doubt, explains a great number of the complaints as to the impotence of the private member, advanced by reformers like Mr. Crooks, and by novelists like Mr. Wells. But the ambitious private member on this point may question the impartiality, both of Mr. Balfour and of Mr. Asquith. Theirs is the view of Ministers who have trouble enough without having to answer their supporters. It is at least doubtful whether private members talk less under the new rules of procedure than they did when there was no such restriction, and there seems to be as much scope for ambition as there was when all the leading places in the Government were held by a few great families. The change which threatens to weaken the character of Parliament is one that has taken place in the constituencies. Among ourselves there has been a great deal of exaggeration of the check which prevents members from voting as they please. In every State there are men who, after secession, have fought their way to leadership. The real danger lies in the control which, through their own weakness, members have allowed the electors to assume over the whole of their time, and a large portion of their salary. It is this which drives competent men, who find it hard enough to attend Parliament, to give up public life altogether. The abolition of the method of local selection would remove one of the most objectionable features in politics, but still better work would be done if someone of the strength of Sir Henry Parkes could put the electors in their place.

To-day's "Herald."—Sir Henry Lucy (page 7), after passing remark about proceedings at Westminster, touches on the great Shakespearean memorial ball on June 20, the illgrace of Mr. Cecil Rhodes in sitting for his portrait, and the general knowledge required of a typist of the London County Council. The writer of "A Woman's Letter" (page 7) is pleasantly discursive on the minor matters of the modern woman's attire. Also on page 7 we print the first of two papers on the chief New Zealand cities, by Mr. T. H. Nesbitt, Town Clerk of Sydney, dealing especially with Wellington. The writer of "In the Garden" (page 5) deals fully with beautiful shrubs and flowering trees, suitable for adding to the garden in the planting season now at hand. Some of these varieties are selected for the cooler districts of the State. In view of the decision of the United States Court of Appeal, in the case of the Standard Oil Trust, a summary of the history of that institution will be interesting. It is headed "The Octopus," and appears on page 5. The sixth instalment of Miss Grimshaw's "Guinea Gold," the story of the gold industry in Papua, will be found on page 10.

Empire Day.—The celebration of Empire Day on Wednesday will so far as the Government is concerned, be confined to the Public schools, where the flag will be unfurled, and patriotic songs sung, and short addresses delivered on the meaning of Empire. The Minister regards anything in the nature of an extended official function as unnecessary in view of the arrangements in progress for a demonstration of national sentiment on the occasion of the Coronation a month hence. Outside of the schools the chief function on Wednesday will be a patriotic demonstration at the Royal Exchange, when addresses will be delivered by Vice-Admiral King-Hall and Mr. Bruce Smith, and national music rendered by the Sydney Liedertafel, and St. Andrew's Cathedral choir. In the evening a public dinner will be held under the auspices of the British Empire League in Australia. Under the auspices of the league a citizens' demonstration will be held in the hall of Sydney University, commencing at 2.30 p.m. The speakers will include the Archbishop, Mr. C. W. Oaks, and the Rev. P. J. Stephens. The musical arrangements include several vocalists, and a trained choir of 80 children.

Can Opium be Stolen?—This was the main question submitted yesterday to the Full Court in an appeal by one Waterhouse from his conviction on an indictment charging him with stealing a bag with nine tins of opium. The case against him was that after the opium had been sold to a Chinaman the accused seized the bag containing it, and made off. It was contended by Mr. Mack that as there was a provision in the Police Offences Act prohibiting the purchase or sale of opium, the possession of it by the prosecutor was illegal, and therefore it could not be stolen by the person charged. Mr. Mason, on the other hand, argued that accused was charged with stealing the bag as well as its contents, and therefore the indictment could not be said to be bad. There were also certain exceptions under which opium became a commodity capable of being stolen, and the defence had not shown that the Chinaman did not come within anyone of them. The argument is not yet finished.

Cinematographing At The Law Courts.—Some time ago a grotesque scene was enacted at the doors of the Darlinghurst Law Courts by an individual in weird attire and painted face, who carried out some antics under the focus of a cinematograph camera. Attention was drawn to the matter in the "Herald," and an inquiry was instituted by the authorities as to how it came about that such should be allowed. It appears from a report by the Sheriff that a constable on duty was told by the operator that "It was all right"—that he had obtained permission. The constable informed the deputy-sheriff, who straightway directed that the picture-taking should be stopped. By that time, however, the dramatic scene related to the Darlinghurst courts had been obtained for the moving picture show, and the parties had passed on to arrange for the next act.

Scotch Mixture.—Speaking to the delegates to the Shires Conference at the Hawkesbury College yesterday, the Minister for Agriculture (Mr. J. L. Trefle) said that he had recognised the necessity for getting a consulting head for the department. Being half French and half Scotch, he found himself urged to prompt action by his French blood, and held back by his Scottish caution. After due inquiry, he had found the right man in Mr. Valder.

Wunderlich, who leaves to-day on an extended trip to Europe and the East. Mr. A. Keegan, the company's secretary, made a presentation on behalf of the employees. Mr. Wunderlich in the course of his reply said that among those present were men with whom he had been associated for over 25 years. Mr. A. Wunderlich (president of the Chamber of Manufactures) also spoke. Dr. O. Wunderlich proposed the toast of the employees, to which Mr. W. R. Evans responded.

THE HOMECOMING.

MR. FISHER IN SCOTLAND.

VISITS HIS BIRTHPLACE.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME.

LONDON, May 18.

Mr. Andrew Fisher, Prime Minister of the Commonwealth, visited his native town, Crosshouse, Kilmarnock, to-day.

Mr. Fisher, who was accompanied by his wife and son, Sir George Reid (High Commissioner for Australia), Mr. D. Bowman, M.L.A. (Queensland), and Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., was welcomed by the Provost and Councillors, the miners' executive, and leading citizens.

The party motored through Burns's country to Ayr, visited Mossgiel, and inspected the Burns manuscripts. They had luncheon at the Auld Brig o' Doon.

On the return there was a great demonstration at Crosshouse, in the village of Mr. Fisher's birth.

Miners, fresh from the pit, the villagers, and school children congregated, and welcomed the Australian Premier. Old miners and comrades who had worked with Mr. Fisher in the colliery in former days, and old women, wrung his hand effusively, the school children meanwhile singing, "A Man's a Man for a' That."

Mr. Fisher, who was much moved, expressed his thanks.

MR. FISHER BANQUETTED.

AUSTRALIAN DEFENCE.

HINT TO BRITISH LABOUR LEADERS.

LONDON, May 19.

Sir George Reid provided an entertainment for the Crosshouse school children.

The Ayrshire Miners' Union entertained Mr. Fisher at a banquet, Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., presiding.

The chairman said he could not help contrasting the arrival of the Emperor of Germany with that of Mr. Fisher. One represented the dominance of class, and the other represented the coming force—the rule of the common people. Mr. Fisher was without the adventitious aids or the tongue of a ready speaker, but by honesty and strong conviction he had reached the position of Prime Minister of Australia. He had done much to raise the human race to a higher plane.

Mr. Fisher, in replying to the toast of his health, said that his party adopted the view that the people must be free to sell their labour without let or hindrance. Privilege had not been eradicated even in the new country of Australia, and he hoped to see greater freedom and facilities for the people of Australia than they had at present. He had only one opinion about the political development of the toiling masses: he believed there should be no class (in the class sense of the term), but legislation for the whole nation.

Continuing, he said that whatever the Labour leaders in Britain might say about defence, he would ask them not to prescribe for the conditions obtaining in Australia. If he stood by and saw Australia undefended it would be a criminal neglect of one of his first duties.

Opportunities existed in Australia and New Zealand equal to, and probably better than, those in the closer Dominions. He quoted the ruling of Mr. Justice Higgins in regard to the payment of reasonable wages to workers. That, he declared, was the charter of their social policy.

ENTHUSIASTIC PUBLIC MEETING.

"BAD FOR SCOTLAND."

MR. KEIR HARDIE ON EMIGRATION.

After dinner a crowded public meeting welcomed Mr. Fisher. The speakers extolled his achievements, which, they declared, shed a lustre upon Ayrshire.

A motion congratulating the Labour party in Australia upon its success, and Mr. Fisher upon his election as Prime Minister, was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Keir Hardie, in the course of a speech, said that what Labour had done in Australia it could do in Britain. It was good for Australia, he added, to deplete Scotland of men, but it was bad for Scotland. He was no party to a policy which deluded men into going abroad when they were needed to rescue their own country.

Mr. Fisher, in thanking them for the welcome that had been extended him, outlined the early struggles of the Labour movement, and appealed to those who thought of emigrating to turn their attention to Australia.

On resuming his seat Mr. Fisher was accorded an ovation.

INGENUOUS AUSTRALIANS.

MR. FISHER'S EMPIRE VIEWS.

A PRESS COMMENT.

LONDON, May 18.

The "Pall Mall Gazette" in complimenting Sir George Reid (High Commissioner for Australia) on the striking reception he held yesterday, says that as Labour Ministers, Messrs. Fisher, Batchelor, and Pearce enlist curiosity, and are of interest to all politicians.

"What strikes one," the paper says, "about Mr. Fisher and his colleagues, is the ingenuousness with which they approach the biggest international problems. Mr. Fisher has high ideals. The bond of Empire with him is but the indication of a larger bond of amity among English speaking nations."

"This," the paper adds, "is an admirable sentiment, though it does not obliterate one's consciousness of the intervening difficulties. But yesterday's sentiments are pregnant of aid to the Imperial idea."

WAIHI GOLD MINING COMPANY.

ATTITUDE OF THE BOARD.

LONDON, May 18.

At a meeting of shareholders of the Waihi Gold Mining Company, Mr. Mitchison, who presided, said there was not the shadow of foundation for the suggestion that the directors possessed private knowledge respecting the mine, which they had not communicated to the shareholders.

He feared that the reefs did not possess the stable characteristics they had hoped, but the potentialities of the mine were enormous. The board did not object to a much more extended report than Mr. Richards had time to make, should the shareholders' desire.

The board was willing to meet the wishes of the New Zealand shareholders', by adding to the board one member, closely in touch with New Zealand.

The report was unanimously adopted.

The New Zealand resolution was not moved.

Mr. Arthur Rhodes was appointed a director.

ON PREFERENTIAL TRADE.

RECIPROCITY DEBATE IN THE LORDS.

LONDON, May 19.

In the House of Lords last night the Earl of Selborne raised a debate on the proposed reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States.

He said that it was the first time that a part of the Empire had obtained better terms from a foreign country than Britain, or the rest of the Empire. It was a precedent capable of large extension, and if it became general it would be difficult to see how the Imperial system was going to work. He criticised the supineness of the British Government in regard to the matter, and declared that the only escape from the difficulties ahead was Imperial preference and joint Imperial negotiations with foreign countries.

Lord Lucas, Parliamentary Secretary to the Colonial Office, replied that the Government were not alarmed at the crumbling of the tariff wall between the United States and Canada. It was impossible for Britain to interfere without infringing Canada's fiscal liberty. He agreed that Britain was entitled to the same treatment as Canada, and declared that the Foreign Office did not accept the American interpretation of the most-favoured-nation clause.

Viscount Haldane, Secretary of State for War, said that the enlargement of Canada's trade with the United States would increase the markets for British goods.

He added: "We regard preference as an utterly unscientific policy."

MEXICAN REVOLT.

MADERO GOES TO THE CAPITAL.

"IF NEGOTIATIONS FAIL."

MEXICO, May 18.

Peace is in sight. An armistice has been arranged for five days.

General Debarra has been appointed provisional President, pending an election.

General Madero is co-operating in the restoration of peace.

VANCOUVER, May 19.

General Madero is leaving Juarez for Mexico City, with the object, it is reported, of reconstructing the Government.

If the peace negotiations fail the rebels intend to push on with the war relentlessly, and to cut Mexico City off from all outside communication.

It is understood that complete mobilisation plans are already under way.

MOROCCO.

THE RELIEF COLUMN.

HARASSED BY TRIBESMEN.

PARIS, May 19.

Rebel tribesmen have made daring raids upon Major Brielard's relief column, thus delaying its advance towards Fez.

Major Brielard had much difficulty in getting his guns across the Beht River, and the rebels attacked him while the crossing was in progress.

A dense fog prevented the guns from being brought into action against the tribesmen, who captured 180 bullocks and 300 sheep.

TASMANIAN RECEPTION.

PRESENT TO LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BADEN-POWELL.

LONDON, May 19.

At the reception given in the Trocadero last night by Dr. J. M'Call, Agent-General for Tasmania, in honour of Sir N. E. Lewis, Premier of that State, and Lady Lewis, there were 550 guests present, including Mr. E. L. Batchelor, Australian Minister for External Affairs, and Mrs. Batchelor, and Senator G. F. Pearce, Minister for Defence, and Mrs. Pearce.

Tasmanian music was provided by Messrs. Lempriere Pringle and Robert and Roland Cunningham, and Misses Joyce Brown, Lucy Atkins, Kitty Parker, and Nora Parker.

During the evening Dr. M'Call, in handing Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell a presentation, subscribed by the Tasmanian Boy Scouts, recalled the fact that that was Mafeking Day.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell expressed his thanks for the presentation, and intimated that he accepted the invitation of Sir Harry Barron, the Governor, to visit Tasmania.

NATIONAL INSURANCE.

MEDICAL PROVISIONS.

LONDON, May 19.

The National Insurance Bill of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd-George, provides £4,200,000 annually for medical attendance, including drugs and dressings, and permits of a capitation fee of 6s per head.

Recognising the desirableness of giving the patients a choice of doctors, Mr. Lloyd-George proposes a wide panel of local medical men willing to serve.

EAST NOTTINGHAM ELECTION.

PETITION DISMISSED.

LONDON, May 19.

The petition in connection with the East Nottingham election has been dismissed.

After the general election, at which Captain J. A. Morrison (Unionist) defeated Mr. D. Stewart-Smith (Liberal) by 6272 votes to 4804, a petition was lodged on behalf of George Goodall and Joseph Reid, of Nottingham, two of the electors, against Captain Morrison's return on the ground that bribery had extensively prevailed. The seat was not claimed, nor was the respondent personally charged. A cablegram published on Wednesday stated that at the hearing of the petition a long procession of witnesses came forward who boasted of not having told the truth. They declared that their original statements had been made merely with a view of having the petition lodged, and they now denied the truth of those statements.

MR. M'GOWEN'S IMPRESSIONS.

"POLITICAL CANARDS."

LONDON, May 19.

Mr. J. S. T. M'Gowen, Premier of New South Wales, in the course of an interview yesterday, said that he had been much impressed by the acute contrasts between the extremes of wealth and poverty in England.

He was surprised that more people did not go to Australia, where there were opportunities, sunshine, and comfort, which did not exist under the older civilisations.

He had found from the representatives of the financial papers that there was even greater confidence in Australian securities than he had expected. Investing people in England, he said, did not appear to be so fearful of the Australian Labour Governments as their opponents in Australia had represented. As a matter of fact, they rather liked the safer and surer method of sinking funds as security for investments.

Financial men that he had seen had expressed confidence regarding the lines whereon the New South Wales Government was legislating, hence the State's position in the money market was growing, and her assets, railways and reproductive works, were coming to be regarded as the highest form of security.

Statistics showing the expansion of business, and the increases in the people's production and expenditure, had also helped to ensure the confidence of the investors, and to destroy the canards of interested politicians.

Mr. M'Gowen added that he hoped while in England to obtain information about several practical difficulties with which the Government was at present faced.

INSPECTING A TUNNEL.

LONDON, May 18.

Mr. M'Gowen, Premier of New South Wales, walked a mile and a half through a low level sewer in South London, having a diameter of 9½ft.

The tunnel is being constructed in compressed air through waterbearing strata at a depth of 40ft.

Mr. M'Gowen was favourably impressed with the method of construction.

AT THE COLONIAL OFFICE.

Mr. M'Gowen had an interview with Mr. Lewis Harcourt (Secretary of State for the Colonies) on several questions of importance to New South Wales.

In the evening Mr. M'Gowen dined with Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, M.P., and several Labour members of the House of Commons.

"PRACTICAL STATESMANSHIP."

LONDON, May 18.

The "Daily News," after cursorily dismissing Sir Joseph Ward's Imperial Council Scheme, remarks that whatever reorganisation the Imperial Conference may effect, there will be a modest readjustment of the Imperial Secretariat and Colonial Office, with possibly some more definite approach to the establishment of an Imperial Court of Appeal.

"This," remarks the paper, "will not be magnificent, but it will be practical statesmanship."

THE LABOUR PARTY'S POLICY.

INTERVIEWS WITH MR. FISHER.

"A WIDER FEDERATION."

LONDON, May 19.

Mr. Andrew Fisher, Prime Minister of the Commonwealth, in the course of an interview with a press representative yesterday, said that he had found a more friendly disposition towards Australia than there had been nine years ago. People were now of a most inquiring turn of mind respecting doings and prospects in Australia.

Asked whether he had found that the advent of the Labour party into power had disturbed the British investors, he replied that there was still an uneasy feeling among some ill-informed circles—an apprehension that their interests would be attacked. He emphatically declared, however, that this fear was groundless. Such views, he added, were often tinged with political prejudice.

"The Labour party's proposals and policy," he said, "contemplate no attack on legitimate investments. Their only aim is the safe development of the Commonwealth. It is quite foreign to the Labour party's policy to attack special interests.

"Steps similar to ours," he added, "are being taken in every progressive country, and they constitute the development of modern government. It is the extension of State enterprise."

Mr. Fisher again denied that the recent referendum applied to a measure or bill to nationalise monopolies. The referendum had merely sought to give power to the Federal Parliament to nationalise.

He said he had been delighted with his reception in London. There was, he remarked, a great willingness to hear what the delegates had to say in private conversation respecting the Commonwealth. He had met on the Continent statesmen who had expressed admiration of our system of oversea dominion government, and they had also remarked that Britain had dominions that were absolutely free yet with a mutual attachment. This seemed to him a system of government that might even lead to a wider federation.

BUDGET DEBATE.

THE POST OFFICE ESTIMATES.

CONTROLLING CABLE RATES.

LONDON, May 19.

In the House of Commons last evening Mr. H. L. Samuel, Postmaster-General, in discussing the Post Office estimates, stated that Bertram Mackennal, the Australian artist, had designed the majority of the new stamps which were about to be issued.

He stated that it was impossible to leave cable rates permanently at the uncontrolled discretion of the companies. The legitimate interests of the companies, however, should be safeguarded. His policy was to secure control through licenses empowering companies to land cables. These licenses would in future provide that objection could be taken to excessive rates.

The Postmaster-General intimated that he was inaugurating a system of farmers' telephones at a cost of £3 each annually.

ATTITUDE OF CONSERVATIVES.

OTTAWA, May 19.

TARIFF REFORM.

BASIS OF CLAIMS.

MINISTER WANTS INFORMATION.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The following memo. was issued by the Minister for Customs (Mr Tudor) to-day:—The attention of the Minister for Trade and Customs having been directed to various comments which have been made as to his action in asking for certain information and a declaration from applicants for tariff assistance. Mr. Tudor states that he is perfectly certain that the necessity for that information being furnished to the department as a preliminary for tariff consideration and revision must appeal to the public generally. The true objective of the policy of protection is employment at fair and reasonable rates of wages. The prosperity of our industries should be synonymous with the employment and prosperity of the working classes. It should be obvious that when an application is made for tariff assistance applicant should justify, by satisfactory and conclusive evidence, his claim for such assistance—firstly, that he is paying fair and reasonable rates of wages; secondly, that the industry is one that will provide employment to a reasonable extent, and with a reasonable promise of permanency; thirdly, that he will, as far as practicable, utilise Australian raw material for the purposes of his industry; fourthly, that the profits derived from his industry are insufficient for its success. Surely every bona fide applicant would cheerfully and promptly afford this information to the department. He knows that it is to his direct interest to do so. On the other hand, the manufacturer whose profits owing to the tariff are already generous and all sufficient, or the manufacturer whose industry is one which does not rely for its profits upon the employment of labour, or, lastly, the one who fails to pay his employees fair and reasonable rates of wages, will naturally hold back and refrain from furnishing information which will tend to discredit his claims for tariff assistance. There is another aspect of the question. It is quite possible that persons are reaping profits and advantages under our protective system who are not entitled to them, the support thus extended being diverted from deserving industries. It has been suggested that a tariff board should deal with these matters, but Mr. Tudor does not see how the information which is necessary could be given to a tariff board and not to the department. It is quite clear that if a body of the kind were appointed to advise the Government on tariff questions they would require to arm themselves with similar confidential information to that now asked by the Customs Department. It would be remembered that when a tariff commission sat last time the evidence the manufacturers gave was given openly, but in connection with the circulars lately issued manufacturers and others concerned had been assured that the information furnished by them would be treated with the greatest confidence and secrecy. There need therefore be no fear in that respect. Manufacturers could rest assured that no consideration could possibly be given to any claims for tariff consideration unless the full and precise particulars called for by the department were furnished in accurate detail.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

CARE OF PENSIONERS.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The Federal Acting Treasurer (Mr. Fraser) was asked to-day whether the Government had yet given consideration to the suggestion that medical supervision, or some like form of inspection, should be provided for those receiving old-age pensions, and in the care of other persons.

Mr. Frazer said that in the case of pensioners suffering physical disability the department endeavoured to arrange for their admission into an approved institution. There were about 150 in the Melbourne Benevolent Asylum, for whom some 8s per week was being paid. Wherever a warrantee was empowered to draw the pension the person so authorised was approved by the police, and if possible by the magistrate. In considering such a scheme as had been suggested by the jury in a recent case involving the care of pensioners, it had to be remembered that there were some 90,000 names on the pension lists, and in at least 25,000 instances there were warrantees. Some 10,000 pensioners had died during the last two years, and that gave an idea of the extent of medical inspection that might be required. The most minute investigation as to cost would be necessary, lest the whole scheme of pensions should be overweighted to the breaking point, particularly if medical fees were on anything like the scale disclosed in connection with the Richmond railway accident. The case which had prompted the suggestion was a most unfortunate affair, but was due to no neglect of duty on the part of the pension officers.

ALLEGED PERJURY.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

At the Footscray Court to-day, Arthur Balderson was charged with having committed perjury at Footscray on April 15, in wilfully signing a declaration before the Rev. Ernest Smith, when being married to Amy Cancaud, to the effect that he was 24 years of age, when he was only 19 years of age. The Bench was unanimous that Balderson was under the impression that he was over 21 years old. The case was therefore dismissed.

PARLIAMENTARY SALARIES.

BRISBANE, Friday.

During recent journeyings through the provinces several members of the Labour Opposition are said to have mooted the idea of increased pay for members of Parliament, either by the way of a direct increase on the salary of £300 a year, or by way of extra allowance for members representing the more distant constituencies.

KILLED ON THE RAILWAY.

A MIDNIGHT TRAGEDY.

A middle-aged man, who is supposed to have travelled from Sydney by the 12 o'clock train last night, was picked up a short distance from the Redfern station in a terribly mangled condition. The officials communicated with the Redfern police and the Civil Ambulance, and the man was conveyed to the Sydney Hospital, where it was found that life was extinct. The body was thereupon removed to the Morgue, and on his clothing being searched a letter addressed to "F. Smith, Old Canterbury-road, Lewisham," was found in one of the pockets.

WOODLUPINE TRAGEDY.

WARRANT ISSUED.

SUSPECTED MAN SEEN.

PERTH, Friday.

As the result of investigations made by the Criminal Investigation Department, a warrant has been issued for the arrest of David Horatio Smithson, otherwise known as David Smith, on a charge of the wilful murder of Frances Elizabeth Compton, at Woodlupine, last Saturday.

Smithson is the suspect for whom the detectives have been searching since the body of the outraged victim was found in the scrub at Woodlupine on Sunday. He was formerly a tram conductor, and has been missing from his lodgings in the city since Saturday night. The police have taken possession of his belongings.

A man of ragged appearance resembling the accused called at Bayswater railway station, four miles from the scene of the murder, last evening, and asked for a ticket to West Perth. On being told the train was not due for some time the man became excited, and ran across the line. He jumped into the carriage of a train going in the opposite direction. A woman in the carriage, alarmed at the man's dishevelled appearance, screamed, and the guard stopped the train. The man instantly jumped out of a door on the opposite side, and disappeared in the scrub. Police and trackers are searching.

WIRELESS IN SYDNEY.

TENPENCE A WORD.

ANOTHER PROBLEM FOR THE POST OFFICE.

THE BURDEN OF THE ATMOSPHERE.

As announced in the "Herald" yesterday, the Federal Government has arranged with the Australasian Wireless, Ltd., to send and receive wireless messages for the public from the station on the Australia Hotel until the Pennant Hills station is completed.

The charge agreed upon is 10d a word, with a minimum of 8s 4d.

The station is not in operation yet on a commercial basis, but it will probably be open for business in a few days' time. Anyone wishing to communicate with a steamer at sea will then be able to lodge an etrehgram at any telegraph office for transmission. That is to say, it will be first a telegram, and on reaching the hands of the operator at the Australia Hotel it will become an ethergram. The telegraphic rate will be added to the cost should it be despatched from an outside station, or from another State. Similarly, if a message received from a steamer has to be sent to an address in the suburbs or the country, the extra charge over the land lines will have to be paid. The wireless charge of 10d per word is made up of 6d coast rate (minimum 5s), and 4d the ship's charge (minimum 3s 4d). The company undertakes the delivery of the city messages.

The arrangement includes also the sending of messages when required to steamers in any port not connected by telephone.

The representatives of the company and the Government had another conference yesterday morning upon the final details. These have yet to be approved before Sydney takes a place on a business footing as regards wireless telegraphy. The Postmaster-General left last night for Victoria, and the decision of the Government in respect to the matters discussed will be settled on his arrival in Melbourne.

Although Sydney has at the moment no commercial standing in the world of wireless, there is plenty of wireless telegraphing going on. As a matter of fact, the atmosphere at night is fairly sizzling with messages going to and fro between the stations of amateur wireless enthusiasts and the vessels in the harbour and at sea. The Powerful, lying in Farm Cove, nightly makes a practice of sending the home news contained in the cablegrams in the newspapers to other warships out on the ocean. Those at sea are kept acquainted with all the news of the day by the vessels in port, and the hours of the night are best for the work. So heavily freighted are the atmospheric waves in the darkness that the Government has had to consider the question of imposing some limitation in the matter. The wireless stations in Sydney are under license, and, of course, could be required to be silent during certain periods. It was brought to the mind of the conference yesterday that it would be almost useless to establish a commercial station unless the messages of the public are given the right of way, and the Postmaster-General is considering what is to be done on the point.

It is probable that the opening up of the wireless business in this manner will result in its being largely availed of. The communications received from the New Zealand steamers when approaching the coast are fairly numerous, and the vessels travelling coastwise will also make use of it, though to a less extent.

WASHED UP ON ROCKS.

SYDNEY WOMAN FOUND.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The body of a woman named Alice Lawson was found this morning washed up on the rocks close to the Bogey-hole near the Newcastle beach. Deceased, who was the wife of Daniel Lawson, of Sydney, was on a visit to Newcastle. She was last seen alive yesterday, when she was walking through the Upper Reserve towards the Bogey-hole. As she did not return last night to the house where she was stopping, her husband and two other gentlemen set out this morning, and found the body as stated. Deceased's hat, one shoe, and part of one stocking were missing. Deceased is said to have been strange in her manner for sometime past.

OBJECTED TO MORMONS.

A FAMILY QUARREL.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A matrimonial dispute, which seems to have arisen largely through a desire on the part of the wife to become a member of the Mormon Church, was heard in the District Court to-day, when Elizabeth Doyle charged her husband, William Doyle, with leaving her without means of support.

Elizabeth Doyle said that her husband had objected to her going to Mormon meetings, and had accused her of leading an immoral life. He had thrown her out of the house, and refused to give her the furniture, which was her own. She had only taken an interest in the Mormon religion during the past two ears.

Mr. Dwyer, P.M.: Are there really members of the Mormon sect here?

Witness: There are Mormon missionaries. They teach no creed, simply the Bible, and you don't get the Bible in Churches, only concoctions. The Mormon religion has taught me to be patient with my husband.

William Doyle said that he was perfectly willing to take his wife back.

Mr. Dwyer said that he would adjourn the case until May 20 in order to allow of a settlement being arrived at.

"HOPELESS PHYSICAL WRECK."

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

The writ of attachment issued last week against T. Kennedy MacDonald, a legislative councillor, for the non-payment of a large sum of trust moneys due to the Greenfields estate, of which he was a trustee, was discharged by the Supreme Court to-day, it being shown that MacDonald was a hopeless physical wreck, and imprisonment would seriously imperil his life.

ESCAPEE RECAPTURED.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

A Port Darwin telegram states that the escaped prisoner Bert Gould was recaptured by the police last night about 11 o'clock. He camped in the bush near to the 2½-mile post still in prison garments, and had had no food since escaping on Wednesday. He appeared at the police court this morning, and was committed for trial.

TRAM COLLISION.

BRAKES FAIL TO ACT.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED.

As the result of a collision between an electric tram car and an engine drawing two trucks, on the Dowling-street-Railway line yesterday afternoon, five persons were injured and the car and trucks severely damaged.

The electric car, which was in charge of Driver C. O. Crinnon, left the Dowling-street depot shortly before 4 o'clock, and proceeded to the railway, via Cleveland-street. The car picked up a number of passengers at the various stopping places, and was well filled when the accident occurred.

Approaching Great Buckingham-street, the driver of the car noticed a steam motor, drawing two empty trucks, on the line some little distance ahead. As his car was travelling faster than the steam motor and if not checked would soon overtake it, he attempted to apply the air-brake. Then he states the brake refused to act, and although he attempted to check the progress of the car by means of the hand brake, he could not avert a collision, his car crashing into the rearmost of the two trucks, which was lifted clear from the rails and piled bodily upon the front truck.

The impact was so severe that the passengers in the electric car were thrown from their seats, windows were smashed, and the front of the car staved in. A moment after the accident the line presented a remarkable sight. In front were the two piled up trucks, behind the electric car with the front staved in, and its floor strewn with broken glass. Passengers, some cut and bleeding, others groaning, were painfully regaining their feet. Passengers received medical attention on the spot, and as none were seriously injured, were allowed to proceed to their homes after treatment.

THE INJURED.

William Simmons, 54, living in Darling-street, Balmain, injuries to the shoulder, and abrasions about the body.

Marjorie Hegarty, 12, living with her parents in Frederick-street, Rockdale, cuts on the cheeks and nose, abrasions, and shock.

Phinnpa Hayet, 6, living in Elizabeth-street, city, injuries to the head, and shock.

First-class Constable Nugent, of No. 1 Police Station, cuts on the nose, abrasions to face and body.

Constable Hobbs, of the Marrickville Police Station, injury to the knee and ankle, and abrasions about the body.

UNIVERSITY TROUBLE.

GOOD SENSE PREVAILS.

LETTER FROM THE CHANCELLOR.

It is gratifying to know that the trouble between the Professorial Board and the University graduates has been smoothed over, and nothing further is likely to be heard of it. The good sense of all has prevailed.

The committee of the Undergraduates' Association appeared before the board yesterday, and expressed regret for those things in connection with last Saturday's Commemoration which had caused annoyance to the Chancellor, Sir Normand MacLaurin, and to certain members of the board.

Professor Wilson, chairman of the board, presided, and he stated that the Chancellor had written a letter asking that the board should take no action in so far as anything affecting him was concerned. This referred to certain occurrences at the Chancellor's residence in Macquarie-street. There, however, remained the matter of the songs to which exception had been taken, and it was considered that some apology was necessary.

Mr. Utz, chairman of the Undergraduates' Association, stated that the songs were never meant to be taken seriously, and the committee regretted that they had been taken in the wrong spirit.

The board accepted the explanation.

Mr. Utz states that it is the intention of the committee of the Undergraduates' Association to send a letter of apology to the Chancellor, now that they know what actually occurred, and to state that they had no knowledge of the proceedings in Macquarie-street.

BARS SILTED UP.

STEAMERS DELAYED.

WHARFS FILLED WITH CARGO.

The silting up of the northern river bars, consequent upon the extraordinary weather during the summer and at times since, has had a serious effect upon shipping to and from Sydney and the North Coast. Delays in the transit of cargo, including foodstuffs, have been of frequent occurrence; and if the river people are not to be starved out authorities state that the Government will have to pursue a more vigorous policy with regard to the dredging of these entrances. Perishable products have to be sacrificed after a short lapse of time, and the steamship companies have had added losses by the delays, which in some instances have run into weeks.

The Bellinger River has been one of the most prolific sources of trouble. The North Coast S.S. Company's steamer Rosedale, which left Sydney on April 27, crossed this bar two days later, and has been there ever since. The same company's steamer Myee has been barbound in this river for over three weeks—since April 26. The steamers Our Elsie and Uralla, as well as several sailing craft, have since been added to the stuck-up list.

The steamer Maianbar was lucky in being able to reach Sydney yesterday, inasmuch as she had practically to drag her way over the crossing at the Manning.

The steamer Commonwealth, whilst inward bound at Cape Hawke, grounded yesterday morning early on the Tuncurry crossing.

Any vessels leaving Sydney to negotiate the bars have necessarily to be in light trim, and the effect of this has been the accumulation on the Sydney wharfs of a considerable amount of cargo intended for the river districts. It is a common occurrence on the wharves now to find potatoes going bad and onions sprouting.

The steamer Duroby, which has suffered a long delay at the Tweed, is still barbound at that river. Altogether the position has advanced to an acute stage.

WAR AEROPLANES.

ENCOURAGING INVENTORS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Senator M'Gregor, speaking of the military aeroplanes competition, for which a prize of £5000 is still on offer, said that many people with ideas had not got the machines, and the provision made by Parliament precluded help in this direction. The date for the production of the machines had been extended to June 30 next, but he did not expect to see many submitted. The Cabinet had yet to be consulted in the matter, but his own desire was to place money on the Estimates for the assistance of those with brains, but without the means to develop their ideas. A board might be appointed to investigate promising cases.

Referring to the possibility of forts being photographed from aeroplanes, the Minister said that all possible precautions would be taken. The department had no means of arresting photographers in mid-air, but the police or military could observe the landing places of the planes.

A THRILLING ESCAPE.

ENGINE-DRIVER'S PROMPT ACT.

WEST MAITLAND, Friday.

Prompt action on the part of an engine-driver averted a serious accident yesterday afternoon at the William-street crossing, East Maitland, when 10 children returning home from school escaped being run down by a passenger train.

The children were waiting for a coal train to pass, so that they might cross over, and were standing on the line when the 4.20 train from Newcastle swung round the bend. Owing to the noise made by the coal train the oncoming passenger train was not noticed by them; but the driver, I. Farnham, seeing the danger, sounded his whistle and jammed on the Westinghouse brake. He succeeded in bringing the train to a standstill within a few yards of the children, who were paralysed with fear, and had remained standing on the line.

The sudden stoppage of the train unseated a number of passengers, many of whom received a shaking.

FREIGHT CRISIS.

MINES CLOSING.

GREAT COBAR, LTD., AND THE RAILWAYS.

TEN THOUSAND MEN AFFECTED.

LITHGOW, Friday.

What appears likely to become a very serious industrial crisis has developed in connection with a difference that has arisen between Great Cobar, Limited, and the Railway Commissioners. Already the colliery at Lithgow is shut down, the Lithgow smelting works are closing, and within a few days, unless a radical change takes place, the whole of the Cobar mines and refining plant will be thrown idle, while the coke ovens at Rix's Creek, at Newnes, and on the South Coast will be either completely closed down or the output seriously restricted.

This undesirable state of affairs represents a crisis in the difference that has existed between the Great Cobar, Limited, and the Railway Department for the past five years. The case for the company is put thus:—Great Cobar, Limited, has a coal mine at Lithgow, coal from which is regularly despatched to Cobar. When it is brought out of the colliery it is weighed on the company's weighbridge. It is subsequently weighed on the weighbridge in the Eskbank railway yards, is taken to Cobar, and weighed on the railway weighbridge there, and is again weighed on the company's weighbridge at Cobar mines. Invariably, it is alleged, the weight at Eskbank goods yard is wrong. The same thing happens with the coke that is loaded on the North Coast. There is a difference, and it is alleged, it is always against the company. The company has a coal mine and coke works at Rix's Creek, near Singleton, and the railway weights at the despatching station are higher, it is contended, that those shown either at Rix's Creek works, at Cobar railway station, or at the Cobar mine. It is asserted positively by the company that the Cobar railway scales and the company's scales agree.

DISPUTED WEIGHTS.

After five years of agitation against the excessive weights of the railway the company through Mr Bellinger, the general manager, obtained permission from the Cheif Commissioner to test the scales which weighed the coke and coal that are sent to Cobar. Mr. Bellinger got the best man that was obtainable in Sydney for the purpose. This gentleman took check weights, and tested scales, were the result that all the railway scales that were checked, except the Cobar railway scales, were found to be unreliable. This was pointed out to the Chief Commissioner, who still considered that all freights that were shipped to Cobar should be paid on the weight as shown at the receiving stations. For some considerable time the Great Cobar, Ltd., had been guided by the weights shown at the Cobar railway weighbridge, and paid accordingly. The Commissioners, it is alleged, have, however, been charging the weight recorded at the receiving station. There has, consequently, been considerable difference in the amount admitted by the company and those charged by the Railway Department.

The deductions by the company were allowed to accumulate until a certain amount was reached, when the Railway Department came down on a bond that had been entered into by the company as security against freight charges. On the same day, however, the company paid its monthly bill. The department then allowed the freight charges to mount up until the surplus they had in hand was exhausted. Immediately this came about instructions were issued that no produce was to be accepted from Great Cobar, Ltd., for Cobar, without the freight being prepaid. Previous to this the company had offered to make out a cheque for the amount it claimed was in dispute, and put it into the hands of a third party, the dispute to be settled by an action-at-law. It also proposed to put up a bond of £8000 to operate against the monthly freight account, on condition that the weights were taken on the Cobar railway scales, which it knew to be in working order, and correct. The Chief Commissioner, however, would not accept this request, but insisted upon the freight being prepaid at the receiving station, and adjustment would be made later.

SERIOUS RESULTS.

As a result of the trouble the colliery at Lithgow has been closed, and the miners there are idle. The electrolytic department is closing, and over 100 hands locally are affected. But the Lithgow works are not alone in this matter. As the result of the department's decision not to handle the company's products unless prepayment is made, the whole of the company's works at Lithgow, Cobar, and Rix's Creek are involved. Coke cannot be sent from Rix's Creek; therefore the colliery and coke ovens at that place must be severely restricted in their output. The company has made arrangements with a South Coast coke firm for a big supply of coke, and to meet this new ovens were erected. But these will be thrown idle, as the coke cannot be sent without prepayment by the Great Cobar, Ltd. Coke is also drawn from Newnes, but as the same rule will prevail here no further coke supplies can be obtained in this quarter.

If the attitude taken by the Chief Commissioner is not dropped it will mean within a very few days the entire suspension of work at Great Cobar, and will involve, directly and indirectly, some 8000 to 10,000 persons.

The company further points out that coke and coal taken from Lithgow and places further east are left at stations along the western line to suit the department's convenience. Supplies thus sent regularly are allowed to accumulate until there may be sufficient to make up two or three trains. This is made up, rushed through to Cobar, and it is alleged the company receives notice to unload within 24 hours, or demurrage will have to be paid on the trucks. In several instances it was found absolutely impossible to unload within the time specified. It is cheaper to send copper regulus from Cobar to Sydney than to have it sent to Lithgow unloaded and refined, and and then sent on to Sydney.

Cobar is already moving in the direction of having the position put before the Ministry. The Great Cobar, Ltd., is one of the principal copper mines in Australia. Since August, 1906, when the present company was formed, £1,386,938 has been spent on improvements at its various properties, and in less than three and a half years it spent also £903,000 in wages, supplies, and freights, the Railway Department receiving some £80,000 per annum.

A GANG OF HOODLUMS.

STONE-THROWING AT ULTIMO.

Lately complaints have been made to the police that vehicles travelling along Wattle-street, Ultimo, after dark are almost invariably when passing Wentworth Park bombarded with stones thrown by a gang of young men. The glass fronts of motor-cars and the windows of hansom cabs are made the chief targets for attacks, although on more than one occasion the drivers of vehicles have themselves been injured.

The offenders are young men of from about 18 to 20 years of age. On one occasion they assaulted a driver who was ill-advised enough to get down from his cart for the purpose of coming to grips with them. A policeman who was passing along the street was also stoned. He immediately set off in pursuit of his assailants, but they were quickly lost to sight in the maze of lanes and small thoroughfares which abound in the vicinity of the park.

YONGALA WRECK.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

A suggestion by the Queensland Government that an inquiry into the loss of the steamer Yongala should be held by the Marine Board of this State was placed before the wardens at a meeting of the board on Thursday. It was agreed unanimously that such an inquiry was not within the province of the South Australian authorities.

THE BOYS' BRIGADE.

ANNUAL MEETING.

SPEECH BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

There was spread out in a portion of the main hall of the Y.M.C.A. last night an array of various artistic work, the product of skilled boy labour. The occasion was the annual meeting of The Boys' Brigade, at which the Lieutenant-Governor (Sir William Cullen) presided. There were exclamations of surprise and pleasure as those present crowded round the show tables. That boys could turn out such goods they could scarcely believe. In the subjects chosen lay ample evidence of boyish conceptions. Quite a number had directed their efforts to produce models of motor-cars and taxi-cabs. And they turned out some really beautiful work. The designs were of wood, and the fret-saw had been employed to good purpose. The minutest details had been observed even to the lamps and mud-guards. Another subject in fret-work was the story of Humpty Dumpty. The most attractive of all the work probably was the artistic decoration of China and glass. Skill and industry had produced articles of sound commercial value, for which there will always be a demand. There was a variety of other saleable commodities too numerous to mention.

Apologies were received from the Lord Mayor, the Minister for Education (Mr. Beeby), and Sir James Fairfax (hon. treasurer).

The hon. secretary (Mr. Leonard Stephen) read out the following letter from Sir James Fairfax:—

Dear Sir,—I am disappointed in not attending the meeting of the subscribers and friends of the Boys' Brigade, with which it has been my privilege to be associated for many years. We have good evidence of the advantage the institution has been to many lads who made their start on the right track through the help and encouragement given by the teachers, and the kindness of ladies who devoted themselves to their interests. The report to be presented by you at the meeting shows the work of the brigade in all its branches, and the number attending the rooms, and it also shows how dreadfully you are cramped for the necessary accommodation.

As your honorary treasurer has a small sum in hand as the beginning of a land and building fund, may I suggest that this subject be made the special feature of your proceedings, and that an appeal be made to the meeting, and through the meeting to the public, for funds sufficient to carry out the proposal that the Boys' Brigade shall have its own freehold habitation.

The lads of Sydney, whom you seek to benefit, we have proved are worthy of care and education to fit them for the privileges and duties of good citizenship.

Trusting that the annual meeting may be a great success and may enlist the sympathy on behalf of the boys who need your help.

Yours faithfully,
JAS. R. FAIRFAX,
Hon. Treasurer.

The Lieutenant-Governor, who was accompanied by Lady Cullen, moving the adoption of the annual report said:—

"I offer my congratulations to the boys who are members of the brigade and to the committee who have had the affairs of the brigade in their hands, and to those who have worked so zealously and unselfishly, as this report shows, in order to make the brigade both useful, and a means of happiness to its members, the boys. (Cheers.) Their appreciation is the surest tribute possible of the success of the efforts of the committee, and of the voluntary helpers, and of the subscribers. Boys generally have plenty of faults. But there is one fault they are free from, and that is humbug. (Cheers.) If they show appreciation of a thing it is because they like it. When you know a thing is good for them and they like it you may be sure the right people have it in hand. (Cheers.) The increase in the numbers of the brigade is another gratifying tribute to those who work for it. There is one feature in the report which I admit presents less cause for pleasure, and it lies in the remarks about the unsuitability of the building in which the work of the brigade is being carried on. An institution that can offer a pleasant and useful meeting place for boys, and at which there is an average attendance of 64 in the summer months and more in the winter months, deserves better fortune in a city like Sydney. (Cheers.) If the remarks in this report are presented prominently to our citizens, I feel quite sure, although it may be a matter of some time, and difficulty, that their appreciation of those who are helping the boys in this way, and the encouragement they would like to give to the boys themselves, will bring about a remedy for the state of things presented here. It is not right that they should be so cramped, that the room is not sufficiently ventilated, and that those who provide amusement and activities for the boys are not able to move round and supervise. In this connection I was glad to see the report mention that good friend of all youths, Sir James Fairfax. (Applause.) He has offered £150 towards the commencement of a fund to secure a building more suitable for the operations of the brigade. (Applause.) And there are other citizens who need only to be told, to have their interest in it. It is likely that next year will show some advance towards a remedy. If the brigade should increase in numbers to the same extent as last year, 71 being added, the condition of things must become worse and worse, and, either the institution will have to cramp its activities, or what is complained of now, will become a greater source of trouble as time goes on. The community owes its gratitude to those helpers of the institution, past and present, who have given their time to furthering its work—to the honorary secretary and to the honorary treasurer, and to those who have given their time and assistance in the instruction and amusement of the members of the brigade. To the members of the committee, and to all who have worked for the institution, the community owes its gratitude, because nothing can be better than to give the youngsters a chance for developing their capacity for good, their power of being members of an Australian community, of which an Australian community will have cause to be proud." (Applause.)

Mr. J. R. Love said that they were very anxious to put up the new building. They had been offered a very good piece of land and the building itself would not cost very much. He trusted that before they had another meeting they would succeed in attaining their object.

The report was unanimously adopted. The statement of receipts and expenditure showed a credit balance of £101 5s 2d.

The following office-bearers were appointed on the motion of Mr. A. W. Green, seconded by Sir Henry Stephen:—Patron, the Governor Lord Chelmsford, K.C.M.G.; general committee, vice-presidents, Sir Henry Stephen, the Lord Mayor of Sydney; hon. treasurer, Sir James Fairfax; hon. secretary, Mr. L. CUSTOMS INQUIRY.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN CASES.

FREMANTLE, Friday.

Mr. O. T. Orr, Chief Inspector of Customs of Western Australia, who was recently suspended from duty on various technical charges, has been reinstated as from the date of suspension. He resumed duties on Saturday last.

In connection with the recent Customs sensation in which Boarding Officers Smith and Bryant were dismissed from the service, a petition is now being signed at Fremantle with the object of having the matter reconsidered. In due course a petition will be forwarded to a member of the House of Representatives for presentation to the Federal authorities.

The Students' Society of the Institute of Incorporated Accountants of N.S.W. has elected Mr. F. W. Larkins as the winner of the prize given by the associates for the best paper on "The Advantages or Otherwise of Converting a Firm or Partnership into a Liability Company."

We have received from the Crown Studios several artistically-produced portraits of his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir William Cullen.

Yesterday Eddie Johnston, living in City-road, Darlington, was fishing off Macquarie Point, when he slipped and fell into the water. Being unable to swim he was in serious difficulties, when the cry of a number of boys, who were fishing off the point, attracted the attention of George Cornwell, of Lennox-street, Newtown, who effected a timely rescue.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

PELAW-MAIN TROUBLE.

POSSIBILITY OF SETTLEMENT.

KURRI KURRI, Friday.

The difficulty which faced the federation was to-day shunted on to the lodges in the district. Each one is to hold a meeting at once and decide whether or not the Pelaw-Main men should resume under the old conditions. The first meeting held was that of Pelaw-Main itself. They decided to wait to see what the other lodges would do. It is generally expected that all the others will endorse the action of the delegate board, and that work will be resumed on Monday or Tuesday. All the other collieries have had particularly busy times, and if they reject the delegate board's recommendation they will be called upon to pay a 25 per cent. levy.

MARVEL LOCH STRIKE.

SOUTHERN CROSS, Thursday.

The Marvel Loch strike is apparently ending. The men are to be permitted to return to work at 11/8 and 12/8. It is anticipated all the men will be back again at work on the district mines within a day or so.

RAILWAY LABOURERS' STRIKE.

BRISBANE, Thursday.

The Commissioner of Police has been advised that 70 casual labourers employed on the railway works at Townsville railway yards and Plant's Hill have struck work for an additional 6d a day. Twenty-five were paid off, and the remainder are standing by to see if their demand is likely to be granted.

The Minister for Railways yesterday replied in the negative to a deputation which waited on him on the subject.

NAVVIES' STRIKE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In connection with the strike of 105 navvies engaged in the construction of the gravitation yards at North Melbourne, the Railway Commissioners to-day decided to pick a gang of about 50 "gallopers out," who should receive 7s 6d a day. The men asked that their wages should be increased from 7s to 8s a day. The decision of the Commissioners will be put before a meeting of the men to-morrow.

YERONG CREEK, Friday.

Rabbit trappers have suspended operations here since the advent in this district of an organiser from the union now attempting to control this work. The price per pair (6d) demanded appears to be above the buying limit, and a cessation of supplies for freezing purposes is the result.

REDUCED SENTENCES.

CHAMBER OF MINES PROTESTS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Mines yesterday, the following motion was agreed to and ordered to be sent to the Government,—"That the council of the Chamber of Mines of Victoria deplores the leniency of Acting Judge Neighbour in reducing the punishment inflicted on three miners found guilty of being in possession of gold for which they could not satisfactorily account, from 12 months' imprisonment to fines of £10 each, and requests the Government to introduce legislation as early as possible next session to prevent a similar occurrence in future."

At the conference of aldermen of suburban municipalities, held on Thursday night, the following motion by Alderman Swaine was unanimously carried,—"That, in the opinion of this meeting, better facilities for enrolment should be given to occupiers by abolishing the oral tenancy form."

ILLAWARRA POULTRY AND PIGEON SHOW.

AN INTERESTING DISPLAY.

The eighth annual show of the Illawarra Suburbs Poultry and Pigeon Club was opened yesterday at the Town Hall, Rockdale, by Mr. H. G. Broe, Mayor of Rockdale. The entries are not quite so many as last year, but the better quality of the exhibits penned more than compensate for this. The gold medal given by the New South Wales Poultry and Pigeon Club for the best bird in the show was won by G. Duncan with a typical Indian Game hen, of good size and colour, shown in the pink of condition. The principal classes were Leghorns, Orpingtons, and the novice section. The birds are well penned and staged in the society's new coops. The silver cup presented by Lever Bros. for the whitest bird in the show was won by H. Thomas with a white Orpington pullet. The trophy for best white Orpington in the show was secured by G. C. Warner with his well-known winning hen. Some good pigeons are shown. The show will remain open until 10 to-night. AMUSEMENTS.

THE SOUSA CONCERTS.

There was an immense attendance at the Town Hall last night, when Mr. Sousa's programme for the evening was artistically far in advance of Thursday's, and included music for all tastes. The concert opened with the "Peer Gynt" Suite, the first movement of which, "Morning," almost entirely for wood-wind and horns, was rendered with the most delicate nuances. "Ase's Death," wherein the lament sank at last to rest in a touching pianissimo, and "Anitra's Dance," in which the oboe nearly approximated to the muted violins of the original score; and "In the Hall of the Mountain King," with its grotesque clash and roar—were one and all finely rendered so as to realise the essential spirit of Grieg's music. The suite "The Last Days of Pompeii" (Sousa) revealed a theme for cor anglais of touching charm, accompanied by harp, in the "Nydia" movement, and the suggestion of earthquake at the end, followed by a brief allusion to Nature at peace after fearful ravages, completed the tone pictures. Many favourite Sousa marches were presented, and the audience took a special delight in Mr. Sousa's clever scoring of "Waiting at the Church," the humorous touches causing general laughter. Miss Virginia Root sang brilliantly "Will You Love when the Lilies are Dead?" with the old Welsh air, "All Through the Night," as encore. Miss Nicoline Zedeler played Saint-Saens's "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso" with the utmost refinement of expression, and the violinist rendered as encore the Beethoven "Minuet." Mr. Herbert L. Clarke's cornet solos were admired.

This afternoon Mr. Sousa will oblige the Professional Musicians' Association by repeating Richard Strauss's "The Pranks of Eulenspiegel," and Hartmann's fine "Vikings" overture will be included, as well as selections from "La Boheme." In the evening there will be the "Oberon" overture, and Sousa's suite, "At the King's Court." There will be a concert here on Monday, at Maitland on Tuesday, Newcastle on Wednesday, and resume in Sydney on Thursday, and onwards. Attendances are very large. The plan is at Carnegie and Son's.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

This afternoon there will be a matinee of "Jack and the Beanstalk" at Her Majesty's Theatre, where the spectacular extravaganza continues to draw large audiences. The ballets, marches, and transformation scenes are all richly and artistically staged, and the Pantzer troupe, and a long list of artists, headed by Mr. Neil Kenyon and Miss Sibyl Arundale, contribute to the general success.

CRITERION THEATRE.

At the Criterion Theatre, "The Gay Gordons" presents a merry musical play in the beautiful setting of the Highlands of Scotland, as viewed at sunrise with the light increasing over heights and valleys. Songs and dances and irresponsible gaiety supplemented the love story in which Clarke and Meynell's new English Comic Opera Company has made a hit. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"The Dollar Princess" has brought back the favourites of the J. C. Williamson New Comic Opera Company to the Theatre Royal, where Misses Young, Godwin, and Sargent, Messrs. Gilbert, Greene, Percy, and Roberts are in the forefront of a strong cast. The music by Dr. Leo Fall is captivating, the famous valse air in particular, having travelled all round the world. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

"THE BALKAN PRINCESS."

Mr. J. C. Williamson now announces the date of the "Balkan Princess," at the Theatre Royal, as Saturday, June 3. Mr. Wybert Stamford will direct the stage, and the cast will be:—Princess Stephanie of Balaria, Miss Florence Young; Olga (lady in waiting), Miss Vie Parson; Magda (Royal "char-lady"), Miss Lottie Sargent; Sofia, Miss Olive Godwin; Duke Sergius, Mr. Frank Greene; Prince Boris, Mr. Langford Kirby; Blatz (his accomplice), Mr. W. S. Percy; Count Boothy, Mr. Pat Bathurst; Captain Radomir, Mr. Edmund Sherras; Lieutenant Varna, Mr. Cecil Outtrim; Proprietor of Bohemian Restaurant, Mr. Chas. Albert; Henry (waiter), Mr. Bert Gilbert; Herman (chucker-out), Mr. Arthur Bayne; Lounger, Mr. Redge Carey.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

"Under Two Flags" will be produced at the Adelphi Theatre to-night, with scenes illustrating the incidents in Ouida's novel—Bertie Cecil, as a Guardsman in London, then as a private in the Chasseurs d'Afrique in Algiers, the rivalry between Cigarette and Princess Corona, the insult of the Black Hawk, and Cigarette's famous ride across the desert. Mr. George Marlow's company will include:—Bertie Royellieu, Mr. Inman; Rake, Mr. Welch; Chateauroy, Mr. Dicer; Ezra Baroni, Mr. O'Neill; Princess Corona, Miss Nellie Ferguson; Lady Beatrice, Miss Essie Clay; and Cigarette, Miss Ethel Buckley. There will be a matinee on Wednesday and thereafter throughout the season at this theatre.

The seventh Sunday sacred pictorial and musical concert will be continued to-morrow night at the Adelphi Theatre under the direction of E. J. Kilpatrick. A number of the best sacred scenic, industrial, and dramatic subjects will be screened, with appropriate music by a complete orchestra. The doors will be opened at 7 o'clock.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

At the Tivoli Theatre, both afternoon and evening, Mr. Harry Rickards will introduce "The Columbia Comedy Trio" in an operatic absurdity, and Mlle. Blanche Charmeroy, pianist and singer, from the Folies Bergeres, Paris. The Seven Perezoffs, in their juggling farce, "An Animated Night at Maxim's," Reichen's Dogs, the lady acrobats, "Black and White" (last nights), the Kavanagh Boys, Cadwal and Verne, and many other artists, will appear.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

The feature at the National Amphitheatre, afternoon and evening, will be the appearance of Miss Daisy Harcourt, the Australian comedienne, who has just returned under engagement to Brennan's Amphitheatres, Limited, after performing with almost sensational success in the best halls in America and London. Miss Harcourt will sing at least four songs as the best means of showing her versatility. Miss Harcourt will be supported by Hassan, the four Valdares, the National Duo, Doris Tindal, Frank Yorke, Walter White, Charles Pope, the Titcoms Trio, Olga Pennington, and others.

A sacred concert will be held in the National Amphitheatre to-morrow (Sunday) night. Included in the pictorial part of the programme will be "The Fall of Troy."

LYCEUM, SPENCER'S THEATRESCOPE.

To-night, and matinee to-day, the last performance of the intensely successful picture play, "The Fatal Wedding," and "Tin Can Band," will be given. There is no abatement in the crowds at the Lyceum, but previous fixtures demand its retirement. To-night also is the last of "The Showgirl's Stratagem," "Romance of Clancy," "Making Copra," some excellent comedies, and the popular picture taken by Mr. Spencer of the arrival of Sousa in Sydney. Monday night, in addition to an entirely new programme, will be "Dan Morgan."

WEST'S AT PRINCESS'S AND PALACE.

This afternoon and evening West's, Limited, will open their season with the much talked-of "Henry VIII." series, in connection with which, in addition to the prize of five guineas for the best school essay under the conditions advertised, there will be special matinee concessions to large parties of school children. These beautiful pictures will show Tree (Wolsey), Bourchier (Henry VIII.), Violet Vanbrugh (Queen Katharine), and other artists, as they appeared on the stage, with costumes and scenery, including all the great historical tableaux. Plan arrangements are duly notified.

PRIZE FOR NEW BIOGRAPH DRAMA.

West's now offer a prize of 25 guineas for the best kinematograph drama submitted on or before June 21. The subject must deal with Australian life, but bush-ranging incidents are barred. Three experts will judge the stories on points for sensational situations, photographic possibilities, dramatic intensity, and attractive title. The sole rights of the chosen drama will become the exclusive property of West's, Limited. Further details are duly advertised.

SYDNEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

The Sydney Symphony Orchestra (conductor, Mr. Joseph Bradley) will give their second concert in the Town Hall next Saturday, at 3 p.m. Saint-Saens' magnificent "Symphony No. 3" in C minor, for orchestra, grand organ, and pianoforte, will be played for the first time in Sydney, with Miss Bessie Beattie at the first piano, Mr. Robinson at the second piano, and Mr. G. Christian Hellemann at the grand organ. There will also be a first performance of Dvorak's "Notturno." The other items will be "Oberon" (Weber), "Hungarian Rhapsody in F Major No. 1" (Liszt), and "Marche Slave" (Tchaikowsky). All subscriptions include reserved seats for the concert in conjunction with the famous Sheffield Choir. The plans for next Saturday's concert open at Paling's to-day, at 10 o'clock.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

The Royal Sydney Philharmonic Society's next concert, at the Town Hall, on Friday, June 9, will include beautiful choral excerpts from "The Meistersingers," the "Peer Gynt" Suite, and the introduction to the fifth act of Reinecke's "King Manfred." Mr. Joseph Bradley will also conduct the "Shepherd's Farewell Chorus" from Berlioz's "Childhood of Christ," and Handel's "Coronation Anthem." The reappearance of Mlle. Antonia Dolores, who will sing Handel's "Let the Bright Seraphim," (with trumpet obbligato, and orchestra led by M. Henri Staell) will be another feature in this remarkable programme.

THE TRUMAN FESTIVAL.

A Truman festival, consisting or choral and orchestral music composed by Ernest Truman, is now being organised to take place towards the end of the year. Mr. Truman, one of the few original and scholarly composers the State possesses, will then bring forward his new cantata on the subject of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," recently published, and some reference to the scope of which will be found in due course under the heading "New Music." Amongst the other works to be performed will be a new setting of the "Magnificat" (in Latin), and a symphonic poem, entitled "Lasca, la Mexicaine." The last-named will be romantic and descriptive, suggesting the open-air life of Mexico, a buffalo stampede, and the tragic sacrifice of Lasca's life. Herr Slapoffski has undertaken the direction of this festival in honour of the City Organist, and will conduct an orchestra of 60 performers and a chorus of some 200 voices. It will be seen that the festival is likely to form an art event of some magnitude.

IMMIGRANT AND FARMER.

SINGLETON, Friday.

At the small debts court yesterday John Mapp, a young Englishman, sued William M'Taggart, of Howe's Valley, to recover the sum of £2 10s, alleged to be due for wages. The plaintiff stated that he was sent up by the Labour Bureau, and was met by M'Taggart at the Singleton railway station and driven out to defendant's farm. He informed M'Taggart that he could use an axe, but stated he was unable to milk, although he could soon learn. The arrangement with the Labour Bureau was that he was to get £1 a week and keep. He did ringbarking and other work, and after a conversation with defendant about money he left him, and got work on the railway at Murrurundi.

Defendant in his evidence stated that he asked plaintiff if he could use the axe, and he replied that he could not. Witness told him that he could not give an inexperienced man £1 a week, as he could get a number of experienced hands for that wage; but as Mapp had paid his fare up, and was stranded, witness said he would do the best he could for him, and took him on out of charity. He could not use the axe, nor milk, and had to be employed in bailing up the cows.

The P.M. (Mr. C. H. Gale) told defendant that he must have known, when he took Mapp out to the farm, that he had to pay the current wages. He also advised the defendant next time he took a man for colonial experience for nothing he had better have the agreement in writing.

Defendant: They should get their experience for nothing, for they are not worth anything.

The magistrate gave a verdict for £2 10s, with 6s costs of court, 12s for railway fare, and 7s 6d for the loss of a day's wages; in default, one month's imprisonment with hard labour in Maitland gaol. The defendant drew a cheque for the total amount—£3 15s 6d—which a constable was sent to cash.

FINANCIAL.

JOHN BRIDGE AND CO., LTD.

The annual report of the above company covers the 12 months ended March 31. It reports the most successful period since the establishment of the company 42 years ago. The paid-up capital of the company a year ago was £55,007, in 22,000 6 per cent. cumulative preference and 33,007 ordinary shares. This was increased in April and May, 1910, by the sale of 15,333 ordinary shares, making the paid-up capital £70,340. Since then 29,600 ordinary shares were offered to the public, and doubly applied for at £1 premium. The net profit for the year was £19,285, plus the premium on shares of £29,660. A dividend of 10 per cent. absorbs £7800, and a bonus of 10 per cent. £7800, a bonus to staff £400, to reserve fund £30,000, carrying £1817 forward.

BARRIER TRAMWAYS, LTD.

The following company has been registered in accordance with the Companies Act, 1899:—"The Barrier Tramways, Limited," capital £100,000 in 100,000 £1 shares. Objects of the company, to apply to Parliament for a bill to construct a tramway from Broken Hill to Cockburn, on the South Australian border, and if the bill is obtained to construct and work the said tramway. The first directors are C. W. B. King, H. F. Halloran, and Solomon Cohen, and the registered office is 129 Pitt-street. The following are the subscribers to the articles of association:—C. W. B. King, Solomon Cohen, Geo. Seales, G. W. S. Lucas, H. F. Halloran, F. W. Humphery, and A. M. Hemsley.

COLONIAL MUTUAL LIFE'S DIRECTORS.

The action taken by a section of the policyholders in the Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society to substantially increase the fees of the directors has been most widely discussed in business circles, says Thursday's "Argus." What turned the scale in favour of the resolution was the testimony of Mr. Bruce Smith, a non-paid member of the Sydney board, of the work that devolved upon the head office board in Melbourne. In the Colonial Mutual Life office the fact was patent that the concern had been stagnating. Within the past 18 months the management has pushed business with the utmost vigour. This activity, though long in coming, is welcomed by policyholders. Still, it has entailed additional responsibilities on the directors. If they have to devote more time to their duties, then they are entitled to additional remuneration. It cannot be forgotten that they have to watch over the investment of funds amounting to over £3,000,000. When times are prosperous care in investment is most needed. When also business is being pushed with unexampled vigour, then the character of the new business has to be more closely scrutinised to prevent discontinuances going beyond a certain point. The introduction of the industrial business, the venturing in the field of accident insurance, must entail additional oversight on the part of the board. On those grounds better fees can be justified, because the best work has to be expected. It rests with the policyholders, then, to satisfy themselves that the board is giving that attention to the affairs of the society that high fees require. The defect in all life offices is the difficulty of introducing fresh blood into the board-room. It is difficult to suggest any alteration in present methods, but some change is needed.

HARTS, LIMITED.

At a general meeting of shareholders in Harts, Limited, held on the 17th inst. at the registered office of the company, Mr. Ebenezer Sheppard was elected to the office of director in place of Mr. William Meredith, who resigned in order that the shareholders could have an opportunity of nominating and electing a representative on the board.

SCARCITY OF LABOUR.

On all sides we hear of industrial enterprises being hung up for want of labour. The manager of the Abermain Colliery has handed us an extract from a letter received from the colliery manager, which states:—"The position as regards labour is most unsatisfactory, there not even being sufficient men available to properly work one shaft. No. 1 shaft is working with a limited number of men. No. 2 is at a standstill, and the other two shafts we cannot start at all. From the time (about five months) the present contractors took the work in hand there has been a shortage of labour throughout. Notices have been posted in Cobar, Millthorpe, and other centres, but there is practically no response. The Immigration bureau has been communicated with and the reply is 'no men available.' The rate we are offering is 11s a day. It is very strange that miners should approach the Government for relief work, when regular employment can be obtained for eight or nine months at 11s per day." This company is expending nearly £100,000 in new developments.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

A very active business was done in all shelf lines of manufactured metals yesterday, country storekeepers purchasing very freely. The run on axes continued. Stocks both of Plumbs and Kellys were reported to be very low. The former were selling at 50/ to 52/ a dozen, and the latter at 43/ to 44/. Nails commanded a ready sale at revised list prices for case lots, and for broken lots an extra 5 per cent. was asked. All heavy metal lines were in request, with the exception of lead manufactures, in which a large turnover was reported at the quoted prices. Plaster (King's Windsor) was selling at 16/6, and cement at 12/ to 13/, distributing.

The feature of the oil market was a strong inquiry for linseed. Several of the houses seemed short of supplies, and as none of their competitors had a great deal to spare, the likelihood of the present high prices holding their own for some time was admitted. Blundell and Spence's was selling at 5/6 for raw, and 5/8 for double boiled, and Ferguson's at 5/5 and 5/7. Latest cabled quotation of B. and S. was 3/8 c.i.f., a fall of a halfpenny on the week. This price would be equal to a laid down cost here of 5/ a gallon. Turpentine had firmed up considerably at 5/7 for Pinetree, and 5/10 for Pratt's. The comparative lowness of quotations for the new crop was admitted, but it was pointed out that none could be here till August, and until it does arrive there should be no drop in prices, especially as the little which will be imported before that day has all been bought at high prices. The latest c.i.f. quotation was 3/11, the laid down cost here being about 4/3. Castor oil was distributing locally at 3/8½ to 3/9. Whiteleads were firm at the quoted prices. Kerosene oil, to arrive middle of June, was quoted at /10½.

In general grocery lines the mild inquiry continued to be for salmon, for which the demand at this time of the year may be said to be abnormal. Coffee remained firm, although, according to latest mail advices, values in London had eased considerably. Rice was finding a steady market at the quoted prices, and all spices and peppers were firm. Reduced rates had stimulated business in the various seeds. Business in tea was at the lowest ebb, stocks being practically depleted. No auctions were held this week. Colombo advised that wet weather beyond the normal had had the effect of reducing supplies, and it was expected that the next auction at Colombo would show hardening values.

All jute lines were firm, but beyond a few country orders there was little business noted. The country, however, was not buying as it should to meet requirements: apparently it is waiting to the very last in the hope of lower costs. With the laid-down cost from Calcutta above local spot prices any hope of cheaper lots in the near future would seem to be illusory. Some inquiries were made for season's cornsacks, August-October shipment, but prices of about 6/3 frightened buyers off. Spot quotations were strong at 5/7½.

PETROLEUM PRODUCTION IN NEW ZEALAND.

The Taranaki Petroleum Company has earned the first £2500 of the bonus offered by the New Zealand Government for the production of the first 250,000 gallons of crude petroleum in the Dominion. The announcement was made by the Minister for Public Works, Mr. M'Kenzie, who, on his visit to the bores, appeared surprised at the extent of the company's operations, the vigorous flow of petroleum from the bores, the use made of it and of the natural gas for fuel, and, above all, of the vast quantities of crude oil stored in huge underground tanks.

The amount of wool manifested at Darling Harbour yesterday totalled 267 bales.

BREADSTUFFS.

Though wheat was bought by shippers at unchanged prices yesterday, 3/4 to 3/4½ ex trucks Darling Island, the market was really weaker owing to the difficulty of selling abroad at a quotation which would bring in an adequate return. Not so much is coming down from the country, a fact shown by the railway returns, and most of the wheat now offering is that already in shippers' hands for storage. Millers bought at 3/5¼. The overseas market was cabled weak, with a downward tendency, but sellers have not reduced their quotations. Cargoes were quoted nominally at 35/ to 35/3 per quarter for March or earlier shipment. Good rains had fallen in Russia, rendering buyers anxious lest improved crop prospects in that Empire should release more of its wheat reserves for the world's markets.

Bran and pollard had a big fall in price yesterday. Recent rains have greatly lessened the demand from the country, and very little was bought at £6 a ton, except by those who were absolutely forced by circumstances to do so. Millers accordingly at their meeting yesterday made the substantial reduction of £1 a ton, the price now being £5. There was a fair demand for flour at £8 10/.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 1023 tons wheat and 208 tons flour were manifested to arrive.

WHEAT LOADINGS AND STACKS.

During the week ended May 13 the quantity of wheat despatched from all country stations was 26,764 bags, compared with 41,[illegible] bags for the previous week, and 43,308 bags in the same period last year. Since the commencement of December to May 13 there have been despatched from the country by rail for Sydney 4,066,028 bags.

The stacks at country stations and Darling Island on May 13 were 2,355,419 bags, compared with 2,423,801 bags last week, and 1,992,015 on May 14, 1910. The stacks were distributed on Saturday last as follows:—

In oats business was passed at 2/3½ per bushel f.o.b. Port Adelaide. Field peas for export made 3/9 to 3/11½ f.o.b. Butter had a firm demand at auction. Chaff had good inquiry from Western Australia at £3/17/6 per long ton, f.o.b., bags included.

EGGS STILL FALLING.

CHEESE QUIET.

The price of eggs on Friday was in a state of uncertainty. Here one merchant quoted 1/9, there another was at 2/, and prices in between were anywhere. To take a general average of the prices quoted, 1/10 to 1/11 would be the figure. Rivers were offering at 1/7 for best, and railways at 1/8. This brings all brands of eggs very close together, which is only to be expected with cool weather and increased supply of new-laids. Cheese was very inactive on Friday, and mention was made of a possible fall before long if the present heavy arrivals continue. Good cheese was sold at /5½, and rough stuff at lower rates. Other lines were unaltered.

AUCTION SALES.

THE RAILWAY MARKET.

PRICES UNALTERED.

Though buyers were in fairly good attendance at the railway market on Friday, business continued to be somewhat dull, chaff in particular finding considerable difficulty in disposal, though prices, particularly for choice quality, remained at their former level. Choice chaff brought from 4/9 to 4/10, prime from 4/2 to 4/5, and good from 3/11 to 4/. Medium small bales of lucerne hay sold at 2/6, and prime large bales at 4/2, while prime lucerne chaff realised 4/, and inferior 2/11. Oats were unsaleable, only one truck being offered, but 2/7½ was obtained for two trucks of prime dry yellow maize, and [illegible] for medium chick wheat. Potatoes experienced a fairly ready sale. Choice quality being knocked down at from 5/5 to 5/9, prime at from 5/ to 5/4, and good at 4/9. A consignment of pumpkins was passed in.

Consignments included 21 trucks of chaff, 7 of lucerne hay, 3 of lucerne chaff, 5 of maize, 4 of wheat, 1 of oats, 15 of potatoes, and 1 of pumpkins, totalling 57, of which 36 were passed in.

MINING.

SILVER INACTIVE, BUT STEADY.

COPPER SLACK, TIN FIRM, GOLD QUIET.

From a business point of view there was very little buoyancy in the market yesterday morning. Taking into consideration the decline in the high rates ruling for silver shares early in the week, the quotations disclosed a steady market in that section. The opposite, however, was the case with copper stocks.

It was a noticeable circumstance that the London Stock Exchange on Thursday showed a slight recovery in silver values, despite a decline of 1/3 in the price of lead. This bears out the remark of an operator the previous day, that when metal values fall the prices of silver stocks rise on the London Stock Exchange, and that when metals improve, share values fall. The buying offers on the London Stock Exchange on Thursday showed a recovery in the case of Amalgamated Zinc, North Broken Hill, B.H. Block 10 (to the extent of the dividend just declared); and B.H. Proprietary, whilst firm offers were made for Zinc Corporation, ordinary. On the other hand, Zinc Corporation (middle) were quoted a shade lower. In the copper division the best buyers of Mount Elliotts were as low as 83/9; but, curiously enough, the middle quotation for Great Cobars advanced from 91/10 to 93/9. Hampdens, Mount Morgans, and Chillagoes appear to have held a steady position.

The slight recovery in silver shares in the London Stock Exchange had the effect of steadying the local market for Barrier scrip. The easing movement was arrested, but there was no rebound in values, as was the case in London. As a matter of fact, not one sale was booked, sellers holding off, even though buyers quoted close up to late rates.

The copper division did not, however, show signs of strength, even though the price of the red metal had improved another 5/. Indeed, the contrary was the case, both Hampdens and Mount Elliotts selling on the weak side. One can understand the local market following London, and selling Mount Elliotts down, but Hampdens weakened, whilst London was firm. Such, however, are the vagaries of the market.

Gold shares were very quiet, with sales in Sandstone, and Mount Davids on the firm side. In tin stocks both Vegetable Creek and Vulcan Tin were in good request, and sold at advanced rates.

An extremely quiet market ruled during the afternoon, as a glance at the list of Stock Exchange sales will show. In the view sales booked prices in some cases eased a shade, and in others firmed. Thus Sandstones closed firm, whilst Bullfinch Proprietary hardened a shade. Vegetable Creek claimed steady support in consequence of a report from the manager that the wash, which had thinned in the leading drive, had improved to the foot, thus showing that the temporary thinning was due to an unevenness in the bed of the old stream. A crosscut 30ft back from the face of this drive put in 12ft shows 3ft of wash, worth 160lb, or about £8 to the cubic yard.

MINING NOTES.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that the directors of the Zinc Corporation have declared a dividend of 2/6 per share on the preference shares, less income tax, payable on June 29.

The Broken Hill Proprietary Company has received a cable message, dated London, May 18, giving the following quotations:—Silver, 2/0 5-8 (official quotation); lead, £12/17/6 (buyers' price); shares, £1/16/9 (buyers' price); and spelter, £24/7/6 (buyers' price).

The directors of the Broken Hill South Company, No Liability, yesterday declared the 48th dividend of 2/ per share, with a bonus of 1/ per share, payable on June 30. The transfer books close in Sydney and Melbourne at 4 p.m. on June 16.

Mr. J. E. Cocker, legal manager of the Vegetable Creek Tin-mining Company, desires it to be stated that a sum of £21,000 is due to the owners of the 400 acres of freehold land which constitutes the lease of the company. The directors of the old company, of their own volition, increased the royalty payment to the land owners from 15 to 50 per cent., on condition that the period for the payment of £25,000 for the option was extended from three to three and a half years. Under the constitution of the new company, much more businesslike terms were arranged. The royalty payment was reduced from 50 to 25 per cent., and the time limit was eliminated. As a sum of £4000 have already been paid off the £25,000, there is left a sum of £21,000 to be paid in the shape of a royalty of 25 per cent., and when the payment has been completed, the property becomes the freehold of the company. A telegram to hand yesterday from the mine manager, shows that the thinning of the wash in the leading drive was only temporary, as it has deepened to 1ft. The crosscut 30ft back from the face has been driven 12ft. and shows an average of 3ft of wash, worth 160lb, or £8 worth of tin to the cubic yard.

MINING IN THE STATE.

ALBURY, Friday.

A large development of alluvial tin mining is reported from Ten-Mile Creek. A large quantity of machinery has been placed on the ground by one company.

HAMPDEN-CLONCURRY MINE.

INCREASING ORE RESERVES.

SMELTER WORKING SMOOTHLY.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Developments at the leases of the Hampden-Cloncurry Copper Mines, Ltd., during the past half-year have resulted in the opening up of 228,300 tons of ore, containing 21,685 tons of copper, as against 216,100 tons, containing 20,007 tons six months ago. This estimate does not take into account sulphide ore proved at the southern end of the mine, where only a small level has been driven in the cap of the copper-bearing zone. The general manager has very little doubt that work in the eastern crosscut at the 350ft will develop from 300,000 to 400,000 tons of ore.

At the Duchess mine development work has been largely suspended, pending the State providing railway facilities. The ore reserves, taking copper at £50 per ton, represents £1,082,752. Speaking of the recent developments at the south end of the Hampden, the manager says that the ore proved there is of great importance, as indicating that the large body of gossan and granular iron pyrites met in the upper workings was a secondary deposit, and that at the bottom level they were just entering the cupriferous zone. The directors have taken working options over the Trekelano, the Mascotte, and the Ardath leases near to the Duchess, and are having these leases prospected.

The present smelting furnace has a capacity of 125 tons per day, and it is working smoothly. No. 2 furnace will have double that capacity. Contracts have been entered into for the sale of the company's matte, pending the completion of the converters. The paid-up capital of the company is now £249,976, and the debenture debt £50,000, while sundry debtors at the balance-sheet date of February 28 last were owed £17,016. During the half-year the capital of the company was increased by calls of £21,398 having been met. The company has still 50,000 shares in reserve, which are under option for two years from December 31 last at 18/ per share.

LADIES, WHY BE STOUT?

How often do we hear that expression—"She would be quite good-looking were she not so fat." And yet the lady referred to has probably dieted, exercised, and tight-laced herself without the slightest apparent result. There is one thing, though, that she certainly has not done; that is, taken FORMETTES. Had she done so, she would not be so fat. They are not a drug, but pleasant vegetable tablets that remove not only the superfluous fat, but also the internal deposits of fat which hinder the action of the heart and lungs. They will reduce you to any desired degree without causing the slightest ill-effects or inconvenience.

When you take Formettes you eat and grow thin, for they actually increase the appetite, but at the same time prevent the food turning into burdensome fat. They ensure that the food you eat makes good healthy blood, bone, and tissue, thereby improving the general constitution in a remarkable manner. You will find all Stomach Troubles will disappear when Formettes are taken, breathing becomes easier, heart palpitation ceases, and you soon wonder how you so long consented to bear the many ills that Fat People so needlessly suffer.

Formettes are sold by all chemists at 5/3, or sent direct by S. H. Henshall, Chemist, 246 Clarendon-street, South Melbourne.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Victorian sportsmen assemble to-day at Sandown Park; the Autumn Meeting of the Queensland Turf Club opens at Brisbane, and the cup meeting of the Newcastle Jockey Club commences at the Broadmeadow trysting place.

The Newcastle Jockey Club opens its cup meeting at Broadmeadow to-day, and the programme, which includes the well-endowed Newcastle Cup, promises interesting sport. Metropolitan visitors will be accommodated with trains leaving the Central Railway Station at 6.50, 8.15, and 9.5 a.m., and can leave the coaly city on the return journey at 5.25 p.m., stopping en route at Gosford, Hornsby, and Strathfield, arriving in the city at 9 p.m. Trains from the Newcastle railway station run direct to the racecourse gates, and the first race is timed to start at 2 p.m.

The programme drafted for the Winter Meeting of the Australian Jockey Club on May 31 and June 3 demands the attention of owners and trainers on Monday next, for at 4 p.m. on that date nominations close with the secretary, Mr. C. W. Cropper. The 11 items on the card carry added money aggregating 2750 sovs, of which 500 sovs goes to the Winter Stakes, the first and second Steeplechases are endowed with 250 and 300 sovs respectively, and the June Stakes 300 sovs; while the prize for each of the other races is 200 sovs. Entries can also be lodged with the secretary of the V.R.C., Melbourne.

The programme for the initial meeting of the Illawarra Racing Club, to be held on the new racecourse, near Berry, on the 1st prox., demands attention before 4 p.m. on Monday next, when entries close with the secretary, Mr. R. E. Jolly, at the office of the Moorefield Racing Club, city, or with Mr. E. V. Hannan, Berry. For the five items on the card prize-money amounting to £250 has been provided, of which £100 endows the principal event, the Illawarra Cup. Only jockeys and apprentices licensed by the A.J.C. will be allowed to ride at the meetings of the club.

The Queensland St. Leger will be decided at Eagle Farm this afternoon. There are only three left in to do battle for the red ribbon of the northern turf—Havacorn, Persian Jewel, and Fred Foote, and the best of the trio seems Persian Jewel.

Lady Bobadil heads the list for Sandown Park Handicap, the principal event on the card for the Sandown Park (Vic.) meeting this afternoon, the daughter of Bobadil conceding 6lb to Well Done.

The scratchings recorded yesterday in connection with the Moorefield May Meeting were:—Maltster Maid out of all engagements, Strathdoon out of the Flying Mile, Grafton Girl and Lady True out of the Kogarah Stakes, Hot Air out of the May Handicap, and All Green and Roselike out of the Scarborough Welter.

Call Boy, Fortius, and Brackenberg have left by rail for Newcastle to fulfil their engagements in connection with the Cup meeting.

In connection with the Coronation festivities the Victoria Park management has made arrangements for a pony and galloway meeting to be held at that popular trysting place on Saturday, the 27th inst., and for which prize money amounting to £450 has been provided. The management will donate 50 guineas of the proceeds to the fund for defraying the expenses of the New South Wales young Australian cadets to the Coronation of King George V. The programme comprises eight events, the principal of which, the Royalty Cup Handicap, for horses 14.2 a.u., to be run over five furlongs, is endowed with £100, while £50 each is available for each of the other items, which include a hurdle race. The rider of the winner of the Royalty Cup Handicap will be presented with the best light saddle procurable in the city, and all jockeys riding during the afternoon will be presented with the colours worn by the New South Wales cadets at the Coronation. Such a liberal bill of fare should attract large nominations, which must be lodged with the acting secretary, Mr. J. Thurston, before 5 p.m. on Monday next.

Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son announce that at noon on Monday next they will offer for sale by auction at their bazaar, Pitt-street, the racehorses Mullengeen (by Lancaster from Rosebrook), Omar Khayyam (by Persian Knight from Thea), and Gerald, also a two-year-old gelding by Flavus (imp.) from Queensley, and a yearling gelding by Playbill (imp.) from Miss Condon.

At a meeting of the Richmond River Turf Club on Wednesday (wires our Casino correspondent) it was decided to hold a two days' race meeting in August. The 12 races on the card carry £350 prize-money. The prize for the Turf Club Handicap, to be run on the second day, has been increased to £100. The club intends building a new secretary's office on the course and making other improvements.

The recently-formed Wagga Trotting Club promises to grow into quite a large and flourishing institution. Already over 100 members have been enrolled, and fresh names are being added daily. It has been decided to hold the first meeting on Coronation Day (June 22), when about £100 will be offered in prize money. The following office-bearers have been elected:—President, Mr. E. A. Garland; vice-presidents, Messrs. J. F. Hannan, and Albert Hurst; secretary, Mr. O. Daley; treasurer, Mr. L. Gethings; committee, Messrs. E. J. Geale, J. M'Farland, A. Clout, G. Shaw, W. E. M'Carthy, D. Jones, L. Gethings, J. Crawford, and W. Hunter.

RACECOURSE ACCIDENT AT WAGGA.

WAGGA, Friday.

A somewhat sensational mishap occurred on the Wagga racecourse on Thursday morning. Several picnic horses were working on the track, when the mare Ruby Grafton came into collision with two others. The latter pair were associated in a fast gallop, and when he saw them approaching, the rider of Ruby Grafton made an effort to keep clear, but the mare played up, and swerved right across in front of the other two. The result was a violent collision between Ruby Grafton and Mary Gibbs, and the rider (Thomas) of the latter was thrown over her head. As the mare was making a recovery she struck Thomas with a roof, cutting his head open. He was taken to the local hospital in an unconscious state, and it was found necessary to stitch the wounds. Thomas is expected to recover from his injuries. The rider of the other horse was unhurt.

WAGGA PICNIC RACE CLUB.

MOOGEGONG WINS PATRON'S CUP.

WAGGA, Friday.

The annual meeting of the Wagga Picnic Race Club was opened to-day, when the weather, though overcast, remained fine. There was a large attendance of district residents, and quite a number of visitors from the metropolis.

The Wagga Picnic Club lays down stringent laws regarding horses nominated for racing. They are paddocked together until three weeks before the meeting; then owners are at liberty to train them. All the events are therefore for grass-fed horses. The president, Dr. C. F. Warren, extended a welcome to the visitors, and the secretary (Mr. A. F. White), had everything in going order. The club only dates back to 1906, but good progress has been made, for there are now 180 members.

To-day's racing was attractive, and the fields were unusually large for a picnic meeting. The programme opened with the Novice Stakes, and ten horses went to the barrier. Meragh made the running until fairly in line for home, but ere they had raced the half-distance Eunony took charge, and did not afterwards leave the issue in doubt. Eunony was ridden by his owner, Mr. J. James.

Ten horses were stripped for the Melrose Plains Handicap, and Therese was made a hot favourite, with The Snoot and Propolis next in demand. Therese and Propolis fought it out in the straight, but Therese had plenty in reserve, and won comfortably at the end.

The way was now open for the big event, the Patron's Cup, for which 15 went to the post. Parker and Kiatoka were equal favourites, while Maxie was next in request. Moogegong and Moruyah also received some support, as did Tinkle and Triolet. The issue was fought out by Moogegong and The Wave, and the former, taking command in the last furlong, scored rather easily. The winner was decorated after the race by Mrs. C. Warren. Moogegong was bred at the Table Top stud by Mr. F. Mitchell, and his dam is out of a full sister to Cremorne. This was Mr. Mitchell's first win with him.

Another good field took the track for the Vice-presidents' bag, and Therese was promptly installed favourite, with Propolis and Gretto next in demand. Therese and The Snoot carried the field to the straight, where Propolis came through, and won an exciting race by a neck. This was Mr. C. Mitchell's second winning mount.

The Murrumbidgee Stakes was reduced to a match between Sir Hugo and Regatta, and the former, on whom substantial odds were laid, scored easily.

Novice Stakes, w.f.a., for horses that have never started in race of any description, 5f.—Mr. J. James, jun.'s, ch g Eunony, 5yrs, 11st (Mr. J. James), 1; Mr. R. Betting: 4 to 1 each v Parker and Kia Toka, 5 to 1 v Maxie, 6 to 1 each v Moruyah, Moogegong, Tinkle, and Triolet, 10 to 1 v others. The field was sent away in line, and kept close company along the back. As they swept round the turn Moogegong assumed command, with The Wave close up on the outside. In the run home the Tabletop horse was hard pressed by The Wave, who had Bayou at his girths, but Moogegong put up a game fight, and won by a length and a half, half a length between second and third. Time, 1m 47s.

Theresa and The Snoot were on terms at the turn with Propolis next, but the last named put in his claim at the half-distance, and won by a neck from Theresa, with The Snoot a length away third. BASEBALL.

Mr. W. J. Proud has presented a shield to be competed for by the schoolboys. It was designed by Mrs. T. Proud, and executed in England, and is an excellent production of the silversmith's art.

The final of the trial matches amongst the school teams was played on Thursday. The competition will commence on Friday next. Cleveland-street school has entered a second team, making 14 in all. Waverley Oval, Leichhardt Park, St. Luke's Park, Burwood, Turpe Ground, Petersham, Searle's Imperial Ground, and Parramatta Cricket Oval have been secured.

The Public School A.A. Association's special committee consists of Messrs. T. Lappin (general secretary), J. Deane (hon. sec.), O. Smith, E. Bentley, G. Humphries, T. Owen, F. M'Mullen, W. Gee, and L. Reed, in conjunction with the Baseball Association's committee, G. Sayle (hon. sec.), R. Callaway, A. J. Stephens, H. Mortley, and J. Parr, will administer affairs.

Sousa's Band are desirous of playing some baseball games against local nines, and the association is endeavouring to arrange matches. University may meet the visitors.

Mr. H. Mearns, hon. secretary of the South Australian League, reports that strong efforts are being put forth to make the present a record season in that State. Want of grounds, however, is a serious drawback. Two new clubs have joined, and there are now seven devoting themselves enthusiastically to the pastime.

Mr. P. E. Seyfarth, hon. secretary of the Victorian league, notifies that prospects of a successful season are bright. There are 30 teams taking part in three competitions.

There seems to be some uncertainty with regard to the two southern States falling in with the dates fixed for the Sydney carnival on July 22 and 29 next. Victoria suggests August 5 or 12, or after August 19, but not later than the beginning of September. South Australia may find it difficult to accept. The local competition table has been fixed, and would be considerably dislocated if any departure from the original dates was made.

The executive of the N.S.W.B.A. has decided to adhere to the fixtures as proposed.

ROWING.

SCULLING CHAMPIONSHIP.

R. Arnst, the champion sculler of the world, has received a cable that the amount asked for expenses (£750) would be accepted by E. Barry's supporters, the race to be rowed in December. The race would be for £500 a side, and Barry is to take all the gate money. Arnst would, in the opinion of many, be taking an unfair risk to row during the month named. However, if he accepts that it will mean that the Pearce-Arnst race must be rowed early in August.

W. Fogwell is returning from the Richmond River and is expected on Sunday evening. It is understood his backer has only asked for £50 expenses from Barry. Some years ago Australian scullers seldom received any expenses for matches in England. George Towns accepted £50 expenses to row Gaudaur in Canada, the former then being in England.

BOXING.

DAWES v McCANN.

The main attraction at the Gaiety Athletic Club to-night will be a 20-round contest between Freddie Dawes, of Bondi, and Tommy McCann, of the Rocks. Two try outs will precede the main contest, which will commence at 9 o'clock.

GRAFTON, Friday.

A boxing contest took place yesterday between W. Sonter, of Grafton, and F. L. Lynch, of Lismore, for the heavyweight championship of the North Coast. The stakes were £100 a side, the winner to take 75 per cent. of the gate. Lynch won on a foul in the second round. A return match will be fought at Lismore.

At Copmanhurst, on Saturday, Brown defeated Knight in two hits. The contest was one of the tamest possible, lasting but 30s., 19 of which Knight spent on the floor.

Ladies using these Stoves are specially invited to come and see for themselves how foolish they are in throwing money away on an obsolete article, which has long since been discarded by sensible people, and which is made expressly in the interests of gas companies. The Opening Demonstration will be highly interesting, as visitors will see what they never saw done in a gas stove before. MONDAY WILL BE RENT DAY.

Seems to come around quickly—doesn't it? Makes you pleased, too, after working hard all the week to part up a big slice of your wages. The fellow that said "Parting is such sweet sorrow" didn't have to pay rent that's evident. It's a silly game anyhow—paying out week after week, and getting nothing tangible for it. Why not have a place of your own? We can sell you a Home Site on terms easier than rent. In a few years it is your own to keep, or sell, or leave to your children. Anyhow, the money value is there, often times double the amount you paid for it; and that's what you don't get if you paid rent for fifty years. . . . No, you don't need a lot of capital to start; one pound will do. Bring it along to us, and put it down as a deposit on an Allotment on one of the best Residential Sites in this accessible and prosperous suburb. Here you can have a snug little Home, amidst the most pleasant surroundings. You can have your garden (the soil is excellent)—your chickens—a few fruit trees—just as if you were in the country, instead of less than half an hour from the city. From your doorway you can look out over the blue waters of Botany Bay or the silvery stretches of the George's River. A beautiful panorama unfolds itself to your gaze—miles of verdant, undulating country, dotted with red roofs—the homes of others who, like yourself, have broken away from the bad old habit of paying rent. Here you can breathe your fill of the fresh, bracing air that is only obtained in places such as Homedale—high above the sea level, and well away from the smoke and germs of the city. Here you can enjoy to the full the freedom of the man who is his own landlord—the man whom rent day has ceased to worry.

One Pound Down and Ten Shillings Per Month for the Freehold of an Ideal Home Site. That is all we ask. Sixty-six feet Allotments, from 1s 6d per foot—you could not expect anything cheaper. We have also a few Acre Lots that you ought to see—just the thing for a small Poultry Farm.

Bear in mind that Homedale Estate is only some ten minutes' walk from Hurstville station; the trains are fast and frequent, and the travelling cheaper than tram fares. Send for our Illustrated Booklet and Plan to Dept. H.

PEOPLE SIMPLY DON'T KNOW

there's such an Estate around Sydney, said the head of a big Limited Company. "I drove round there with a friend the other day, and I was astonished. If you could only get the Sydney people to go and see it there would not be an inch of it left at the end of the week." That's the opinion of a well-known shrewd city business man expressed only to-day about the DOBROYD POINT ESTATE, Haberfield, the water-frontage of Ashfield and the Venice of the Western Suburbs. He added that he had no idea there was such an Estate available so near the city. Well, we've advertised it, and sold a considerable portion of it, but can only believe that our feeble descriptions of it were regarded as the usual puff which some Agents indulge in when they want to get rid of cheap rubbish. All we ask is that you go and see it, for anyone with ordinary business acumen can see enough in ten minutes to satisfy him that if he does not have a lot or two in this Estate he is letting another golden opportunity slip. The terms are easy, and the title is Torrens, and there is not another Estate anywhere exactly like DOBROYD POINT. Plans and particulars from the HAYMARKET P. L. B., and I. CO., Ltd., 750 George-street. (Established over 30 years.)

INVEST YOUR MONEY AT BANKSTOWN.

BANKSTOWN, on the Belmore Line, is going to be one of Sydney's biggest suburbs—property values there will increase enormously in the next few years. Listen: When the Belmore line is extended to Liverpool, the Melbourne-Sydney Express will come that way. Bankstown will be the first stop out of Sydney—the last stop in. It will be the Strathfield of that line—Strathfield prices will rule for land. Then we have sold lots on GREENACRE PARK (right at Bankstown station), to over 300 people. Most of them will build homes there in the next two or three years. This alone guarantees Bankstown a big population, and an enormous sum spent on improvements guarantees a very big increase in property values.

The acre blocks, building lots, and business sites on GREENACRE PARK offer most promising investments. Acres, £42/10/ each, which works out at a trifle less than 6/8 ft.; Building Lots, 66 x 200 ft., 11/6 ft. Terms, £1 down, 10/ monthly for each £30 of purchase money. The lots are level, nicely grassed, and front well-made streets. City water is available. Lots average 66 x 150 ft. and are priced at from 7s 6d per foot. TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

FOR PRUDENT INVESTORS.

It is not necessary to argue any more that money invested in land in or near a growing city is well invested. The only thing we have to consider is how to get the best of the many good land investments offering to-day in Sydney.

Lots on RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS ESTATE, NEWINGTON, AUBURN, offer an unusually fine opportunity to money-makers. This Estate is close to the site on which the Government are now building Abattoirs, at a cost of £150,000. Many of the 1000 men to be employed when the works are completed will want to make their homes on this Estate. They will pay any prices within reason for lots—will pay big rents for Cottages. To-day you may have big lots from £25; they will be worth double a year hence. Terms, £1 deposit, 10/ monthly for each £30 of purchase money. Torrens Title. Plans and Booklets from Dept. H.

THE BUILDING OF ONE COTTAGE COSTS MORE IN PROPORTION THAN SEVENTY. Building on a large scale gives opportunities for economising in the purchase of materials, and so dovetailing in the work that the cost of labour as well as of material is considerably lessened. This plainly puts the case.

To build one Cottage would cost, say, £647; 10 Cottages, £614/13 each; 30 Cottages, £608/3/8 each; 70 Cottages, £601/14/3. Notice there is a difference of nearly £46 between the cost of building one and lumping together the building of 30. Where an even larger number of places are being built—as at Haberfield—the saving is still greater.

Yet in the building of these Haberfield Cottages distinctive architecture is put into each place. Stone, bricks, lime, cement, sand, timber, etc., can be worked into many novel treatments, and hardly anything need be the same in the Cottages, although practically the same material is used throughout.

Likewise with the tradesmen; the same men do the work, and each is well fitted for the particular section he has to do, and ready to work conjointly with the architect, striving after artistic effect and utility—to build Cottages charming in their simplicity and unique in style.

New Cottages are frequently being completed. During the year 70 places are specially designed and erected. Liberal terms, calculated on a 5 per cent. basis, together with the better value of Haberfield Cottages, give unmistakable advantages to the purchaser.

A GOODLY NUMBER OF NEW COTTAGES are ready for immediate sale. Inspect them to-day. This afternoon our salesmen assemble at Haberfield, a Motor Car is ready to take you round the suburb, and you are invited out. Get out at the O'Connor-street stop on the Haberfield Electric Tram Line. Cottages also designed and built to your order.

SEE EVERYTHING—BUT DON'T DECIDE

until you have seen the wonderful value we offer in Pianos. We positively defy anyone to compete with us; we have secured in Germany and France agencies for such wonderful instruments that people invariably express the greatest astonishment when they call and see our stock. Such magnificent pianos, with such remarkable tone, at so moderate a price, have never before been sold in any part of Australia. So we do not say come to us without troubling about other places; all we say is, "See all Sydney has to offer, then come to us, and compare our values and prices." We shall be contented with your decision.

Our pianos are all guaranteed for ten years, and we sell on the easiest terms, starting with the no deposit and 5/ per week plan.

THE GEYER PIANO!
In these days of heavy ornamentation, so common even to the best pianos, it is pleasing to note the quiet elegance and grace which so distinguishes the Geyer.
Then there is the Geyer tone, that delightful singing quality—sweet and mellow and lasting.
The Geyer is fitted with the best ivory keys, and is adapted to suit the Australian climate.

BENGALLA SUBDIVISION.

A final reminder is given of the Subdivision of Bengalla Estate, announced to be held at Muswellbrook on Thursday next, May 25th.

A large number have inspected the property, and we understand they are unanimous in their appreciation of its qualities. In every respect Bengalla is admirably adapted for closer settlement, and the owners are offering every facility in the way of terms, etc., to attract purchasers. Although the subdivision is under the Closer Settlement Act, the fact that no residence is required is a great advantage to those desirous of securing a first-class farm as a speculation.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

A TESTIMONIAL WHICH MUST CONVINCE YOU.

Elizabeth Bay.
Dear Miss Maddocks,
It is now 7 months ago since the operation was performed, and I cannot express to you how very thankful I feel, since my child has made no remarks regarding Mother's Beard. Again thanking you for your successful treatment, and wishing you every success for the future.
I remain,
Yours very truly,
Mrs. W. T.

By calling on me I can show you many letters from ladies who had treatment years ago, and none of them ever complain that Hairs once removed by me had grown again. To prove to you personally, however, I will be pleased to give to any Lady who is troubled with
SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

A FREE TRIAL TREATMENT

Because it at once convinces anyone of the impossibility of having a new growth where Hairs have once been removed by me. No other specialist in Sydney has ever offered to do this, and my reason for this free treatment is to convince you once and for all of my success. This trial treatment costs nothing, nor does it bind you to subsequently come to me for further treatment.
One thing more,

MOLES, HAIRY MOLES.

These unsightly marks can be removed in a single treatment, almost painless, and without the slightest danger. No after effects are felt or seen.
The Fees are very moderate. Individual Waiting Rooms and Personal Attention.

WHY VALAZE BEAUTY IS PERMANENT.

A complexion made beautiful by VALAZE is kept so because it is natural. A woman can simulate a complexion by means of cosmetics, but the result is not natural.

On the other hand, VALAZE is an entirely natural preparation. It nourishes and invigorates the skin, and restores the complexion of youth without a blemish. The consequence is that once you have the VALAZE Complexion, you can—out motoring, riding, cycling, walking, golfing, do what you please, and yet lose none of the soft, clear, transparent, and natural beauty which VALAZE alone can give woman.

You can watch VALAZE do its work, for it is essentially the beauty treatment.

Freckles, blotches, coarseness, pimples, sunburn, wrinkles, or any blemish are cured when the skin is treated with VALAZE. VALAZE perfects the good skin, purifies the bad skin, and beautifies all skin. In jars, 3/6, 6/6, and 6d postage.

In the matter of Face Powders, Mlle. RUBINSTEIN supplies two varieties. VALAZE POWDER for greasy, shiny, and over-moist skins. NOVENA POUDRE, for the dry normal skins. Each 2/6 and 3/6 a box.

VALAZE SNOW LOTION is strongly recommended for outdoor use to those whose skins are greasy. It effectually overcomes shine, oiliness, and redness, and gives whiteness, cools, and refreshes the skin. 3/6 and 6d postage.

All VALAZE PREPARATIONS are obtainable from H. RUBINSTEIN PROP., Ltd., VALAZE INSTITUTE, Department L., 158 Pitt-street, Sydney, opp. The Strand; 274 Collins-street, Melbourne.
